Khrushchev Provokes New Uproar In U.N.

Nixon Blasts Kennedy's Attacks On Ike's Performance At U.N.

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon demanded Saturday that Sen. John F. Kennedy cease what he called "a reckless and irresponsible attack" on President Eisenhower's performance at the United Nations.

The Republican presidential nominee said Americans should thank God for Eisenhower's performance instead of criticizing it.

This was the major talking point of a day of campaigning through Ohio and into Indiana.

Kennedy's crowds made the Democrats jubilant. But Nixon was getting good crowds too as he meandered by plane and car to Akron, Canton and Mansfield, and at a few spots in between.

At Canton, for example, Nixon filled the Municipal Auditorium to overflowing as Kennedy did before him. But newsmen who had seen both crowds said Nixon had a bigger turnout along the streets. Thousands stood and waved and cheered on a bright autumn afternoon.

In off-the-cuff remarks and in prepared remarks for use along the way, Nixon kept swatting at Kennedy and at a major foreign policy speech the Massachusetts senator made Thursday at Syracuse, N.Y.

He said that Kennedy dealt with the situation in the United Nations General Assembly meeting, remarked that he—Kennedy—was tired of reading what Nikita Khrushchev and Fidel Castro were doing and wanted to read what the President of the United States is doing.

"Sen. Kennedy," Nixon said, "has a right and a responsibility, as the opposition candidate, to criticize the administration record. But he also has a responsibility when he criticizes, to be right about what he says.

"I cannot allow this attack on the President's leadership and his prestige to go unanswered when it carries with it the hopes of the entire world at this crucial moment.

"The senator owes it to his party and to his country to cease these irresponsible attacks on the President of the United States," he said.

Continuing to sharpen up his shafts at Kennedy, Nixon said: "If Mr. Kennedy would stop looking so hard for things that are wrong with America's position and America's prestige, he would not have made such a reckless and irresponsible attack on the President.

"If he would talk less and read more, he would have learned that the President has been giving dynamic leadership in this situation to the cause of peace and freedom. He has been applauded by the entire world."

Kennedy Brands Nixon Farm Pledges 'Elusive Slogans'

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy contended Saturday that Republican pledges to farmers are simply a reissue of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson's farm program dressed up with "slick new elusive slogans."

The Democratic presidential nominee swung his campaign back into the farm belt and hammered at his Republican rival, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, for what he called "leap year liberalism."

"The same party which gave us the missile gap and the economic gap has also given us the performance gap—the gap between Republican promises and Republican actions," Kennedy said in an address prepared for a Democratic bean feed here.

A few hours earlier, in Chicago, he denounced the Eisenhower administration's record of dealing with the problem of Soviet satellite countries. He told the American-Polish Congress that 1952 GOP liberation pledges were empty promises made to win "a handful of votes."

The Massachusetts senator offered a seven-point plan for the "peaceful" separation of Poland from the Soviet system, built chiefly on economic aid and trade with satellites which are restive under Soviet rule.

In the bean feed speech Kennedy lashed again at what he called unkept GOP promises. Nowhere has the "performance gap been wider and more harmful" than in the field of agriculture, he said.

The senator contrasted what he described as Nixon's 1952 and 1956 pledges of "full parity" with the 26 per cent drop in farmer's net income in the past eight years.

"This is a performance gap in agriculture—and if Mr. Nixon is elected it is a gap which will continue to grow," Kennedy told his audience.

He described Nixon's proposed "Operation Consume" and "Operation Safeguard" as basically the "discredited" Benson soil bank program and the Benson program of gradual reduction of support price levels.

"We will not raise farm incomes and reduce farm surpluses until we accept the hard fact that we must sell less to earn more," Kennedy declared.

"That is why I have proposed that the producers of each commodity agree on a program to regulate the amount which they will market—so that the price level would assure them full parity of income.

"A supply management system, supplemented by commodity loans and direct payments, can alone assure the farmer a decent income and a decent standard of living."

A Kennedy aide said his Minneapolis speech marked a definite new trend in campaign strategy in the direction of sharper attacks on Vice President Nixon's record. There will be further such speeches soon, the aide said.

URGE PERSONAL DIPLOMACY — Five top neutralist countries called upon President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Khrushchev to resume their personal diplomacy with a face-to-face conference. Macmillan Arrives For Talks With Ike As Pressures Mount

WASHINGTON (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan flew in Saturday for a talk with President Eisenhower on strategy for meeting swelling neutralist pressure at the United Nations for an Eisenhower-Khrushchev meeting.

U.S. officials heavily discounted the possibility of any such conference between the President and the Soviet premier despite the demand from leaders of cold war neutrals such as Prime Minister Nehru of India.

Macmillan, arriving from New York, wouldn't comment to newsmen on his scheduled talk with Eisenhower at the White House Sunday morning. Also sitting in will be Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies of Australia.

Eisenhower had come in to the same airport less than two hours earlier. Newsmen had no opportunity to talk to him on his arrival from Denver, where he had gone to attend the funeral of Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, Elivera Doud.

But it seemed likely that the President would hold in abeyance any final decisions on strategy until he has talked with Macmillan and Menzies.

Should Khrushchev agree to Eisenhower's conditions for a parlay it might be speedily arranged, these authorities said. But they saw no prospect of that development in view of the Soviet leader's persistent hostility toward the United States and the Western powers in general.

The chief specific condition Eisenhower has laid down is that two American airmen held by the Soviet Union should be released. The men were members of the crew of a plane which the U. S. says Soviet fighters shot down over international waters July 1. In addition Eisenhower wants some evidence that a talk between himself and Khrushchev might actually ease world tensions.

The United States is caught in something of a diplomatic trap on the Eisenhower-Khrushchev issue, officials acknowledged. The problem of how to meet the pressure for a conference without appearing to close the door on worldwide hopes for improving Soviet-U. S. relations is recognized as a delicate and embarrassing one.

Macmillan has long been an advocate of summit diplomacy and there seems to be no doubt that he would like to see Eisenhower and Khrushchev get together. U.S. and British diplomats agree, however, that he would not press Eisenhower to agree to such a session.

70,000 GE Employes Poised For Midnight Strike Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — The giant General Electric Co. and its largest employe union girded Saturday for a midnight strike across the nation, thrusting aside government mediation pleas in stormy last-minute talks.

The strike was called by the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) after failure to reach a new contract with GE in six weeks of negotiations. The IUE represents some 70,000 GE employes in plants around the country.

The strike was certain to curtail a large portion of GE's production but there was no way of assessing its over-all effects at the outset.

Both sides had made overtures toward continuing negotiations without a walkout immediately, but could not agree on terms. Federal mediators had worked feverishly toward such a goal when it became plain the parties were nowhere near agreement on a contract.

A final negotiation session opened in bitter fashion at midmorning Saturday. Within minutes, reporters could hear loud, angry voices within the conference room.

After the meeting, negotiators reported "no progress" was made.

The strike was not unanimously favored by IUE locals in GE plants but all indicated they would go along with the decision of the majority.

The union and company are seeking to write a contract to replace a five-year agreement which expired at midnight Friday night. Under this, the union said, production workers received average pay of $2.30 to $2.40 an hour.

GE offered a three-year contract providing a 3 per cent wage increase on the signing of a new pact and 4 per cent more on April 2, 1962. But it called for elimination of a cost-of-living escalator clause and a company controlled program for workers whose jobs are eliminated.

GE has 167 plants in 133 cities. A company spokesman said the IUE represents most of the workers in about 50 of them, including the largest installations. Other plants are either nonunion or multiunion.

Sternly Rebuked For Outburst By U.S. Delegate Wadsworth

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Grim and scowling, Premier Khrushchev provoked a new uproar in the United Nations Saturday and drew a stinging rebuke from the United States.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth said the Soviet leader's performance "casts a good deal of doubt upon the possibility of serious, constructive, calm negotiation for disarmament or for any of the larger aspects of peace in our time."

The U.S. response hinted Khrushchev's behavior has diminished any chance that President Eisenhower will agree to meet the Soviet leader. A group of neutralist U.N. members is pressing for such a meeting.

For the second time in this 15th General Assembly session, the shouting, gesticulating Khrushchev was gaveled down by the assembly president.

Before he got through Khrushchev suggested that Socialist countries might form a United Nations of their own and invite other countries to join. Linking rejection of Red China to the situation, he said:

"This will be the burying ground of the United Nations. This will be its tomb. We do not wish to see that."

The assembly's extra Saturday session began with a statement by Wadsworth opposing a bid for general debate on Red China's claim to membership. Khrushchev followed him to the stage, and after reading his text, launched into a free-swinging, off-the-cuff attack on the United States and its allies. Wadsworth then made a second appearance under the U.N. "right to reply" rule.

Khrushchev, smarting under Wadsworth's detailed indictment of Red China's record of "addiction to power and violence," waved clenched fists, his voice rising to a shout.

The Soviet leader demanded to be told why Red China should be excluded from membership when the U.N. had accepted Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain, whom Khrushchev called a "hangman."

Assembly President Frederick Boland of Ireland gaveled him to order, reminding him of a U.N. rule against personal attacks on chiefs of state.

When Khrushchev finished, the Spanish ambassador thanked Boland for calling Khrushchev to order. But Khrushchev already was striding out of the hall. He was not there when Wadsworth returned to the rostrum.

Wadsworth, citing Khrushchev's performance, said the delegates "must once again feel a sense of deep disturbance in behalf of the United Nations itself.

"I do not speak merely from the standpoint of being regularly surprised and not a little bit shocked at the spectacle presented by the representative of the Soviet Union in this chamber—whether he be on the rostrum or in his seat—but I must say that it casts a good deal of doubt upon the possibility of serious, constructive, calm negotiations for disarmament or for any of the

Nikita Indicates Ike Must Apologize For U2 Before Any Talks

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev Saturday night strongly indicated he would not meet with President Eisenhower unless Eisenhower apologizes for the U2 spy plane flight.

Furthermore, Khrushchev said, the Soviet Union would not release the two survivors from the U.S. RB47 plane shot down July 1 in return for an Eisenhower apology on the U2.

Heavy pressure for an Eisenhower-Khrushchev get-together to ease world tensions was sparked at the United Nations Friday by five neutral nations' plea for such a meeting.

Eisenhower has been cool to this idea ever since the blowup of the Paris summit conference last May where Khrushchev demanded an Eisenhower apology for the U2 reconaissance craft downed inside the U.S.S.R May 1.

Eisenhower has said he would not meet Khrushchev unless the Kremlin boss, among other things, releases the two surviving crewmen of the RB47 shot down in the Arctic area July 1.

Khrushchev was asked whether he would trade an apology on the U2 flight for release of the two American fliers.

"It is not a reciprocal matter," Khrushchev said.

"Both planes came to our country and each committed an equal crime."

In the case of the U2, pilot Francis Gary Powers of Pound, Va., was tried for spying and sentenced to 10 years.

As for the two RB47 survivors, Khrushchev says it is up to the Soviet investigators and prosecutors to decide how their case should be handled.

The United States claims the RB47 was shot down by the Russians in international waters. The U.S.S.R. said the plane invaded Soviet air space.

On another important issue, Khrushchev declared he expects to win U.N. approval of his demand that Red China be admitted to the world body.

Earlier in the day, he had personally delivered a vehement speech to the General Assembly calling for the admission of Moscow's chief Asiatic ally. The U.S. strongly opposed the move.

Khrushchev was unaware of a bomb scare until his security chief, Gen. Nicolai Zaharov, told him after it was all over.

HOTELS SCARCE IN SOFIA

VIENNA (AP) — Hotel accomodations in Sofia are so scarce visitors to the Bulgarian capital sometimes have to spend the night on park benches, the Bulgarian newspaper Wetscherni Nowini reports. The paper warned that tourists would avoid Sofia if nothing is done to improve the situation.

A Texas woman sent an apple pie to the Soviet premier at the Soviet U.N. delegation headquarters in Manhattan. A police fluoroscope spotted something suspicious inside the wrapped package.

The police gingerly took it to a bunker at Ft. Tilden only to find that the suspicious item with the pie was a locket and chain with the Ten Commandments inscribed on it.

Restrictions May Hinder Americans Leaving Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government has announced new financial restrictions that might affect the departure of American residents from Cuba.

The latest measure prohibits airlines and travel agencies from selling tickets for trips abroad without prior approval of the Cuban Currency Stabilization Fund.

U.S. Embassy officials said Saturday they are studying the measure to determine if it might be used to prevent the departure of any American national who desires to leave the island but lacks a valid ticket.

With the near rupture of U.S.-Cuban relations, departure procedures already have became an agonizing experience for Americans.

Despite Castro's assurances that U.S. citizens with clean consciences have nothing to fear from his regime, Americans usually approach their departure with considerable misgivings because of the frequent harassment of travelers. Neither they nor those who see them off breathe easily until the departing planes are well on their way to the United States.

But there has been nothing approaching panic in the exodus of Americans since a State Department announcement advising that Cuba is an unsafe place for U.S. citizens.

In another development, the government-controlled Radio Voz announced that a firing squad executed Robert Cruz Alfonso for the attempted assassination of Jose Pardo Llada, anti-U.S. radio commentator and a close associate of Castro. Pardo escaped injury when his auto was sprayed with machine gun bullets last July 9. A companion suffered neck wounds. A secret military tribunal that ordered Cruz Alfonso shot handed out prison sentences ranging from 10 to 30 years to 11 persons charged with participating the plot.

Report 20 Killed In Fighting In Katanga Province

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—Katanga's infant air force flew in anger for the first time Saturday during a clash between rebel Baluba tribesmen and the Katanga gendarmerie which left 20 reported dead. The clash occurred near Mitwaba, in eastern Katanga, following a predawn ambush of a Katanga army patrol.

In Elisabethville, a government spokesman said the Katanga air force, which consists of a handful of light planes piloted by Belgians, was "mobilized" during the action. He declined to say what part the air force played but it was unlikely they bombed the rebels. Apparently the planes merely "buzzed" the fight scene, since they are not fitted with cannon.

U.N. AT-A-GLANCE

SATURDAY — Soviet Premier Khrushchev plunges assembly into new uproar during bitter debate on seating Red China, assails United States and Spain, is called to order by assembly president; United States says his behavior casts doubt on possibility of successful negotiations for world peace.

SUNDAY — No sessions scheduled; Eisenhower meets Macmillan of Britain and Menzies of Australia; Khrushchev at Soviet estate on Long Island.

How Neutral Are The Five Urging Ike, Nikita To Confer?

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—How neutral are the five "neutrals" whose resolution urging big two summit talks has pushed President Eisenhower into an uncomfortable position?

Their activities seem to have done a service for Soviet Premier Khrushchev. It is possible that what went on in the U.N. General Assembly Friday fitted in neatly with Khrushchev's primary objectives in coming to New York.

President Eisenhower now is under the heaviest sort of pressure to put aside his serious misgivings and try again to come to a meeting of minds with the man who purports to be the leader of the world Communist movement.

From the very outset of this turbulant 15th Assembly session, Khrushchev has unmistakably set his sights on creating the illusion that certain nations that frequently support his objectives are part of a bloc of true neutrals.

That was the underlying idea of Khrushchev's proposal to change the U.N. peace-making machinery by abolishing the secretary-general's office and substituting a three-man executive representing the Communist bloc, the Western bloc and the neutrals.

He did more than that. He proposed that the 10-nation Disarmament Commission be expanded. It now has five representatives each from Communist and Western nations. Khrushchev wants five more—supposedly representing a "neutral" bloc.

Four of the nations he proposed for this expanded commission now emerge as prime movers in the attempt to produce a new Eisenhower - Khrushchev summit—Yugoslavia, India, Indonesia and the United Arab Republic.

The "neutrals" pushing the new summit are Presidents Tito of Yugoslavia, Gamel Abdel Nasser of the U.A.R., Kwame Nkrumah of Africa's Ghana, Sukarno of Indonesia and Prime Minister Nehru of India.

Tito, despite professed differences with Khrushchev over ideology, has gone down the line for Khrushchev proposals before this Assembly.

Nkrumah has sided with the Soviets in the key crisis of Africa, the Congo.

Sukarno of Indonesia is fascinated by Marxism.

It may be noteworthy that immediately after his proposal for an Eisenhower-Khrushchev meeting, Sukarno trotted up to Soviet U.N. headquarters for a parley with the Soviet leader.

2 Generals Among 6 Men Cremated In Plane Crash

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Two West Point graduates who became generals after service in World War II and the Korean War were among six Army men cremated Friday in the fiery crash of a light transport plane into a fog-shrouded hill.

A wing of the single-engine plane apparently brushed a water tank on a 1,300-foot hill in an exclusive Orinda residential district while flying the men from Ft. Ord to San Francisco's Presidio.

The victims: Maj. Gen. Carl F. Fritzsche, 57, of Bedford, Ohio, commanding general of the Ft. Ord Army Training Center on the shores of Monterey Bay; an intelligence officer for the 12th Army Group in Europe in World War II; assistant commander of the 25th Infantry Division in Korea.

Brig. Gen. Thomas H. Hayes, 49, of Macon, Ga., Fritzsche's deputy commander; commander of an infantry regiment in World War II in Europe; attached to headquarters of the Far East Command in Japan in the Korean War.

Switchmen, Rails Reach Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Mediation Board Saturday announced that a settlement had been reached in the dispute between the Switchmen's Union of North America and 17 railroads.

The proposed agreement is subject to ratification by the union members.

The board gave no details of the proposed settlement. Federal mediators had been trying to settle the dispute for the past week.

Earlier Saturday a preliminary federal injunction was issued in Buffalo, N.Y., banning indefinitely a strike by the union.

The preliminary injunction, which will keep the switchmen on the job until a decision is reached on the railroad's motion for a permanent injunction, was issued by U.S. Dist. Judge John O. Henderson.

Red China Blasts U.S. And Boasts Of Achievements

TOKYO (AP) — Red China staged its annual national day rally and parade in Peiping Saturday with boasts of tremendous industrial achievements and hostile blasts at the West.

In the keynote address marking the 11th anniversary of the Communist conquest of the mainland, Foreign Minister Chen Yi declared the Peiping regime is dedicated to peaceful coexistence with peace-loving peoples everywhere.

But at the same time he assailed "war provocations of U.S.-led capitalist imperialism."

Chen Yi also asserted it is Communist China's "sacred right to liberate" Formosa and told the regular army and the growing people's militia to "intensify training and get ready to defend your homes and motherland."

More than 500,000 Chinese, including students and members of rural and urban communes, marched through Peiping's square of Heavenly Peace. Chinese Communist leaders, headed by strongman Mao Tze-tung, and 2,000 foreign guests from 80 countries reviewed the mammoth parade.

But Radio Peiping and Peiping's official New China News Agency—in what may be a significant omission—made no mention of the huge Chinese army participating in the march. In past years, the parade has been an occasion for displaying China's military might. Radio Peiping said only that divisions of the people's militia took part this year.

There were no outstanding leaders on the reviewing stand from the Soviet Union, caught up in an ideological quarrel with Red China over Peiping's insistence that war is inevitable to overcome imperialism. Soviet Premier Khrushchev, who attended last year's celebration, is heading his country's delegation at the U.N. General Assembly in New York.

Airline Carrying 27 Lands Safely After Collision

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—An airliner and a small plane collided a mile from the Orlando Airport Saturday. The liner landed safely with 27 persons, but the sole occupant of the other plane died when it crashed in a residential area.

Apparently only one of the 24 passengers aboard the Eastern Airlines plane bound from Jacksonville to Miami realized that the light single engine craft had crumpled the tip of one of its wings.

The liner's captain, E. M. Engle, said he did not see the plane until it crossed in front of the windshield. He was flying 162 miles an hour at an altitude of 1,200 feet, preparing for a landing which he made two minutes after the accident.

The pilot of the small plane was Seymore Ayres, 40, who with a brother operated a charter business in Orlando. Ayres was en route to Cocoa, Fla.

Courteous Driving Depends Largely On The Physical Condition Of The Motorist

Courteous driving depends largely on the physical condition of the motorist, according to the Chicago Motor Club.

Fatigue leads the list of ailments which affect the manners and safety of motorists. Fatigue magnifies minor irritations, which usually result in brash and boorish movements while driving.

The lulling effect of fatigue is reflected in the loss of control over a vehicle. In rural areas, the high percentages of fatalities from head-on collisions and running off the roadway emphasize the importance of maintaining control at all times.

Fatigue is especially dangerous because it affects every part of the body. Both mind and muscle reaction become sluggish. A tired driver becomes less vigilant, loses judgment of depth, distance, and speed. He is less able to cope with the glare of headlights.

Motor Club safety experts recommend rest—a catnap or merely resting tired eyes by applying gentle pressure against them with your fingers on your eyelids. Drowsiness can be offset by plenty of fresh air in the car; conversation or listening to the radio, if these can be done without distraction; or even stopping the car occasionally for a brief stretch or a short walk.

Any physical defect affects your driving—even ailments as slight as colds and headaches. By making a determined effort to drive courteously and safely with these minor handicaps, driving will become much more pleasant and safe for you, your passengers, your fellow motorists, and pedestrians.

Future Homemakers Hold First Meeting

ASHLAND — The Ashland FHA chapter held their first meeting of the school year Monday night at the high school. Della Thompson, president, called the meeting to order and the secretary, Nancy Christen, read the minutes of the last meeting.

The following were voted on for offices: Assistant Mother, Mrs. Gladys Creed; Chapter boy friend, Jimmie Creed; Chapter sister, Debbie Clemons, and greeter, Wanda Stephenson.

Della Thompson then told about the Section FHA rally to be held in Meredosia on Oct. 8th.

Merit Scholarship

All 1962 graduates of Ashland high who wish to enter the 1961-62 National Merit Scholarship competition must register now at the school office, according to Harold Elliott, principal. The National Merit Scholarship qualifying test will be given at 9 a.m. Tuesday, March 7, 1961.

To be eligible for the test, Ashland high students must be second semester juniors or first semester seniors at the time of the examination. Students must pay a $1 fee on the day of the test.

The tests are given each year by the National Merit Scholarship corporation as part of the nation's largest independent scholarship program. Awards are granted on the basis of intellectual merit, but student financial needs determine the size of individual stipends, which are renewable each year without further testing. After the test, each participating student will receive an interpretive folder that reports individual test results for comparison with scores of high school students across the country. Mr. Elliott said students may learn their educational strengths and weaknesses, whether or not they plan to attend college.

The Student Council held their first meeting Monday night. The members of the Council are chosen by the class and the following are serving this year:

Seniors: Lylejean Barbee and Jay Weber.

Sophomores. Elaine Jones and Kanny Murray.

Freshmen: Jim Aggertt and Andrea Jokisch.

Noted Authors Asked To Write Texts To Fill In 'Reading Gaps'

By GABE KAIMOWITZ
Newspaper Enterprize Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — If educators like Miss Dorothy J. Andrews have their way, grade school pupils will be reading books like "Syntax for Beginners" by Ernest Hemingway and "Simple Science" by Wernher Von Braun.

These books haven't been written yet but textbook firms already are calling upon noted writers in various fields to help close "the reading gap."

Making reading sense for youngsters is Miss Andrews' regular job as director of developmental reading at the University of Connecticut. This summer, she's one of several persons educating other educators at reading institutes throughout the country.

Enlisting top-notch talent to write textbooks for grade school pupils is one step in Miss Andrews' appeal for "multi-level reading materials."

"Each student should be allowed to progress at his own reading rate of speed, competing against no one other than himself," she says. "But one reason he cannot do this today is because of the many gaps in too many subjects which have not been filled by understandable reading materials."

* * *

Miss Andrews suggests that too many textbook writers today approach their subjects without keeping the comprehension levels of their readers in mind. This is particularly true of those writing in science and mathematics.

Each subject also has its own reading idiosyncracies. Miss Andrews observes that an industrial arts pupil must follow directions and memorize details while the social studies student must learn a sequence of events as he reads "much of the interesting forgettable detail."

* * *

Each of these areas requires a particular reading skill, Miss Andrews says, noting that "reading is not a subject; it is a tool." She adds:

"The trouble is that reading is taught as a single entity; most students learn to read everything like they would a novel.

"We only pay lip service to individual attention, particularly in reading. Generally, everything is taught on a group basis.

"That might be fine until you consider that textbooks rarely cover more than three or four general reading levels throughout the schooling period.

"Meanwhile, an average seventh grade class may include students whose reading abilities range from the second to the eleventh grades.

"Half the seventh graders in the U.S. have reading abilities below their grade level; one out of five of them can comprehend nothing higher than fourth grade material."

It gets worse as students reach the college level; many possess only a ninth grade reading level. "That's when it really hurts," Miss Andrews says.

Fire Department To Make Inspections

Acting Fire Chief Byron Holkenbrink said yesterday that by presidential proclamation the week of Oct. 9-15 has been designated as National Fire Prevention Week, in commemoration of the Great Chicago Fire of Oct. 8-10, 1871.

The Chicago fire was the destroyer of 17,430 buildings with a staggering loss of 175 million dollars. On the same day of the same year, 1871, fire in and around the lumber town of Peshtigo, Michigan claimed 1,152 lives.

During Fire Prevention Week, Jacksonville firemen under the direction of Engineer Alvin Smith, Fire Prevention officers, will make inspections of buildings in the Fire District (downtown and adjacent areas) to locate and help correct possible fire hazards, such as accumulation of combustable materials in attics and basements, checking electric circuits, extension cords and fuse boxes and the improper storage and use of flamable liquids.

Smith said inspections will also be made at outlying service stations and other business houses.

Chief Holkenbrink said that one-fourth of all fires are caused by matches and smoking, another 20% are the result of misuse of electrical equipment, and that three-fourths of all fires are caused by human careiessness and forgetfulness.

Mrs. W. Grisham Feted At Shower

Mrs. William Grisham, the former Berneda Ehlert, was honored with a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Daisy Northrop, Thursday, September 22 at 7:30 p.m.

Games and refreshments were enjoyed. The prizes won were given to the guest of honor. She also received many lovely gifts.

Those attending, in addition to the guest of honor, were Mrs. Rena Ehlert, Miss Alice Pevey, Mrs. Kay Preston, Mrs. Wanda Mayberry.

Mrs. Margaret Strubbe, Miss Linda Pevey, Mrs. Sam Pevey, Mrs. Betty Cobb, Mrs. Eunice Hughett and Mrs. Daisy Northrop.

Those not attending, but sending gifts, were Mrs. Shirley Sumpter, Miss Norma Whitaker, Mrs. Sharon Pierson, Mrs. Esta Gillis, Mrs. Evelyn Meadows and Mrs. Barbara Woods.

Hostesses for the evening were Miss Alice Pevey and Mrs. Daisy Northrop.

$1,038 Needed To Keep Bloodmobile Visiting Greene

CARROLLTON—Green county is short the sum of $1,038 of it's goal of $2,900 needed to keep the Red Cross Blood program in the county. The deadline to raise said amount has been extended to October 7.

Townships which have not met their goal and are now urged to do so are Carrollton, Athensville, Hillview, Patterson, Roodhouse, Walkerville, Woodville, Kane and Linder. Some townships have exceeded their goal by a goodly amount.

Persons who wish to contribute to insure the blood mobile program for the county are asked to contact the township fund chairman, the H.I.A. representative or bring the check to the local Red Cross office and the township in which you live will be given credit.

Plan Adult Class In Homemaking At Meredosia

MEREDOSIA — The organization meeting for the Meredosia-Chambersburg Adult Homemaking class will be held Tuesday, Oct. 4, at 8:00 in the home economics room. This will be a short meeting to decide the type of class or classes needed; the most convenient day to meet; the length of each meeting; the number of meetings wanted; and supplies needed for the class.

If you are interested, please come to the meeting. If you can't attend this meeting but would like to attend the regular sessions, please notify Mrs. Myrtle Joy at JU 4-2121, so we will know your preference of day and time for future meetings. Notice will be published of the day and time for future meetings after the organization meeting.

Well-Child Conference

The Well-Child Conference was held in the clinic room at the Meredosia Grade Shool Wednesday, Sept. 28, with Dr. Chapman, Elizabeth Miner, and Maxine Smith from Jacksonville in attendance. Mrs. Robert Lansink and Mrs. Chel Young assisted as representatives of the Woman's Club.

Twenty-six children were examined and immunized if necessary; 17 children's polio shots were given; nine dpt shots were given; six adult polio shots were administered; and one dt shot. Vitamins sold amounted to $9.15.

Mrs. Leah Wegehoft was in Passavant Hospital several days this week for observation and tests.

Mrs. John Stanfield attended the school of instruction for beginning Girl Scout leaders Wednesday at the Scout office in Jacksonville.

Show Pictures To Concord PTA Taken On Tour

CONCORD — The first meeting of the new school year for the P.T.A. was on Wednesday at the Concord grade school.

Robert Kircher, president called the meeting to order, opening with the pledge to the flag. The minutes of the last meeting and the board meeting were read and approved. Mrs. Max Flavio, treasurer, gave her report.

President Kircher announced the appointment of a legislative committee namely, Mrs. Robert Goodpasture and Mrs. Edward Charlesworth. Byron McGinnis was appointed to attend the next regular board meeting.

Program chairman, Mrs. Gerald Gerdes introduced Miss Dollie Tribbett and Berneta Surratt who showed slides of their trip to several historical places in the East. Miss Surratt won the trip through her spelling ability and was accompanied by her teacher Miss Tribbett. The colorful pictures including the different rooms of the White House along with others were enjoyed by all.

The meeting adjourned to the lunch room where refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kircher, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gerdes, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elliott and Mr. and Mrs. Max Flavio.

Rotarians Of Roodhouse Hear Dr. Applebee

ROODHOUSE — Observing Ladies Night, Wednesday, at Hopkins community Hall, the Rotarians had their wives as guests. 65 adults were present. Also guests for the evening were Jacksonville Rotarians John Marshall, Don Fahnestock, and their wives. Miss Mabel Hopkins, Roodhouse, was another guest. The group was welcomed by the president of the club, Carl McAdams, and responding for the Rotary-Anns was Mrs. McAdams. Introduced as the two new Rotary-Anns were Mrs. James F. Hopkins and Mrs. Delmar Redmon.

Invocation was offered by the Rev. Delmar Redmon. The tables carried out the fall theme with leaves of many colors forming the nutcup bases and in napkins. Each lady was presented with a corsage by Henry Van Tuyle of the host committee. Also serving on the committee were A. E. Clark, Ross Manning and Mervin Henry. The dinner was served by the Khoury League mothers.

Feted by the ladies were the husbands with a vocal number sung by Mesdames Gilbert Todd, Lloyd Coffman, and Ross Manning accompanied by the club pianist, Russell Chapman. Serving as song leader was Jerry Hagen.

Mervin Henry introduced Dr. A.B. Applebee, Jacksonville, who was present with Mrs. Applebee. Dr. Applebee showed slides of housing conditions in Russia taken by him on a recent trip to that country. He served as his own commentator.

News Notes

The First Baptist Church Amoma Class luncheon will be held on Tuesday at one o'clock in the fellowship room of the church. Among those present will be Warren Pearson from the Hudelson Home, Centralia. A table will be set up for donations of clothing, fruit juices, and canned goods.

Mrs. O. L. Edwards and sister, Miss Lutie Wieser, expect to leave soon for their home in Bakersfield, Calif., after spending the last few months in Roodhouse, their former home. Before leaving they have sold the residence porperty owned by them known as the Savage house to Bill Todd, who will move there with his family in the future.

Average length of passenger car trips in the United States is 8.5 miles as determined by a recent study.

Municipal Airport Activities

The Chandlerville Optimist Club visited Jacksonville Municipal Airport last Thursday evening. Several members of the club made aerial tours over Chandlerville, and for many it was their first ride. Two Cessna 172 aircraft from Jacksonville Flying Service were used for the tour. Pilots were Maynard Harper of Chandlerville and Carmen P. Burgard.

Senator Everett M. Dirksen landed at Jacksonville Municipal Tuesday afternoon for a speaking engagement at Pittsfield. The flight was made in an Aero Commander twin engine aircraft.

Mrs. G. J. Jaco landed at Jacksonville Municipal Monday from Harlan, Iowa, to visit with her daughter in Waverly. Mrs. Jaco was an entrant in the Powder Puff Derby last summer. She was flying a Bellanca aircraft.

New students at Jacksonville Flying Service include Harold Stephens of Rushville and Ted Birdsell of Jacksonville.

Wm. Blum, engineer at W.L.D.S., is now the proud owner of a Luscombe aircraft, purchased last week. Bill has been a licensed pilot for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hornbeck arrived at Jacksonville Municipal from Ottawa, Illinois, Tuesday to attend Mr. Hornbeck's grandmother's funeral. They were flying a Cessna 172.

The National Distillers and Chemical Corporation landed a new Beechcraft Queenaire aircraft at Jacksonville Municipal airport Monday morning. The Queenaire is a new member to the national fleet of aircraft and is one of their many aircraft to use the facilities at Jacksonville Municipal in Transporting company personnel from and to the Kordite Company.

Nineteen members from the primary and junior departments of the First Presbyterian church Sunday school classes were given free airplane rides for one year perfect attendance last Sunday. The rides were given by Loren Moody in his Navion Aircraft. Moody has made this an annual affair for some years now for the perfect attendance winners.

The Private Pilot ground school classes will begin at Jacksonville Flying Service Wednesday evening, October 5, at 7:00 p.m. This class will qualify the student pilot for taking his written examination at the conclusion of the ten week course. The course includes navigation Meteorology, Radio Procedures, Aircraft, Powerplants and Civil Air Regulations.

Persons interested in enrolling in the class may contact the offices of Jacksonville Flying Service.

White Hall City Council To Buy Land For Lake

WHITE HALL — An adjourned meeting of the City Council was held on Tuesday night in the council room of the city hall in charge of Mayor J. W. Baldwin, and a full quorum of aldermen, and Attorney L. K. Hubbard, and Mr. and Mrs. Merle Ross and their son, Kenneth Ross.

A contract calling for the purchase of 66.07 acres of land for reservoir purposes, was consummated between the council and Mr. and Mrs. Ross. A check for $19,821 for the purchase of the land will be made out to the owners, and held by Attorney Hubbard until a city ordinance authorizing the purchase can be issued and publicized.

The council also took an option on 11.26 acres of land lying east and northwest of the present reservoir site.

Christian Church To Hold Revival At Glasgow

GLASGOW — Revival meetings will begin at the Christian Church on Wednesday evening, November 9. Rev. Joe Maynard of Pittsfield, pastor of the Detroit Christian Church, will be the evangelist, bringing the message each evening.

Rev. and Mrs. Keith Thornton of Pearl have been engaged to do the singing. Rev. Thornton is the pastor at the Pearl Christian Church. Other details concerning these meetings will be announced later.

Birthday Supper

Carol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kunzeman, was honored on her fourth birthday Thursday by a birthday supper at her home here, at which the following relatives attended: Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Alhorn, Mr. and Mrs. John Alhorn and John Jay, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Schweer, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kunzeman Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Kunzeman, sons, John and Steve, and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kunzeman and Cheryl, Cathy and Tommie, all of the Meredosia community.

Revival In Last Week

The non-denominational revival meetings, that have been held nightly in the Glasgow Community Center, will come to a close on Friday night, September 30.

These services, conducted by Rev. Garfield Rodgers of Roodhouse and Rev. Al Council of Clayton, have been attended by both local residents and visitors from different communities.

Delivers Final Sermon

Rev. Charles Everly, who has resigned as pastor of the local Baptist Church, delivered his final sermon at the regular morning worship service Sunday, September 25. Rev. and Mrs. Everly and son, Paul are still residing in the church parsonage here until he secures a new location.

Raymond Baker, student pastor of Alton, will serve as supply pastor at the local Baptist Church for the regular morning and evening services on Sunday, October 2. Every one invited to join the local congregation in these services.

Unite Former Greene Couple At Winchester

ROODHOUSE — Minnie Lawson, Denver, Colo., and Robert Hicks, also of Denver, Colo., both formerly of Roodhouse, were quietly united in marriage Sunday afternoon at the home of the Baptist minister, Rev. Dean Spencer, Winchester. Rev. Spencer performed the single ring ceremony. Attending the couple were Mabel McGlasson and Leo Baker.

The couple are spending some time in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hicks, and expect to leave at the end of the visit to return to Denver where the groom is employed as a salesman out of Denver.

Milly Jo Clark, daughter of Mrs. Betty Clark, and a member of the Roodhouse Community High school senior class, who has been a patient at Passavant hospital, Jacksonville, since receiving fractures in an auto accident two months ago, expects to return home Saturday.

Mrs. Ruth Root, who fell at her home last week, is being cared for in her home by Mrs. Lizzie Crain. Mrs. Root expects to be about the house in a wheel chair in a few more days.

Frank Hopkins, local jeweler, has returned home from Chicago where he spent some time in the Merchandise Mart.

Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Alford have moved to the residence of the late Minnie Campbell which they purchased from Ralph McConathy.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Edwin Bates, the former Golda Barnes, formerly of Roodhouse, who passed away, Sept. 15, in San Bernardino, Calif. Mrs. Bates was reared in the home of her aunt, the late Mrs. Robert Lewis. Funeral services and burial were held in California. She was the cousin of Mrs. Cecile Manning of this city.

APPLE QUEEN TO STUDY MODELING

HARDIN, Ill. — Miss Naomi Young, reigning Calhoun County Apple Queen, enrolled this week in a modeling course at the Patricia Stevens Finishing School in St. Louis. The scholarship was presented to Miss Young, as the winner of the local beauty pageant, by the Patricia Stevens school. Miss Young, the younger daughter of Mr.and Mrs. Orion Young of Hardin, is a graduate of Unit 40 High School.

VOTING RECORD—Other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) take their prerogatives of democracy more seriously than the U.S. Map shows percentage of eligible voters who cast ballots in each country's most recent important national election. Luxembourg is highest, with 97 per cent, due to the fines levied against nonvoters. But Italy's close behind with 93.85 per cent. Contrasting U.S. average is 60.04 per cent.

Unrest Stirs In Formosa, Charge Ruling Party Monopoly, Wants True Democracy

Editor's Note—Both politically and strategically, the island of Formosa looms large in America's Far Eastern defense setup. Now, a noted reporter finds in a survey at the scene, political troubles are boiling up for Nationalist China's ruling Kuomintang party.

By RELMAN MORIN

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — "We want a true democracy" "End of dictatorship." "One-party rule." "Great unrest at the grass roots."

The words vary from country to country in Asia today.

But they express the same demands and convey the same warning—political discontent in nations of immense importance to the United States.

They rang out in South Korea last spring, and the "April revolution" swept the old government to oblivion. They are rumbling beneath the surface in South Vietnam. You hear them in Indonesia.

And now Formosa.

On the fortress-island of Nationalist China, a man says:

"The Kuomintang (government party) is a monopoly, exactly like the Communist party. We want a true democracy for the same reasons that we evacuated the mainland."

He refers to the grim and heroic days of July 1949. That summer the Chinese Communists completed their conquest of metropolitan China. The Nationalists, led by President Chiang Kai-shek, evacuated the mainland and went to Formosa.

Two million bitterly anti-Communist Chinese followed Chiang into exile.

Formosa is 100 miles from the mainland. It is a base for potential re-invasion of China. It is a powerful keystone in the defense line in the Western Pacific. Huge sums of American money went into equipping the Nationalist armed forces. The U.S. 7th Fleet patrols the waters around the island.

In short, the American stake in Formosa — political, economic, strategic—is very great.

Now, suddenly, political unrest has come to a boil. There is open opposition to Chiang's party. The items in the opposition leaders' indictment of the Kuomintang sound distressingly similar to the charges hurled against Syngman Rhee's government in South Korea last spring:

"Rigged elections. Intimidation at the polls. Corruption. Too much concentration of power. No freedom of the press."

So a group of mainland Chinese and island-born Taiwanese announced last June—three days before President Eisenhower visited the island—their intention to form a new political party.

Among the 55 leaders are Lei Chen, 64, magazine publisher who has been openly critical of the Kuomintang; Li Wan-chu, 60, newspaper publisher, and Henry Kao Yu-shu, 57, former mayor of Taipei, the capital city, an engineer trained at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Originally, the government professed disinterest in the proposed new party, except to say that the group would not be recognized as a political entity.

But on Sept. 4, Lei Chen and two associates were suddenly arrested, charged with sedition, and imprisoned.

In Hong Kong, a group of former Nationalist officials and anti-Communist writers said Lei was arrested "to get rid of him and suppress formation of an opposition party—a premeditated and unlawful action."

In Taipei, the government said the action against Lei Chen was not a "political arrest." It said the charges of sedition are based on critical articles published in his magazine, "Free China."

This brings a derisive snort from Henry Kao.

"Those articles were published months and even years ago," he says. "Why do they wait until now to arrest him?"

With Li Wan-chu, he explains the position to a reporter.

"We are completely and inflexibly anti-Communist. We support the government entirely in the matter of returning to the mainland of China."

But they accuse the government on these grounds:

1. Election malpractices. They cite specific polling places where, they say, Kuomintang officials themselves acted as the poll-watchers, where voters were intimidated, and votes left uncounted.

2. Interference with freedom of the press and freedom of speech. "There will be more arrests," Henry Kao predicts.

3. Official indifference to economic hardships. The June 15 statement said, "The difficulty of making both ends meet (among lower-paid groups) is well known, but there is no evidence of concern on the part of the Kuomintang, and still less has there been any intention of alleviating their plight."

This third point comes as a surprise.

Formosa looks bloomingly prosperous. Exports are mounting. The land reform program was a great success. The standard of living has risen steadily for the island's 10,000,000 people. Among Asian nations, it is second only to the standard of living in Japan.

"It's true that nobody is starving," says Henry Kao. He concedes that "this government has done some very good work." But he insists that "the majority of people are not living well. There is great hardship and great unrest at the grass roots."

For these and other reasons, he says, the country needs a healthy second party.

"He is beyond criticism," he says. "Anyone who would dare criticize our president would be very reckless."

Chiang is 73. He looks vigorous and healthy, thinks and speaks clearly on world problems, retains his indomitable determination to regain China.

There was a revolution in Korea. There are ample signs of discontent in South Viet Nam to President Ngo Dinh Diem's regime, and in Indonesia to President Sukarno.

The cry, "we want a true democracy," has burst into the open on Formosa.

Glasgow Teacher Accepts Position At Texas School

GLASGOW — Miss Dorothy Beck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Hanback, near Glasgow, has accepted a position with the staff of the Texas University for Women in Denton, Texas, teaching Speech and Theatre for the present school year.

Miss Beck has received much acclaim, publicity and praise for the wonderful way in which she handled the job of business manager and house mother on the Indiana University showboat, "Majestic," that floated down the Ohio river between Lawrenceburg and Mt. Vernon, Indiana to Louisville, Kentucky, playing nightly performances during the past summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanback accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Killebrew motored to Louisville recently for the final and 88th performance, "The Taming of the Shrew." This was the showboat's first trip as the property of the Indiana University.

Miss Beck returned home with her parents for a few days' visit, and was joined here by Miss Dorothy Goodwin of Oswego, New York, who accompanied her to Denton, Texas.

Report To Altrusans On District Meeting

An interesting and enthusiastic report of the Altrusa District Six conference, at Lexington, Kentucky, September 22-24, was given by local delegates Miss Charlotte Hull, president, and Miss Frances Gutmann, treasurer, at the meeting held recently in the County Fair room of the Dunlap Hotel.

Through the key theme "Growth Through Service" there were reports of the work being done and challenges for all local clubs to do a greater service in 1960-61. During the reports of the committees, recognition was given to Dr. Mary Louise Newman and Marguerita Schoedsack for their work as editors of Sixth Summary-District Six News Bulletin. A new name of "Learn Shops" were given to the usual "Workshops."

Merit awards were received as follows: Poster — Vision Testing, First, Springfield, Ill. Second, Louisville, Ky. Year Book—First, Waukegan, Ill., Second, Elk Hart County. Scrap Book: First, Louisville, Ky.; Second, Fort Wayne, Ind. Club Bulletins: Pekin, Ill., First; Chicago, Ill., second.

Peoria received citation for organizing new club.

Important meetings ahead include the annual president workshop which will include the presidents, vice presidents and program coordinators to be held in Indianapolis, April 15, 1961. This is important because Altrusa International President Dr. Viva Boothe will have meeting on April 16, making two important meetings in one.

The 1961 Conference of District Six will be Sept. 29, 30, Oct. 1, 1961, at Abe Lincoln Hotel in Springfield.

Welcome and recognition was given to Mrs. Louisa Strong acting Dean of Women at MacMurray College

The local Altrusans are making plans to increase their service to the community and to follow the year's slogan "Make Service Your Business."

Dr. Frances Whitehead, president, Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., will be the guest of honor at the meeting of District 7, to be held at the Dunlap Hotel on Sunday, Oct. 9.

Dr. Whitehead is a resident of Lewistown, Ill., and Professor of Business Administration and Business Law at Western Illinois University, Macomb. Her education started back in a little red school house but continued on through high school, college, and to a Ph.D. degree in economics from the University of Illinois. Her post-doctoral work took her to the London School of Economics, London, England, Columbia University and New York University, N.Y.

She wears a charm bracelet made up of the Honors' Keys she has been awarded during her years of study.

Teaching experience is a product of many schools — country, 4th grade elementary in town, high school classes, women's colleges, Bradley (before it was a university) and at Western when it was still a teacher's college—and since it has become a university.

Her business experience has been wide, too, embracing everything from selling in a country store, to work in a department store; personnel research for a gigantic company, field advertising for the same company, and specialty selling.

The Fisk Family Meets At Park

Dining room 4, Nichols Park, was jammed last Sunday when the Fisk family held its first reunion. Many cousins met for the first time; other members of the family who hadn't seen each other for years recalled earlier days.

The day passed so pleasantly that the family decided to meet at the same place, same time, next year. Officers selected to prepare for the event are: Mrs. Hattie Curtis Casson Ranson, Jacksonville, president; Mrs. Marjorie Mowen, Baylis, vice president; Mrs. Martha Riggs Cook, East Moline, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Dorothy Casson Newby, Jacksonville, historian.

More than 90 were present. They came from Springfield, East Moline, Baylis, Rockport, Arthur, Pittsfield, Champaign, Andalusia, Rock Island, Waverly, Liberty St. Louis and Davenport, Iowa.

TO HOLD REUNION

The descendants of Joseph and Julia Grumbich Hartman will hold their annual reunion Sunday, Oct. 2, at Robin Hood Country Club, Carrollton. A basket dinner will be served at 1 p.m.

Pike Ministerial Association Meets At Rainbow

PITTSFIELD — The Pittsfield Ministerial Association held its first meeting at the Rainbow Restaurant on Tuesday with Rev. Ernest Duling, president, in charge of the business meeting. The association will sponsor the Children's Trick or Treat for the CROP program on Saturday, Oct. 29. Co-chairmen are Rev. Vernon Stout and Rev. Kent Sanderson. A Community Thanksgiving Service was planned for Thanksgiving morning at 9:00 a.m. in the Calvary Baptist church with Rev. Duling giving the message. Pittsfield churches will receive a special offering on Sunday, Nov. 13 for CROP. The association voted to contribute $10 to the Illinois Council of Churches.

Cub Scout Meeting

The first Cub Scout meeting was held at the American Legion hall on Monday night with the boys and parents of last year's pack and 26 new boys and parents in attendance. John Meyers of Quincy, district representative gave a talk and showed films on Cub Scouting. The next meeting will be held on October 31 and any boy eight years old who is interested in becoming a Cub Scout should contact Rev. Vernon Stout or Bill Kattleman. Monday, Oct. 3 there will be an administration meeting for unit leaders, committee members, den mothers and parents at the Legion hall at 7:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Zimmerman and Earl Zimmerman were in Decatur on Tuesday when the Irwin Neisler Co., dedicated their new 1½ million dollar research building. The Zimmerman's brother, a former Pittsfield man, Dr. John Zimmerman, is president of the Irwin Neisler Company in Decatur.

The Old Orchard Country Club Auxiliary will hold a coffee on Friday morning at 9:30 a.m. at the club with the Auxiliary president, Mrs. Edmonds Venable, in charge of the meeting.

Mrs. Mary Barkley, who has been very ill for several months and has been taking treatment in Passavant hospital, Jacksonville, was brought to Illini Community hospital on Wednesday morning. Her condition is critical.

Scientists Almost Have Secret Of Death Rays In Their Hands

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A giant magnifying glass orbiting th earth, setting cities ablaze with the focused rays of the sun.

The science-fiction super weap on is a toy compared to wha some envision from a new development in science.

Recent disclosure of working models of radiation-amplifying devices indicates man may be closer to the secret of death rays disintegrators, and ray guns than you think.

The secret lies in making radiation—including ordinary light—do something nature never intended it to do travel in parallel beams.

Two devices which have opened a whole new field of thinking about the use of radiation as a force are the Maser and the Laser.

They are so complex and their names so long that scientists call them by their initials. They are: Microwave Amplification by Stimulated Emission of Radiation (Maser), and Light Amplification by Stimulated Emission of Radiation (Laser).

MASERs, which work with invisible radar beams, have been in operation several years. LASERs, which work with visible light, have only recently been brought out of the realm of theory.

What they do is amplify, or intensify, certain types of radiation, somewhat in the manner your radio set amplifies and turns into audible sound the radio waves broadcast by your radio station.

But there is this vital difference:

Normally sources of radiation—such as your broadcasting station, a light bulb, or an atomic bomb—scatter radiation in all directions.

These new sources concentrate radiation into a single powerful beam.

Microwaves and light waves, as generally used today, don't hurt you. Amplify and concentrate them enough and they will hurt.

This discovery has prompted scientists to hunt ways of using rays that do hurt, even in scattered form.

They are working with infrared or heat rays, ultraviolet rays like those from the sun, X-rays and even gamma rays such as those given off by nuclear explosions.

Dr. Theodore H. Maiman of Hughes Aircraft Co., who invented the LASER, predicts that with the right materials "science will be able to use the MASER principle with invisible infrared and ultraviolet rays.

"We all know what infrared or heat can do. Ultra-violet is known to be especially damaging to certain tissues in the eye—many people have been blinded permanently by looking too long at the sun.

"The higher frequencies of these rays would require not only some material to replace the ruby in MASER's and LASERs, but also some new reflective material to set up resonance. The shielding we use in the LASER, for instance, absorbs rather than reflects radiation from the ultra-violet region on upward."

Asked if his new LASER itself could produce a "death ray," Dr Maiman said "I don't know. I haven't done enough research—there simply isn't enough information at the moment to be sure.

"I do know that a number of laboratories are working with destructive radiation but any information I might have about their work would be classified."

Dr. Maiman says the LASER's beam can be focused down into a point of light hundreds of times narrower than the edge of a surgeon's scalpel.

Yet that beam, he says, is powerful enough to cut through human tissue with a precision now impossible. He sees a great future for it in brain surgery, and removal of cancers.

It would be quite easy, Maiman says, for a LASERbeam to slice a single tissue cell in half.

How?

All forms of radiation have varying penetrative power. Some of them can go through blocks of concrete or thick lead shields. All vibrate, to greater or lesser degree. Step up the vibration by amplification and the rays literally shear the material through which they are passing.

A magnifying glass can focus light rays down to a point about an eighth of an inch wide. A LASER can focus them down to millionths of an inch—small enough to slice a human cell the way a butcher slices baloney.

He leaves to your imagination what would happen if a device successfully controlled heat, ultra violet or X-rays.

Maiman says his LASER is so good at concentrating light rays that if he had one in a satellite 1,000 miles high, its beam would spread over an area no more than 200 feet wide on earth.

A satellite equipped with a LASER-like device using the more harmful rays conceivably would have the world at its mercy.

Long before a LASER-satellite rises into the sky, however, the principle will be put to work in beams of radiation directed from earth toward the heavens.

Concentrated light and radio waves will give astronomers brighter and clearer pictures of the moon and the planets than have ever been obtained. Stronger radiation means better pictures, and Maiman says LASER rays are brighter than those of the sun or the stars.

Maiman, although only 33, is senior staff physicist of the atomic physics department of Hughes' new research laboratory at Malibu, Calif. Los Angeles born, he received his doctorate from Stanford in 1955.

Maiman was responsible for developing a MASER for the Army Signal Corps which weighs only 25 pounds, compared with earlier versions which weigh hundreds.

His new LASER is only the size of a flashlight. Does that remind you of the ray guns of science fiction?

Athensville Man Suffers Broken Ankle At Farm

CARROLLTON — Ebert Walkington, a farmer residing in the Athensville vicinity, returned home Tuesday from the White Hall Hospital where he had been a patient since Saturday for the fracture of a bone above his right ankle which he suffered early Saturday morning when he slipped and fell from a tractor trailer at his farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Walkington are planning to retire from the farm this fall and make their home in Roodhouse.

School Administrators Meet

Miss Elnore Stoldt of the state office of Public Instruction spoke on the National Defense Education Act Title III at a meeting of Greene County School administrators which was held Friday morning in the Greene County Court House. The meeting was called by Mrs. Thelma Wilkinson, Greene county superintendent of schools.

The Greene County Board of School trustees will meet in their quarterly session Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the office of Mrs. Thelma Wilkinson, Greene County Superintendent of Schools.

The office of Mrs. Wilkinson will be closed a part of the day Wednesday as Mrs. Wilkinson and her assistant, Howard Berline, will go to Brussells to attend a luncheon meeting of the Carrollton Bloc of school superintendents and their assistants held at the Wittmond Hotel.

Civil War Centennial Program Opens Jan. 8

WASHINGTON, D.C. — With the formal opening only three months away, plans for the five-year series of observances marking the Civil War Centennial are developing according to schedule, Karl S. Betts, executive director of the National Centennial Commission, reports.

Forty-three states now have their own Centennial Commissions. Each of these is working out its own program, in line with a commission policy of having the planning originate at the grass-root's level.

The plans have been quietly building up over the last two and a half years, during the period since Congress created the Centennial Commission in 1957 and directed that it continue to function through 1965.

"We have conscientiously tried to avoid any premature, pre-Centennial observances," Mr. Betts explained. "This we have done because we have set for ourselves a rigid pattern of following exactly what happened 100 years ago. We want the Centennial to be as accurate and as authentic as possible. Everything we do fits into a chronology."

The Centennial will formally open next January 8 with a proclamation from the White House calling on all Americans to participate. On that day, a Sunday, clergyman of every faith and church in the nation, it is hoped, will give due recognition to the solemnity and great importance of the occasion, basing their services on material furnished by the National Commission in a little religious booklet entitled "The Role of Religion in the Civil War Centennial."

On January 8, it will have been 100 years lacking one day since the little unarmed steamer Star of the West attempted to steal into Charleston harbor down in South Carolina and reprovision Fort Sumter, thereby drawing the first fire of the war. Charleston, S. C., will mark the occasion with a three-day series of observances that will include both religious and historical programs.

Also on this occasion the military academies of the nation will participate with special programs. As a part of their observances, special recognition will be given to the memory of their alumni who participated in the war. Included among these will be some of the top leaders of both the Northern and the Southern Armies.

Emphasis will be placed during the Centennial on the preservation and restoration of historic sites.

"We want people to come and see living history," Mr. Betts said. "We think it important that they visit and become thoroughly familiar with the schenes and localities where their ancestors fought and died."

The trek toward battle sites during the Centennial is expected to result in the greatest tourist movement in American history. The National Park Service, reporting 7,000,000 visitors at its battlefield parks, is now expanding its roads and facilities in line with an estimate that this number will be trebled during each of the Centennial years.

Seizing upon this estimate of tourist movement, the American Automobile Association and several of the largest oil companies and other corporations now are preparing special Centennial maps for wide distribution throughout America.

As now projected, at least three battle reenactments will be staged during the Centennial. These will be Fort Sumter, Manassas and Antietam. But a number of lesser engagements will be commemorated in pageants and other colorful ceremonies.

Home Bureau To Meet At Hallock Home In Greene

PATTERSON — The Patterson-Hillview unit of Home Bureau will meet Wednesday at 1:30 in the home of Mrs. Mary Hallock, northwest of Hillview. The song of the month will be "Our Men Will Shine Tonight."

Roll call will be answered by "Gifts for Men."

The lesson, "Men Wear Clothes Too", and the selected subject, "Dessert Pancakes", will both be presented by local leaders.

FOUNDERS' DAY SPEAKER

Dr. Chester Pennington

MacMurray College president Gordon E. Michalson announced Thursday that Dr. Chester A. Pennington, senior minister of the Hennepin Avenue Methodist Church in Minneapolis, will be the speaker at the Founders' Day Convocation Oct. 14 at MacMurray.

This will be the fifty-second observance of Founders' Day, commemorating the first meeting of the Board of Trustees on Oct. 10, 1846 when MacMurray, then called Illinois Conference Female Academy, was founded. For the first time this year, a full class of senior men will take their places in Annie Merner Chapel for the ceremonies, representing the fourth year of MacMurray College for Men, begun in 1957.

A native of New Jersey, Dr. Pennington received his B.A. degree from Temple University, and did graduate work at Drew Theological Seminary and the University of Oxford, England. He spent two and one-half years as a Navy Chaplain, was minister of several New Jersey Methodist churches, and at one time was an instructor of philosophy at a Methodist college while serving a church in the same town. Previous to his Minneapolis appointment, he was minister of the Church of St. Paul and St. Andrew on Manhattan Island, New York City.

Other Founders' Day activities will include a formal banquet, a band concert, and a formal dance for students, alumnae, trustees, and friends of the college.

256 Pints Quota For Bloodmobile At Jerseyville

JERSEYVILLE—The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be set up at the First Methodist church in Jerseyville at its next visit here Oct. 7 and 8th and the quota for each day will be 128 pints, a total of 256 pints.

The unit will be in operation from twelve noon until six p.m. each day.

Anyone 18 through 59 years of age may donate blood, and unmarried men under 21 years of age must present a signed parental consent form at the time of donation.

These forms may be obtained at the Red Cross office on the second floor of the courthouse in Jerseyville. There are no restrictions on the donors' diet except that a heavy fatty meal should not be eaten immediately before the blood donation.

Persons who have received blood at the Jersey Community hospital or any hospital participating in the Red Cross Blood Program are urged to replace the amount of blood used. This may be done through their families, friends and relatives.

Anyone may give blood at any time convenient to them on either day of the Bloodmobile visit, but appointments may be made by calling the Red Cross office, No. 467.

Civil War Roundtable To Open Year Oct. 7

All men interested in Civil War history are invited to attend the first meeting of the new club year of the Jacksonville Civil War Roundtable, which will be held at Illinois College Friday, Oct. 7.

Dinner will be served at Baxter Hall at 6:30 p.m., and later the group will adjourn to Turner Library to hear a paper by Oliver Keller, generl manager of Radio WTAX, Springfield, and a past president of the Springfield Civil War Roundtable.

He will speak on "The State Register and Lincoln, or How Loyal Was the Loyal Opposition?" His discourse will be based upon the files of the newspaper from the day Lincoln gave his famous "farewell" address as he was leaving for the inaugural in Washington to the day when his body was returned to Springfield for burial.

Charles Lanphier was the emphatic editor of the Register during that period. Historians today class him as one of the leading Copperhead editors; during the war the Unionists charged him with treason while his friends hailed his "loyal opposition" to the administration and the conflict.

The Roundtable now has over 40 members from Morgan, Scott and Green counties and will meet at the College on the first Friday evening of each month. Dinner reservations may be made by calling Jack Kurtz, president, or Ernest L. Hoagland, secretary. Interested persons unable to have dinner with the group are invited to be at the library at 7:30 p.m.

Guidance Will Be Purpose Of Six Workshops

The Superintendent of Public Instruction in cooperation with the National Defense Act, Title V—Guidance and Testing, is offering a workshop for classroom teachers in Principles and Techniques of Guidance.

The workshop will consist of six 2-hour sessions on Mondays, meeting from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. at Jonathan Turner Junior High School. The first session will be Monday, Oct. 10, and will run for six consecutive Mondays. There is no charge or registration fee. Interested teachers may register on Friday, Oct. 7, from 4 till 5 p.m. at Jonathan Turner Junior High School, or they may sign up simply by calling CH 5-5929 and giving their name to Bob Blazier.

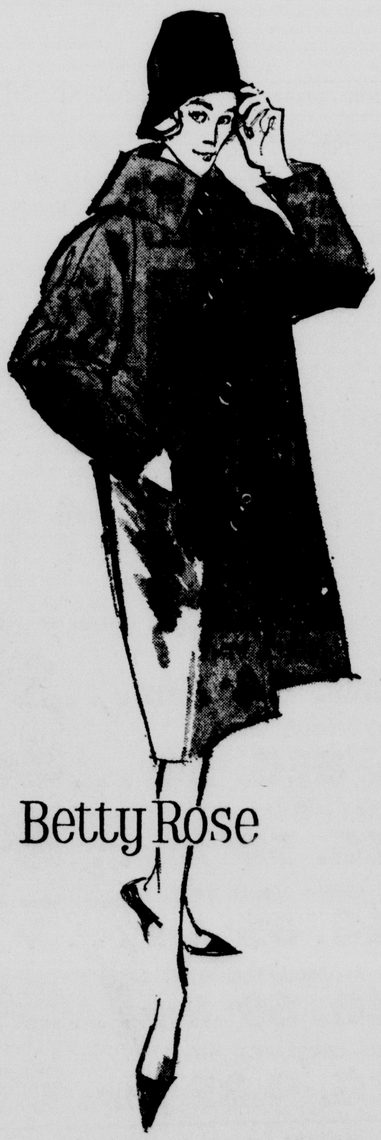

Maximum enrollment accepted will be 35.

The material covered will be directed to the classroom teacher elementary as well as high school.

THE JACKSONVILLE JOURNAL & COURIER

Audience Of 125 At Chapin PTA Program

Approximately 125 were present for the opening meeting of the Chapin P.T.A., which was held on Sept. 26.

The new president, Miss Dollie Tribbett, and her eighth grade pupils led the group in the singing of "America" and the pledge to the flag. The eighth grade students also sang "September Song" and "Autumn Leaves," led by Miss Tribbett, with Miss Elaine Nickel at the piano.

During the business session Forest Adkins, legislative chairman, gave facts about the universities bond issue, which will be voted on in the general election Nov. 8. Six state universities in Illinois would be benefited by the passing of this bond issue.

Trudy Dianne Brockhouse, Luann Sidwell, Becky and Milton Jokisch, Terry Tappenbeck, Gregg Tiemann and Scott Ward, first grade pupils present, introduced their parents under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Paul Aufdenkamp.

Mrs. Albert Swagmeyer, program chairman, introduced a skit promoting membership in the P.T.A. Parents taking part were Mrs. Herman Lakamp, Mrs. Leland Werries, Mr. James Anderson, Mr. Raymond Fricke and Mr. Loren Brockhouse.

Supt. Reed Speaks

The highlight of the program was an interesting and informative talk on "Education" by George Reed, superintendent of Unit 27. Charles Barlow, principal of the Chapin schools, introduced each teacher of the faculty, and they formed a receiving line by the stage to meet all who were present. The meeting closed with the entire group singing "School Days," accompanied by Mrs. Henry Smith.

During the social hour in the lunch room, homemade cookies, punch and coffee were served by Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Schumacher, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Hamilton, Mrs. Fred Tiemann, Miss Dollie Tribbett, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Swagmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Nergenah.

Masquerade Party Oct. 24

Donnie Burton Injured In Fall

PATTERSON—Donnie Burton, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burton, received a chipped tooth, sprained ankle and bruises when the horse he was riding slid in the loose gravel and fell. The accident occurred Sunday afternoon near the Walter Pence farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wigger and son, Paul Gooding, and Miss Glenda Wigger attended the picnic at Nichols Park in Jacksonville Tuesday evening held for the employees of the New Method Book Bindery. Mrs. Wigger is an employee of the firm.

Mrs. Jay Barnett and son, Melvin, of Patterson vicinity and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thaxton and family of Wrights were Sunday afternoon visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burton and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Bertels and family of Alton were Sunday visitors in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burley Fry.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Taylor, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Dean Taylor and sons of Roodhouse, visited Sunday in St. Louis with Mrs. Lucy Taylor and also in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Brant and daughter.

Mrs. Nona Owdom spent from Monday until Tuesday evening in Jacksonville with Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Owdom and son, Michael, and daughter, Michele.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Buzan and sons of St. Louis County spent from Friday until Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cam Crabtree, and son, Ned.

Mrs. Mildred Wilkinson received word this week that her grandson, Bradley Bacon, of Pekin underwent a tonsilectomy Friday morning at the Pekin Hospital.

Mrs. Lora Fry, a resident of the Bateman Nursing Home in White Hall, and her niece, Mrs. Nellie Kilmer, were here at the former's home on Wednesday afternoon.

TO PRESENT 'THE LARK'

The Lark, adapted by Lillian Hellman will be the first play presented this year by the Hilltoppers of Illinois College. It will be under the direction of Mr. Darrell Reagen, instructor in speech and director of dramatics on the Illinois College compus.

The play, the story of Joan of Arc, is to be presented on the evenings of the seventh and eighth of October out of doors on the Ames Woodland Stage.

The play begins with the trial of Joan, the peasant girl who is being tried on the charge of heresy. Through the use of the flashback technique, the events in Joan's life that have preceded the trial are presented. Joan's family is introduced, and the audience becomes aware of the humble surroundings which have produced the girl who led the French Army to victory over the English invaders.

In the scene above Joan (Barb Hergenroeder) is questioned by Warwick (William Schildman, seated) and the Inquisitor (Monte Forke).

Among the characters presented are: King Charles of France, the man whose throne was made secure through Joan's devotion to the belief that France must not be ruled by the English; the Sire de Beaudricourt, the alcoholic nobleman who gave Joan a suit of armour and an armed escort to the Dauphine; and La Hire, the barbaric warrior who eats onions for breakfast.

Three local people appear in the production. They are: Pat Aputis, William Schildman, and Myron Hamey, all from Jacksonville.

Show time is set at 7:30, October seventh and eighth. Admission is $1.25 for adults and $.50 for children.

The performance promises to be an entertaining one. If you can, come for an enjoyable evening.

'ACTION IN EDUCATION' PROJECT WINNER

Mrs. Walter Lohman of Ashland proudly shows Supt. of Schools Harold Elliott the October issue of "Better Homes and Gardens" which lists Ashland as one of the project winners in the 1959-60 "Action in Education" program sponsored by the national magazine.

In a letter received from an official of the magazine, it was stated that "the Action in Education program is designed to provide example and incentive to local organizations and individuals to work with school officials for better schools. It is through the conscienticus efforts of civic-minded individuals and organizations like your own, that the level of American education is constantly on the upswing."

Judging was based on the need for the project undertaken; the problems involved; the means used to accomplish results; and the degree of success achieved.

Mrs. Lohman, in collaboration with former Supt. Walter Karrick, entered the contest in the name of the Ashland Community Survey on Education. Ashland's entry, one of the several hundred to enter the contest, was judged as one of the fifty outstanding projects. A special citation acknowledging the top-ranking award will soon be received.

Found Guilty Of Driving While Intoxicated

A Morgan county court jury returned a verdict Friday afternoon finding Robert H. Jacobs, 66, of near Bluffs guilty of driving while under the influence of liquor. Judge John B. Wright will pass sentence at a later date.

Officials said this was the first time in Morgan county that evidence of blood alcohol content as determined by chemical analysis from an intoximeter test, has been used as evidence. Jacobs was arrested July 8 this year while driving on State Route 104.

Five witnesses were introduced by both prosecution and defense. State's Attorney Charles J. Ryan appeared for the prosecution. Defense attorneys were R. Y. Rowe, Jr., of this city and Robert Oxtoby of Springfield.

Six Fined For Disturbance Near College

Fines were assessed in Police Magistrate's court Saturday against six youths who allegedly took part in a disturbance that began on South Clay avenue, adjacent to the MacMurray College campus.

Fines of $14 each were imposed on Gerald McVey, West Chambers street; Robert Northrop, Franklin route three; Ronnie Dobson, 2 Passavant Drive; Jack Kuhlman, 135½ East Independence; Robert Royer, 1608 Elmwood, and Lawrence Devlin, West Michigan avenue.

The disturbance which resulted in investigation by the police department and arrest of the six young men took place on the night of Sept. 27.

Other fines at the Saturday morning court session held by Magistrate Fred Daniels were:

Fred Reynolds, 929 West Lafayette avenue, $10 for failure to yield right-of-way; John D. Brady, 1002 East Lafayette, $14 disorderly conduct; Billy J. Miller, Paris, Ill., $10 failure to reduce speed, causing accident; Eddie Mack Jr., 670 South Kosciusko, $25 disorderly conduct; John Corrall, 116 West Greenwood, $10 speeding; James E. Stout, 401 West Greenwood, $10 failure to yield right-of-way; Larry Holcomb, Springfield, $5 speeding. S. Ainsworth, Chandlerville, $15 leaving scene of accident.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took a staggering loss in September but began to show signs of recovery as the month ended.

An estimated $19.3 billion was shorn from the quoted values of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange during the month, based on the fall in The Associated Press average. This brought current quoted values on the big board down to about $281.6 billion.

The big decline was based chiefly on disappointment that the hoped-for upturn in business would take place, according to Hoyle, after Labor Day. Instead, business news was disappointing. International tensions, capped by the turbulent meeting of the United Nations, also prompted traders to pull in their horns.

The past week ran the market's string of weekly losses to five straight. Stocks stemmed a series of daily declines on Thursday, however, and managed a slight gain, based on statistics. This set the stage for the Friday rally, the biggest in two months. It was not enough to save the market from a net loss on the week.

The AP 60-stock average fell 3.20 to 206.38, putting this indicator at its lowest reading since Dec. 9, 1958, when it stood at 204.90.

Trading was heavy every day but Thursday, topping three million shares. Turnover for the week was 16,852,810 shares, the biggest since the week ended June 25 when volume was 19,725,360 shares. The week's total compared with 14,930,330 traded the prior week.

Stocks fell rapidly in the first three days of the week. The economic background remained drab. Commentators used the word "recession" more and more. The U.N. situation created scare headlines.

While the market was plunging to its lows for the week, however, Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson made an optimistic speech in which he said the United States is nearing the end of a recession-type adjustment and predicted a "long period of sustainable, non-inflationary growth."

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were:

Benguet, unchanged at 1⅜ on 301,100 shares; American Motors, up ⅜ at 21⅜; General Telephone & Electronics, up ⅛ at 27⅝; Ampex, off 1½ at 24¼; and Standard Oil (New Jersey), up ⅝ at 40¾.

Corporate bond prices suffered the worst loss of the year in September. The decline was the first since May.

However, U.S. government bonds showed fractional gains extending from the intermediate issues right through many of the longer maturity bonds.

Volume for September fell to $93,924,900 par value on the New York Stock Exchange from over $109 million in August. And compared with over $145 million in September 1959. For the week, however, volume increased to $28,069,000—the best in almost four months — from $23,435,900 last week.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP)—Following is a summary of the hog, cattle and sheep markets for the week:

USDA — Hogs — Compared Friday last week—barrows and gilts about steady. Sows steady to 25 higher with the full advance on weights over 450 lbs. On the close mixed lots No. 1 and 2 and mixed No. 1, 2 and 3 200-240 lb barrows and gilts sold from 17.50-17.75; mixed No. 2 and 3 and No. 3 200-280 lb butchers ranged from 17.25-17.65, mostly 17.50 up as the majority of the run sold within a very narrow spread of 25c. Mixed grades No. 1, 2 and 3 and mixed No. 2 and 3 300-400 lb sows brought 14.75-16.50. Mixed grades No. 2 and 3 and No. 3 400-550 lbs 13.75-15.00.

Cattle — Steers grading average choice and below weighing around 1100 lbs down 25-50 lower, other grades and weights generally 50-1.00 lower with weights over 1,300 lbs as much as 1.50 lower, heifers 25-75 lower, bulls steady to 50 lower. Vealers fully steady. Late bulk choice and prime steers 23.50-26.00, numerous loads choice and prime 1300-1500 lb steers late 23.50-24.50, during the week numerous loads mixed good and choice 950-1100 lb steers 23.75-24.25, most good steers 22.00-23.50, sprinkling utility and standard steers 19.00-21.75. Late bulk choice heifers 22.75-23.50, loads high choice and mixed choice and prime grades 23.75-24.50, mixed good and choice heifers on the close 22.25-22.50 when most good grades brought 21.00-22.00. Late sales utility and commercial bulls 16.50-19.00, good and choice vealers 22.00-25.00.

Sheep — Compared Friday last week — spring slaughter lambs sold 1.00-2.00 higher with choice and prime grades at greatest advance. Other classes were steady. Bulk of the choice and prime, but mostly choice 80-100 lb native spring slaughter lambs 19.50-20.25 at the close, few mostly prime spring lambs brought 20.25-20.50. Mixed good and choice spring lambs 17.50-19.00 and utility and good 13.00-15.00. Cull to choice shorn slaughter ewes 4.00-5.00.

CHICAGO (AP)—The supply of butcher hogs this week was unchanged from the two previous weeks and prices held about steady. However, on Tuesday the market topped at $18.25 a hundredweight, the highest peak since the same price was paid on Aug. 9.

Buyers noted that the offerings reflected a seasonal increase in weights over 230 lbs.

Some of the demand in the pens was credited to a scarcity of fresh pork cuts in the wholesale meat trade where loins advanced $1-2 a hundredweight.

The cattle supply was about 40 per cent larger than a week ago and was the largest for any week in almost four years. Slaughter steer prices were 25 cents to $1.50 a hundredweight lower at the end of the week with the extreme setback on high choice and prime grades over 1,300 lbs.

Price declines were rather sharp after Tuesday when demand slackened.

Buyers said the heavy offerings apparently were linked with the strong market of the previous week.

Baseball Isn't Likely To Ever Forget Grand Old Casey Stengel

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Up in Boston a few days before the Yankees wrapped up their 10th pennant in 12 years, Casey Stengel was holding court on the dugout steps when a fan hepened by with a collection of tattatered baseball pictures.

The Ol' Perfesser seldom has need for visual aids in his daily pre-game discourses, but these caught his fancy. The pictures touched on the highlights and lowlights of his incomparable 50 years in the grand old game, and each in turn elicited a spirited monologue.

Here was tangible proof that baseball's most successful manager, most accomplished orator and only practicing bank director did not materialize full blown in front of the Yankee water cooler, as he had to remind Mickey Mantle on one memorable occasion. The Mick had gaped in awe at the old man's ability to demonstrate the niceties of the fade away slide.

"You know, kid, I wasn't born old and manager of the Yankees," Casey informed him.

Improbable as it may seem, his career actually had a beginning and a middle and may even have an end if rumors of his retirement after the World Series with Pittsburgh hold true.

The pictures told the story. Well not the whole story. They missed Stengel the banker, the oil man, the real estate operator, the movie house owner, the celebrated after-dinner speaker, the congressional committee witness, the consummate actor, the psychologist. But they did treat of Casey, the man about baseball, and since this role occupies 99 per cent of his waking hours, they held him fascinated.

There was Casey at the bat, a brash, freckle-faced busher wearing the uniform of Maysville, Ky., in the old Blue Grass League. This is the storied town that had a mental asylum just beyond the outfield fence, and where Casey was then known as "Dutch."

There was Casey locked arm in arm with Wilbert Robinson, the much put upon mother superior of Brooklyn's daffy Dodgers, who once boasted he could catch a baseball dropped from an airplane. Casey indulged his whim by having Frank Kelly, the team trainer, charter a plane, but at the last minute substituted a grapefruit for the baseball.

As the projectile plummeted to earth, growing larger by the second, Robbie manfully circled under it, only to have it crash through his glove and splatter on his chest in a frightful fallout of pulp, pit and rind that knocked him kicking. "I'm killed, I'm blinded, I'm covered with blood. Please, somebody help me," roared the fallen hero, mistaking the payload of instant grapefruit juice for his own gore.

Next there was Casey with his managerial idol, the late John McGraw, for whom he hit two home runs in the 1923 World Series, winning the only two games the Giants took from the Yankees, and then found himself summarily traded to Boston. The ingratitude prompted his most famous quip in a lifetime devoted to elegant repartee: "The path of glory leads but to the Braves."

Then there was Casey in a hospital bed after being struck down by a taxi at the outset of his sixth dismal season as manager of the hapless Boston Braves.

Finally there was Casey with his arm around Joe DiMaggio, the great Yankee Clipper, whom he admired above all other players. Suddenly, unexpectedly, the flow of words stopped, as if the grammar had given up its relentless pursuit of the syntax. Casey's craggy face, which in the autumn of his 70th year resembles an avalanche on Mount Rushmore, became strangely sad and wan. The alert blue eyes lost their sparkle for a moment, as if to make way for an uncharacteristic tear.

But the tear didn't come. Words did, as they always do when Charles Dillon Stengel is abroad on the earth.

"Gee, there's Joe. Good old Joe," he sighed. "How I miss that fella. You know, I managed better when I had him."

Now in quest of his eighth World Series triumph, Old Case neither needs nor wants anyone to tell him what a helluva fella he is. In 12 years with the Yankees, he has won 10 American League pennants, finished second once and third once. In 10 previous seasons as a major league manager, including one in which Brooklyn paid him not to manage, he never finished in the first division.

He is also the discoverer, of and leading authority on, one of the world's newest critical languages, Stengelese, a tortuous tongue characterized by subjects unconnected to objects and noticeably deficient in proper nouns. Thus Phil Rizzuto becomes "the little fella;" Yogi Berra, "my catcher;" any opposition player, "their fella;" any Yankee player, "our fella."

Casey's 45 minutes of uninterrupted testimony before a U. S. Senate committee investigating player contract procedures became such a classic of double talk that the baseball writers used it verbatim as a humorous skit at their annual banquet.

But Casey can be brutally frank when he wants to be. He is a master of the over-the-shoulder insult, the withering remark made to a sports writer or dugout visitor but actually aimed at an erring team member who happens to be passing at the moment.

Casey prides himself on never having fined a player in his 36 years as a major and minor league manager. His disciplinary measures are softened by the memory of his own antics as a player and manager—building a fire in the third base coach's box, sending a pinch hitter up with an umbrella to remind the umpire it was raining, emerging from an open manhole in the outfield to catch a fly ball.

And, of course, the all-time classic when he returned to Brooklyn for the first time after being traded to Pittsburgh and was greeted by a chorus of lusty boos. Casey gently doffed his cap and out fluttered a sparrow. He thus achieved immortality by being the only player ever to give the bird back to Brooklyn.

Only a manager who in his playing days had frequently greeted the dawn outside a public house could have taken a philosophic outlook on the news that pitcher Don Larsen had cracked up his car at 5 a.m.

"Either he was out too late or up too early," said Professor Stengel.

It's no secret that Casey is pretty comfortably fixed. Retirement seldom is a problem for Millionaires. If Casey decides to call it quits, there are any number of alternatives open to him.

He can go home to Glendale, Calif., and watch the porter polish up his nameplate on the door of the Glendale National Bank, where he sits on the board of directors. He can watch movies in the theater he owns, or count windows in his office building. He can go down to east Texas and listen to the merry gurgle of his oil wells. Or he can take that world tour that his wife, Edna, has been dreaming about for so many years.

Chances are, Casey won't do any of these things. If he quits, you'll find him up at the nearest vacant lot showing the neighborhood kids the intricacies of the double play by acting out all the parts himself.

It'll be a good show, all right, but not as good as the one Casey put on in a Milwaukee hotel lobby a few years ago when he showed how he slugged the first World Series home run ever hit in Yankee Stadium. It was an inside the park blast, as Casey so ably demonstrated by rounding the pillars in the hotel lobby, then sliding into the main desk under the astonished eyes of the room clerks.

Milwaukee never forgot him. Neither will baseball.

Stratton Praises Road Building Of Administration

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. William G. Stratton praised his administration's road building accomplishments as he hop-scotched across Lake County by helicopter over the weekend in his campaign for reelection.

Samuel H. Shapiro, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, charged Stratton with "attempting to buy the election by padding state payrolls and ordering highway and road repairs where the need is questionable."

Stratton, in talks prepared for delivery Sunday, said completion of the Illinois Toll Road system in 1958 moved northern and northeastern Illinois forward at least two decades in transportation and industrial development.

"Opening of the tollway was followed by an immediate influx of new and relocated industry from the Indiana line to the border of Wisconsin," the governor added.

In an address in Pontiac, Shapiro said many Illinois areas receiving funds for road repairs are in counties where Stratton's primary vote was weakest.

Shapiro said the number of state employes has risen from 44,000 in 1952 to 60,000 today and the monthly state payroll has increased from $12 million to $22 million.

In Highland Park, the Republican candidate for U.S. Senator, Samuel W. Witwer, said Saturday the crisis in the Congo has "simmered down" as a result of the Eisenhower administration's "consistent policy of reliance on the United Nations and the integrity of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold."

"The Eisenhower-Nixon administration deserves high praise for its part in demonstration that the United Nations has the ability to handle new crises," Witwer said.

Diesel-electric locomotives first came into use during the 1920s.

larger aspects of peace in our time," he added.

U. S. sources said this was a key to the U. S. attitude on a new Eisenhower-Khrushchev meeting in the light of the neutralists' demands. By implication, these sources said, the United States is asking the U. N.: "Is this the man you want President Eisenhower to negotiate with?"

Khrushchev's new outburst thus lent new meaning to Eisenhower's meeting Sunday with Britain's Prime Minister Harold MacMillan, who himself was the target of Khrushchev's shouted interruptions during a major Western presentation to the assembly Thursday.

On his first trip to the rostrum, Wadsworth assailed Red China as a regime dedicated to menacing peace and "senseless orgies of hatred" against the United States.

He told the assembly the Peiping regime is determined to make the world over in the image of Red China. He accused the Red Chinese of trying "to fasten on the peoples of Africa a system which the peoples of every continent have come to recognize as a new imperialism."

He called Chinese versions of what is happening in Africa's turbulent Congo—that U. N. forces there are a mask for U. S. imperialism — a "nightmarish version of the facts."

Nixon And Kennedy On Campaign Trail

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Presidential contenders worried this week about the high cost of living and the high cost of government.

They pondered other things too, did Democrat John F. Kennedy and Republican Richard M. Nixon—mainly the question of who's going to be elected five weeks from next Tuesday.

Both could take heart. They were still being cheered, long and loud, by the amazingly large crowds this 1960 campaign has attracted and stirred.

The cost of living:

Kennedy—"I intend to mention the high cost of living every week of this campaign. The American consumer and the American house wife may have been forgotten by the Republican leaders—but they have not forgotten the promises those leaders made in 1952."

Nixon—"I know what it means to meet a family budget at the end of the month and what a tremendous effort it is for most folks to pay their taxes and meet their bills."

Cost of government:

Nixon—"I counted out the cost of the Democratic platform. It runs a minimum of $13.2 billion a year more than we are spending at present to $18 billion a year more. This $13 to $18 billion isn't Jack's money. It's your money he's spending."

Kennedy—"I don't believe in big government. But I believe in effective governmental action. And I think that's the only way that the United States is going to maintain its freedom. It's the only way we're going to move ahead."

The great debates:

The first of the Nixon-Kennedy debates, while not settling any issues, did make history. It pointed to a growing use of television shows of this kind in future years.

Both men did well, neutral observers agreed. And while they said nothing they hadn't said before, much of it was new to the television audience.

A curious sidelight was that a good-sized dispute arose over whether Nixon looked peaked, and if he did, why? There were even dark rumors of sabotage by make-up.

Eating and running:

Hard-running candidates are notoriously poor eaters.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., worried about Nixon:

"He looks thinner and some fatigue showed. I would advise him to eat a little more regularly."

Mrs. Kennedy worried about her husband:

"Two days in New York he had four

Syracuse Squeezes By Kansas In Thriller

Losers Have One TD Nullified In 14-7 Loss

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)— Syracuse spotted Kansas a 7-point lead in the early minutes, then had to pull all stops for a fourth-period touchdown and a 14-7 football victory Saturday.

Syracuse marched 80 yards for its first touchdown following the second-half kickoff but failed trying to run for a 2-point conversion and trailed 7-6 going into the final period. The nation's second-ranked team needed a final tremendous push to settle the game.

The Orangemen won it with little more than 10 minutes remaining when halfback Ernie Davis wedged into the end zone from the 1-yard line. The clutch pass for 18 yards from back Dick Easterly to end Dick Reimer set up the play for Davis.

Quarterback Dave Sarette passed to Davis for the 2-point conversion that ended the scoring in the nationally televised battle.

Kansas shocked the Orhangemen in the opening minutes when halfback Bert Coan swept end for 11 yards and a touchdown a couple of plays after the Jayhawks had recovered an enemy fumble on the Syracuse 21. John Suder kicked the extra point.

Kansas lost a fourth-quarter bid for victory on a penalty. Curtis McClinton swept 21 yards around end and into pay dirt but the Jayhawks were called back for illegal procedure. The play followed Syracuse's second touchdown.

Wisconsin Wallops Marquette Warriors

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin shattered Marquette's upset hopes with a pair of field goals by Jim Bakken and two touchdowns on pass interceptions en route to a 35-6 victory Saturday in a battle of inexperienced intrastate football rivals.

Tuning up to begin defense of their Big Ten championship against Purdue next week, the Badgers were hard-pressed before pulling away for their 17th straight triumph over Marquette before a crowd of 51,553.

Wisconsin stopped two long drives by Marquette and then called on Bakken for a 32-yard field goal eight seconds after the start of the second period.

Two minutes later, junior Erv Kunesh picked off a soft pass on the Marquette 20 and raced down the sidelines for a touchdown. Kunesh then booted the first of two extra points.

A Wisconsin drive from its 16 stalled on the Marquette 27 midway through the period and Bakken, a junior reserve quarterback, came off the bench to kick the second of his field goals—a 44-yard hoist which split the uprights.

Trailing only 13-0, Marquette came out in spirited fashion for the second half but on the third play, Ron Carlson dashed up from safety position, intercepted an aerial on the dead run and traveled untouched 32 yards into the end zone.

That started the rout and Marquette managed to get into Wisconsin territory but once in the last two periods — traveling 77 yards in a march topped by a 25-yard payoff pass from Terry Zang to Karl Kassulke in the finale.

Both touchdowns came in a 22-point third quarter which assured the Badgers their second straight victory and dealt Marquette its first loss in three 1960 starts.

Wisconsin, relying mainly on sophomores and other players with little collegiate experience this fall, was sparked by Miller, an unheralded quarterback from Lyons, Ill.

Miller completed 9 of 19 passes for 224 yards and netted 33 yards on four carries when he exercised the option to run on rollouts. After Wisconsin built up its big lead he was given a rest, playing only some 6½ minutes in the final half.

Marquette had a big edge in some of the statistics with 19 first downs to just 12 for Wisconsin, and 121 yards by rushing to the Badgers' net of 72. In the overhead battle, however, it was a different story. Wisconsin completed 11 of 25 passes for a net of 257 yards while Marquette managed only 173 yards on 13 of 32 aerial attempts. The Warriors also had three passes intercepted — including the two which proved disastrous.

Marquette's running game moved with ease much of the time in the first half but then was thwarted after the intermission as the Warriors ambitious hopes were dashed.

Southern Edges Northern, 21-20

DE KALB, Ill. (AP) — Southern Illinois University staged a two-touchdown comeback in the fourth quarter Saturday to edge Northern Illinois 21-20 in an Interstate Conference opener.

Southern took a 9-0 halftime lead but 167-pound quarterback Tom Beck's brilliant passing and running carried Northern into a 20-9 advantage going into the final period.

Beck threw two touchdown passes and scored a third touchdown for the Huskies.

Giants Sink Cards Into Third Place

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants boomed St. Louis to third place in the National League Saturday by whipping the Cardinals 7-2 on rookie Juan Marichal's 8-hitter.

Americans Win World Amateur

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

ARDMORE, Pa. (AP) — The United States, with amazing Jack Nicklaus contributing his fourth straight subpar round, won the World Amateur Golf Team Championship Saturday by a whopping 42 strokes.

Nicklaus, disdaining the fearsome reputation of the Merion Golf Club course in Saturday's windy, cool weather just as he had on the first three days, finished with a 2-under-par 68 for a 72-hole total of 269.

His score Saturday, with 75s by National Amateur champion Deans Beman and Philadelphia's 44-year-old Bill Hyndman, put together a three-man aggregate of 218 for the final round and a four-day total of 834. Only the best three scores of each four-man team each day are counted in the team scoring.

Australia, the defending champion, finished second with an 876 while Great Britain-Ireland was third with 881. Australia won the inaugural world team title at St. Andrews, Scotland, two years ago, beating the U.S. in a playoff.

Nicklaus, a 20-year-old from Columbus, Ohio, who won the U.S. Amateur Championship in 1959, was the only player Saturday to better tough par of 36-34—70.

The battle for second place was entirely among British Commonwealth nations. Australia won it when Eric Routley shot a 72, the day's second best score; Bruce Devlin had a 74 and Ted Ball a 76 for a day's total of 222. Joe Carr, the British Open champion, was high man on his team with 81. Doug Sewell led with 74. Guy Wolstenholme had 75 and Michael Bonallack had 78.

South Africa took fourth with an 893, followed by New Zealand 895, Canada 906, Mexico 909 Rhodesia-Nyasaland 914 and Argentina 917.

RETA WALLBAUM — ROUTT HOMECOMING QUEEN

Illinois College Plays Ring Around Rosie

TERRE HAUTE, Ind.—Trailing 14-7 entering the second half, Illinois College playing inspired football whipped the Engineers from Rose Polytechnic Institute on their home field in the Prairie College conference opener 21-14. Coach Joe Brooks in the true Rockne style delivered an inspirational half time talk to the Blueboys. When the Blue and White went onto the field for the second half they rolled up 249 yards and came through with two 7-point plays.

I.C. kicked off to Rose Poly to start the second half. The Engineers, unable to pick up ten yards, punted into the I.C. end zone. From their own 20 yard line, the Blue and White drove the Engineers back 80 yards in 10 plays for six points with four and a half minutes gone in the third quarter.

Again unable to make the necessary yards against Harris-Moriconi-Maier-Shepard-Cox and Test, the Engineers punted to the I.C. 15 yard line where Mock ran it back three yards. From their own eighteen the Blueboys moved 82 yards in 15 plays for the winning score. Dick Orendorff took the ball over, his second touchdown, from the three yard line with five seconds gone in the fourth quarter. Mock added the 21st point.

Rose Poly, capitalizing on an intercepted pass, scored first with 10½ minutes remaining in the first quarter. Eleven and one half minutes later in the second quarter the Blueboys tied up the game. The I.C. score came on a Bob Volk pass covering 15 yards to right end Frank Harris. With nine minutes gone in the second quarter the Engineers intercepted a Volk pass on the I.C. 45 yard line and two plays later Roses' Bob Michaels went around end for 40 yards and the second engineer TD. Bill Yochum's point after was good, making the score 14-7 in favor of the Engineers.

During the first half the IC eleven couldn't co-ordinate the necessary fundamentals of grid play, although they did move the ball.

When Rose kicked off to start the game, the Blue and White moved the ball, via Volk, Orendorff, Sweet, and Patton to the IC 46 yard line. A Volk pass to left end Ed Puck clicked for 24 yards and put the Blueboys on their opponent's 30 yard line. Four plays later Bill Yochum of Rose Poly intercepted a Volk to Patton pass on the Rose 15 yard line, and sprinted to his own 45 before Harry Lee Sweet caught him from behind. Two plays later Michaels scored, and Yochum kicked the seventh point.

On the kick-off the Blueboys fumbled on their own 35; however, with the help of a 15 yard offensive holding against the Engineers, and a tremendous rush by IC's defensive end Ed Test, Rose was forced to relinquish the ball, via a punt, to the Blueboys on their 23 yard line.

Led by Bob "Mouse" Volk, the IC backs, alias the "Mousekateers" moved the ball to the 15 yard line. On the fourteenth play Volk passed to Harris for the first IC score with 1 minute gone in the second quarter. Ken Mock added the seventh point which tied the score.

The Engineer's Joe Andel took the kick-off and returned the ball 23 yards to his own 40. Again the Blueboys' front unit, Brook's Brusiers, held the Engineers and forced them to punt. Yochums' punt rolled dead on the IC seven yard line. Three plays later, as the Blue and White were on their own 28, another Volk pass intended for Harris, was picked off by the Engineer's Bob Michaels. On the second play from scrimmage, Michaels went off-tackle and sprinted 28 yards for the score, which put the Engineers ahead 13-7. Rose's 14th and final point was added by Yochum.

IC's captain, Dick Orendorff took the Rose kickoff on his own 18 and returned it to the Blueboys 34. Four plays later, Sweet was hit hard and the ball squirted from his grasp into an Engineer's arms.

From their own 39 yard line the Rose eleven moved the ball to their own 49 where they picked up their first first down of the afternoon. Brook's Bruisers held and the Engineers were forced to punt. A bad pass from center gave Tom Plattner the opportunity to rack-up Mr. Yokum for a three yard loss.

The IC eleven picked up three first downs and were on the Engineers 16 yard line when the half ended.

With the start of the second half, a fired-up IC ball club contained the home team to four plays. Yochum's punt carried into the end zone. Starting on their own 20, the Blueboy's workhorse, Harry Lee Sweet lugged the leather 37 yards in six carries. When the Blue and White reached the Rose 25 yard line, Orendorff caught the Engineer defense napping and sprinted right end for the score. Mock's toe was true and the Blue and White machine was on its way.

After Orendorff kicked off to Rose, the IC defensive unit led by Tom Plattner held the lifeless Rose eleven and forced them to punt. After an offensive penalty against IC which put the ball back to the Blueboy's nine yard line, the Blue and White began a 91 yard march, racking up six first downs. Orendorff and Sweet again spear-headed the drive which ended on the three yard line bofore Orendorff went over for the tie-breaking TD. Mr. Mock added the 21st point.

There were two more IC scoring drives, one ending on the six inch line and the other ending on the Rose nine. An Engineer scoring threat was thwarted in the last seconds of the game when Plattner intercepted a desperation pass. "Mouse" Volk ran out the clock and the 15 IC fans sent up a victorious shout for a well-deserved team.

In his comments after the game, Coach Brooks told the team, "This second half proved your desire to play — from now on we can either sink or swim."

Washington Loses To Navy, 15-14

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Syracuse, the nation's No. 2 football team, had to scramble and scratch Saturday before coming from behind and defeating Kansas, 14-7. But Washington (No. 3) was shocked by Navy 15-14 on a 31-yard field goal by Greg Mather on the last play of the game.

Kansas, rated No. 5, gave a good account of itself against the powerful defending national champions. Going into the final period of the nationally televised game, the Jayhawks were ahead, 7-6, as a result of Bert Coan's 11-yard run and John Suder's kick for the extra point, following a Syracuse fumble.

The Orange got its first touchdown on Dave Sarette's 10-yard pass to Ken Ericson. But Sarette's two-point conversion try was stopped.

That's how it stood until 10 minutes before the end when Ernie Davis went over from the one after Dick Easterly connected with Dick Reimer for 18 yards.

Of the others in the top 10, only Northwestern (No. 6) and Georgia Tech (No. 10) lost. Northwestern was humiliated by Iowa (No. 8), 42-0, while Georgia Tech fell before Florida, 18-17.

Illinois (No. 4), the favorite for the Big Ten title, laid West Virginia Low, 33-0. Clemson (No. 7) turned back Virginia Tech, 13-7, and Ohio State (No. 9) shut out Southern California 20-0.

Northwestern never was in the battle against Iowa and the lopsided score will take a lot of living down for the Wildcats.

Georgia Tech, on the other hand led Florida until 33 seconds from the end of the Southeastern Conference battle. Then the Gators went for broke after scoring the touchdown that brought them within one point of Georgia Tech. Larry Libertore tried for the two-point option and tossed a wobbly pass that Jon Macbeth grabbed in the end zone.

Bobby Dodd Jr., son of the Georgia Tech coach, shared the quarterbacking chores with Libertore and helped beat his father's outfit one on the chin from Purdue, 51-19, and Penn, the defending Ivy League champion, was whipped by Dartmouth, 15-0. Maryland, which showed signs of coming back to life after beating West Virginia in its opener, went down to its second straight setback. Duke did the tob this time, 20-7.

A sleeping giant showed signs of waking up. Minnesota, which wound up at the bottom of the Big Ten last year, crushed Indiana, 42-0, for its secondw triumph without defeat. That matched the Gopher's entire victory output of last season.

Macomb Triumphs

MACOMB, Ill. (AP)—Western Illinois scored its 16th consecutive triumph Saturday—and its second of the season—with a smashing 38-13 victory over Central Michigan in an I.I.A.C. contest.

Fullback Danny Washkevich accounted for two of Western's touchdowns with runs of 50 and 33 yards. Passes from Quarterback Mike MacFarland to halfback Leroy Jckson accounted for the other two.

Central's two touchdowns were the handiwork of quarterback Wally Sadosky and fullback Robert Kelly.

Minnesota Takes Most Decisive Win In 11 Years

By JIM KLOBUCHAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)— Resurgent Minnesota smacked Indiana 42-0 Saturday behind the second half exploits of quarterback Sandy Stephens and the might of its line.

It was Minnesota's most decisive victory in 11 years and heralded the Gophers' bid for a return to Big Ten power after years of failure.

Stephens rifled a 46 yard scoring pass to Dick Larson early in the third period and later recovering a fumble to turn a tight game into a romp.

Center Jerry Annis made a circus one-hand interception later and rambled 68 yards to score, and the Gophers topped off a five touchdown binge in the second half with a 28 yard pass from Joe Salem to Dave Lothner and Jim Rogers' one yard back.

Because of Indiana's suspension for recruiting violations the game will not count in the conference won-lost column.

Indiana, short of key backfield personnel because of injuries, floundered on the attack.

Minnesota saw little to brighten the overcast day until Judge Dickson flopped on Don Cromer's fumble on the 48 midway through the second period.

Hagberg, Dickson and Bill Munsey marched Minnesota to the two and Hagberg twisted over on fourth down.

That broke the dam. The Gophers came out roaring in the second half and scored in the first three minutes, Stephens lofting a long pass to Larson after cleverly faking the Hoosier defense.

The Gophers lost another apparent touchdown by a penalty, but Stephens grabbed a fumble on the Hoosier 26 a few minutes later and scored from the three after Hagberg had gained 25 yards in three carries.

It was the first of a four touchdown avalanche in the fourth period. Annis picked off Woody Moore's pass to score one, Rogers went over on the end of a 46 yard march, and Joe Salem pitched a 26 yarder to sophomore Lothner in the final minute.

Jim Packard Dies In MidgetMishap

FAIRFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Jim Packard of Indianapolis was killed Saturday night in the time trials for the 25-mile feature race when his midget racer went out of control and overturned.

Packard's car flipped end over end along the north turn of the one-mile dirt track. He was thrown from the car and killed instantly. The 29-year-old Packard was one of the top midget racers of the season.

The races at Fairground Track were sponsored by Ill-Mo Racing Enterprises and sanctioned by the U.S. Auto Club

Rockets Hit Paydirt Three Times In 2nd Chapter Via Passes

By STAN SPOTTS

The first intra-city contest in six years developed into quite a struggle Saturday night but three Routt Rocket payoff strikes carried Coach Bob Winstead's eleven to a 28-12 triumph over Illinois School for Deaf.

Halfback Fred Curtis starred in Routt's homecoming triumph by tossing two touchdowns and accounting for two more, one on a 26 yard pitch by halfback Jack Lawless and another on a beautiful bit of running from 18 yards out in the final canto.

After their outburst in the second quarter the Rockets were a tame bunch in the final half until they got their only touchdown drive underway. Routt had only one series of downs in the third quarter and never got across the mid-field stripe. It took the Rockets 3:54 of the fourth quarter to finally surge across the midfield marker and the total time of the third and fourth quarter was 15:54 to get into I.S.D. territory.

The lighter Rocket line did a fine job turning back I.S.D.'s heavier unit time after time in the second and third quarters. But the weight told on Routt in the Tigers' two scoring drives.

Saturday night's victory was Routt's third straight in as many starts while I.S.D. suffered its second loss against a tie.

Statistics

Illinois Deaf bested Routt in first downs and yards rushing but the Rockets held the upper hand in the potent and torrid passing attack they threw against the Tigers. Routt tossed 20 passes and completed eight for 151 yards. Three were for touchdowns and two were intercepted. ISD failed to connect on only three attempts. But Coach Jim Bonds' Tigers outrushed Routt on the ground, 240-109 and had 15 first downs to the Rockets' 10. Winstead's crew topped the losers by 20 yards in total yardage, 260-240.

1st Quarter Score

Routt received to open the 14th meeting between the two schools and combined the running of Curtis and Lawless to move to the Deaf's 25 after three consecutive first downs but the Tigers held and took over on downs. Warren Miller and Jim Marquis split the carrying chores for the Tigers and the sustained drive went to the 15 yard line where Marquis skirted his own left end for the TD with 2:28 left on the period. Miller attempted to pick up the PAT but was stopped short. The 75 yard drive was capped in 14 plays.

Rockets in Gear

QB Bucky Sullivan carried ISD's ensuing kickoff to the Routt 42 for a 12 yard pickup and runs by Lawless and Curtis carried the Rockets to the Tiger 47 as the 1st quarter ended. Routt had the wind to its back in the second quarter and wasted little time capitalizing on the opportunity of a passing game. Curtis hit end Bob Brennan with a 17 yard toss to set up the 26 yard TD pass from Lawless to Curtis to cap the 58 yard march in six plays with 11:21 showing on the scoreboard. Lawless swept right end for the extra point but was injured on the play and left the game. He re-entered the contest with 30 seconds left before halftime.

Quick Break

Curtis got off a short kick following the TD but an alert Bill Critchelow came up fast from his tackle berth and recovered on the ISD 41 to put another quick Rocket touchdown into operation.

On the 1st play Curtis hit Brennan with a 17 yarder to the 24. A running play lost back to the 32 but it mattered little as hurler Fred Curtis found end Ed Carroll all by his lonesome in the end zone on the next play. The 32 yard toss capped a four-play 41 yard march. Curtis plunged for the extra point and a 14-6 margin.

Another TD Pitch

Following a Tiger punt and an interception of a Rocket pass the Tigers gambled on a fourth down play but the handoff was juggled and Routt took over on downs on the Deaf's 39. On the first play Curtis arched a high 38 yard pass to end Bob Brennan who toted the mail into the end zone for the third TD of the period. Curtis picked up the PAT and a 21-6 spread with 4:01 before the presentation of homecoming queen Rita Wallbaum. The two elevens traded pass interceptions during the remaining time of the second chapter.

Tigers Tally

The Tigers, relying on power plays up the middle, put Routt's kickoff in play on their own 20 and marched 80 yards in 10 plays with fullback Warren Miller climaxing the sustained march on a four yard run up the center. Fine running by Marquis, Jackson and Miller accounted for the Deaf's six consecutive first downs on the drive. The point after run was stopped short with 6:23 remaining in the quarter. The Rockets laid their hands on the ball only once in the period and no gain brought about a Curtis punt. The losers drove to Routt's 22 yard marker as the quarter ended.

Final Score

ISD lost the ball on downs on Routt's 19 but the Rockets elected to pass on the first play and QB Earl Claussen intercepted and returned the pass to Routt's 30. Curtis redeemed himself on the next play by recovering an ISD fumble on Routt's 26. The 74 yard scoring march was stymied twice by penalties after Curtis had hit Brennan with a 17 yard TD pass. Curtis connected with Lawless on a 12 yard pass to ISD's 12 but a 15 yard infraction moved the ball back to the 30.

Fullback Bob Zeller toted the ball to ISD's 18 after a five yard walkoff against the Tigers from the 30. Faced with a 3rd down and 16 yards to go for a first down, Curtis faded to pass but couldn't spot any open receivers and elected to run. He picked up two key blocks and then faked and sidestepped four players to go the 18 remaining yards on the finest run of the game. Sullivan passed to Carroll for the PAT but an offsides offset the point. The five yard penalty gave Curtis a chance to hit his favorite target, Jack Lawless who made a fine catch, on the second and successful extra point of the 4:17 tally. The icing of the outcome, the final touchdown, took 13 plays to cover 74 yards.

Iowa Rides To 10-7 Triumph Over Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Larry Schreiber, sophomore end, booted a 39-yard field goal in the third quarter to break a 7-7 deadlock Saturday and Iowa State rode the advantage to a 10 to 7 Big Eight football triumph over Nebraska.

It was Iowa State's third straight win this season; the second setback in three starts for Nebraska.

Midway in the second quarter, Iowa State wingback Mickey Fitzgerald intercepted a Fischer pass on Nebraska's 20. On the first play from scrimmage, fullback Tom Watkins, a thorn in the Cornhusker side all day, plunged through the line, whirled off Nebraska tacklers and scored standing up. Cliff Rick kicked the point.

The deadlock prevailed until the middle of the third quarter when Iowa State took over on its own 45. A series of thrusts by Dave Hoppmann, the nation's big college offensive leader, and Watkins placed the ball in position for Schreiber's game - winning field goal.

Iowa Hawkeyes Crush Northwestern, 42-0

Winners Stick To Potent Running Attack With 'Cats

EVANSTON (AP) — Halfback Jerry Mauren, scoring two touchdowns within 68 seconds in the first period, sent Iowa's power-packed Hawkeyes hurtling to a 42-0 victory over Northwestern Saturday.

Sticking mainly to a running attack which sixth-ranked Northwestern could not stop, the Hawkeyes stamped themselves solid contenders for the Western Conference title by completely crushing the Wildcats who took the field three-point favorites.

Playing without Dick Thornton, its No. 1 quarterback, Northwestern could not assemble a serious drive.

Iowa, ranked eighth in the Associated Press national poll and employing three platoons which were well-stocked with sophomores, put the game beyond reach with four touchdowns in the first half—two coming on pass interceptions.

Iowa scored a pair of touchdowns each in the first two periods for a 28-0 halftime lead and two more TDs in the last period, one on a 53-yard run by sophomore Sammy Harris.

Iowa wasted no time in taking charge of matters. The first time the Hawkeyes got the ball they swiftly moved 71 yards for a touchdown with Mauren smashing off left guard for 45 yards and the score. Tom Moore booted the first of his 6 extra points.

One minute and eight seconds later, Mauren intercepted a Bob Eickhoff pass and scampered 38 yards to give Iowa a 14-0 lead before Northwestern could make a first down.

That's how it ended in the first quarter, with Northwestern unable to get inside Iowa's 43 yard line.

Coach Forest Evashevski, apparently aware of the powerhouse he has molded, platooned his teams on offense early in the second quarter while the Hawkeyes pounded from their own 22 for their third touchdown with quarterback Wilburn Hollis rounding left end for the final eight yards.

Late in the second quarter Northwestern put on a drive which advanced the Wildcats from their own 32 to the Iowa 33 on the passing of third-string quarterback Fred Quinn. At this point, Larry Furgeson intercepted a Quinn pass and returned 70 yards to make the score 28-0.

The two teams battled on fairly even terms in the scoreless third quarter but Iowa broke loose with two more touchdowns in the final period to complete the route.

Florida Upsets Georgia Tech

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Larry Libertore, 138-pound quarterback, led Florida to an 18-17 upset victory over Georgia Tech Saturday in a wild Southeastern Conference offensive battle.

Florida was never ahead until, with 33 seconds to play in the final quarter, Libertore went for two points on the extra-point option and tossed a wobbly but successful pass to fullback Jon Macbeth in the end zone.

Bobby Dodd Jr., son of the Georgia Tech coach, shared Florida's quarterbacking with Libertore and also had a big hand in beating his Dad's team by throwing a 32-yard pass to Don Neal in the final touchdown drive.

Florida drove 85 yards for its final touchdown in the closing minutes of the game, with Libertore and Dodd alternating at quarterback. Dodd got the Gators a first down at the Tech 3 and two smashes put Florida a yard away but Dodd lost two.

Libertore then returned to the field and with clever faking pitched to Lindy Infante, who just cleared the corner into the end zone.

Michigan State Nabs 24-17 Win In Final Minutes

By DAVE DILES

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State's defense, stunned by a hard-bitten Michigan team and victimized by a 99-yard kickoff return, snatched a 24-17 victory from the arch rival Wolverines Saturday in the last two and one-half minutes.

The Spartans established themselves as a Big Ten contender when their burly lineman smashed down quarterback Dave Glinka for a 16-yard loss at the Michigan three-yard line, then struck for the winning touchdown after the Michigan punt.

Michigan State's linemen rushed the Michigan kicker and he got the ball out only to the 30. The charged up Sparts blasted into the line five times and got the winning touchdown on Carl Charon's three-yard plunge. Charon, a junior fullback who has been used mostly on defense, carried the ball on four of those five plays and gained 24 of the 30 yards.

A record crowd of 76,490 witnessed this 53rd classic between these two longtime foes and oldtimers would be hard pressed to find a more spectacular battle than the teams staged in the brilliant sunshine of Spartan stadium.

Each team got a field goal, State's coming in the third period when left footed kicker Art Brandstatter booted one from 32 yards away that pulled the Spartans even at 17-17.

Ferguson Scores Three For Victorious Bucks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fullback Bob Ferguson scored three touchdowns Saturday as Ohio State defeated Southern California 20-0 before a crowd of 83,204.

Ferguson, a powerfully built 220-pounder, ran through the Trojans on scoring jaunts of 74, 2 and 19 yards.

Ohio's defensive team, outweighed almost 20 pounds per man, turned the huge West Coast club into a fumbling, stumbling giant as it picked off enemy passes and grabbed fumbles to halt any scoring threats.

The huge size of the invaders proved a detriment as Ohio's speedy backs ran through them like kids running through a woods. The Bucks picked up 274 yards rushing to Southern Cal's 69. The Ohioans picked out four enemy passes and one fumble.

Ferguson broke the game open midway through the first period. He plowed over right guard and outran four defenders in a 74-yard dash to the goal line.

He got his second one on a two-yard plunge in the second period and his 19-yarder in the final period.

Bradley Crushed By Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The University of Louisville filled the air with fireworks Friday night in rolling to a 40-6 victory over a smaller Bradley football team.

Skyrockets were set off as the Cardinals scored in every quarter to pick up their second win in three starts.

Bradley, outweighed 14 pounds per man, prevented a shutout in the fourth quarter on a scoring pass from Rich Hermann to J. D. Williams.

The Braves, who are now 0-3 for the season, managed to get down to the 22-yard line in the same quarter, but their attack died there.

The Cardinals used the passing arm of quarterback John Giles, who completed six of seven for the night including one 10-yard touchdown heave to Don Hockensmith. Giles also scored one touchdown himself on a five-yard run around end.

Bradley made only seven first downs and played the entire first quarter and half of the second before getting its first. Louisville had 18 first downs.

Pittsburgh Will Be Host To Its First World Series Since '27 Wednesday

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pittsburgh plays host to its first World Series since 1927 Wednesday when the underdog Pirates meet the New York Yankees in a battle between hit-and-run scrappers and home run sluggers.

The last time the two clubs met in the series, Babe Ruth and Co. sauntered into Forbes Field and started a four-game sweep with an awesome power display in batting practice. Pirate fans are confident that Danny Murtaugh's "beat 'em Bucs" will make up for that humiliation.

Because of Manager Casey Stengel's 10 pennants and the know-how accumulated by Yankee teams down through the years in winning 18 of 24 series, the oddsmakers have made New York a 13-10 favorite in man-to-man quotations. They call the opening game even.

The first two games, each scheduled for 1 p.m. (EDT) will be played at Forbes Field Wednesday and Thursday. After an off day Friday the series will be resumed in New York Saturday and Sunday and continue there Monday, if a fifth game is necessary.

If nobody has won the best-of-seven series by that time, they will return to Pittsburgh after another off day.

The series will be seen, in color, on network (NBC) television and also carried on the same network's radio chain. A sponsor pays about $3.25 million a year for the rights to these games and the All-Star contest with 60 per cent going to the players pension fund.

The Pirates led most of the year but the Yanks struggled in and out of first place until they took charge for keeps by sweeping four straight from Baltimore, Sept. 16-18.

Pittsburgh's golden optimism is sobered somewhat because of the condition of Dick Groat, the team leader and valuable shortstop, whose left wrist was broken Sept. 6 when hit by a pitch. Groat insists he will be able to play.

The Pirates are expected to start Vern Law, the 20-game winner, in the first game, and follow with Bob Friend in the second. One of the left-handers, Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell or Harvey Haddix, will work the third game when the teams shift to New York.

Stengel, whose 10th pennant tied the all-time high set by John McGraw, has been debating about starting Art Ditmar, Bob Turley or Whitey Ford.

Despite Ford's so-so won and lost record, the experienced southpaw has been Casey's ace in the big series all year.

The big boom in the Yanks' attack is provided by Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris, Bill Skowron and Yogi Berra.

Murtaugh has a well-balanced team with good speed, hit-and-run ability and solid pitching. Roberto Clemente, Bob Skinner, Dick Stuart and Don Hoak have been the big RBI men.

FWS Asks Waterfowl Hunters To Cooperate In Annual Mail Survey

Daniel H. Janzen, Director of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife at Washington, D. C., today urged all waterfowl hunters who have received registration cards with the purchase of their Federal duck stamps to cooperate with the Fish and Wildlife Service of the U.S. Department of the Interior by filling out and promptly returning the indicated portion of the form.

This year more than 1400 post offices throughout the country have been furnished with double postcard forms which are handed to purchasers of duck stamps at these particular post offices.

One-half of the card is to be filled out by the hunter and returned at once to the Bureau. The other half is to be retained as a sort of scorecard on which the hunter can list the numbers and kinds of waterfowl which he bags during the coming season, and the number of days he hunted.

"This sample of hunters who return the cards," said Director Janzen, "will receive questionnaires at the end of the hunting season in which they will be asked to report their seasonal hunting success. It is highly important that all duck stamp purchasers receiving registration cards fill them out and mail them promptly. Cards from everyone contacted are necessary to make our sample representative of the entire hunting population."

The chief purpose of the survey is to determine as accurately as possible the extent of the waterfowl hunting kill for the season in order that a proper balance between the harvest of these birds and the hunting regulations may continue to be maintained.

This annual mail survey was inaugurated on a national basis during the 1952 hunting season when 150 post offices cooperated with the Service in handing out the card forms. According to Director Janzen, it was one of the most progressive steps ever taken by the Fish and Wildlife Service in the matter of estimating the annual harvest of waterfowl.

WYNNE CHESTER SAYS:

Shooting Preserves Guarantee Good Hunting

Shooting preserves are becoming more popular each year, thank goodness. A shooting preserve, you know, is privately owned land on which game is released to provide sport for hunters. A fee is usually charged.

Shooting preserves are just perfect for sportsmen, or sportswomen, who haven't time to spend long and perhaps wasted hours searching for unposted land. And they're ideal for initiating youngsters into the thrilling sport of hunting. The preserves guarantee good hunting, in the form of flying legal game.

This game is every bit as hard to hit as the wild variety. But that doesn't mean it can't be done—even by you and me! Lots of women are bagging pheasant, quail, chukar partridge and mal-lard at hunting preserves. And what a feast the bag makes!

Shooting preserves offer another big advantage. Many states allow them an extended season, and in some states there's no season limit at all.

For a really different and delightful holiday or vacation, why not take your whole family to a shooting preserve? There's probably one not far away. Be sure to make reservations. For a list of American shooting preserves, write to the Sportsmen's Service Bureau, 250 East 43rd Street, New York, N. Y.

Cards, Orioles Switch Affiliates In International

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals and the Baltimore Orioles Saturday switched baseball affiliates in the Triple-A International League.

The Cardinals announced the Rochester, N.Y., players will be transferred to Miami and that Miami players will be moved to Rochester.

Art Routzong, business manager of the Cardinals, would not go into reasons for the switch except to say all four clubs felt it would be beneficial.

The Cardinals also announced they will not renew a working agreement with Memphis, Tenn., of the Class - AA Southern Association. The reason is that the Memphis club, whose ball park burned last April, has not assured the Cardinals of a stadium for the 1961 season. A deadline for such an assurance had been set by the St. Louis club for Saturday.

As a result, the Cardinals will return to the Class - A Eastern League with a working agreement with some club yet to be selected, Routzong said.

The Rochester club finished third and went into the league playoff finals this past season. The Miami club, in the second division for the past four years, finished last in 1960.

The Cardinals sold the Rochester franchise and stadium to civic interests at Rochester in February 1957. The Miami franchise is owned by George MacDonald, the millionaire sportsman.

The Memphis club is owned by Leo Burson of Memphis.

Macomb high has wins over Mt. Sterling, Canton and Beardstown this season with the Bombers being tied with Lewistown for the lead in the Spoon River conference. Washington beat University of Normal Thursday night with 217 yards from scrimmage by rushing. Steve Stein and Bob Blumenshine each scored three touchdowns in the Panthers' 46-7 win. Jim Gresham passed for 205 yards as Washington opened defense of the Corn Belt Title it shared with Normal Community high and Clinton last season.

Peoria Manual has not lost a game since Peoria Central turned the trick in the last game of the 1957 season 7-0. Lem van Laningham is the Rams' center for the second straight season and Manual played Joliet Catholic Friday night in Joliet seeking their 23rd straight win.

Ethan Blackaby of Canton got the first helmet star against Indiana U. last week as Coach Pete Elliott awards a helmet star for each pass interception during a game. The Illini fans will be able to recognize the best pass defenders for the Elliott team. Bumpy Nixon of Galesburg is reported back at Carbondale (Southern Illinois University) after taking off for Tennessee A. and I. He had worked at the Carbondale campus during the summer months.

Roodhouse is favored to win its third consecutive Illinois Valley title with the two injured players, Ron Williams and Lyle Winters, back in the lineup after being injured in the Roxana game. Coach Alex Takacs is in his first year at Roodhouse high after coaching at Pawnee and Bement.

Ted Lewis is in his 14th year as coach at Mendota high and his players have gone to star in college and university ranks. Captain Bill Brown of Illinois is one of his former guests along with brother Jim. Several Mendota grads captained college teams. Coach Lewis is a graduate of the University of Iowa.

Cuba and Havana scored their first touchdowns in games this week as the Cardinals lost to Bushnell and the Ducks beat Rushville 14-8 for their initial win of the season. Carrollton, Greenfield and Canton offer homecoming attractions on Oct. 14 and 15. Canton entertains Monmouth's Zippers on Oct. 15 and last year the Little Giants lost to the Zippers by a single touchdown.

Coach Joe Adam is looking forward to the basketball season at Canton high and he is proud of his transfer forward, Walt Jackson, 185 pounds, 6-3 lad, who played regular for Coach Glenn Brown at Danville last year. Dick Brown, 6-4 center, is back and he scored 32 points against Decatur's Reds last year in Decatur. John Cruser, captain and ball handler, dribbler and team leader, is back at his guard position. Big 6-2 Dennis VanMiddlesworth is back at the other forward spot and a strong bench is ready for the 1960-61 season. Eleven lettermen will greet Coach Adam as basketball practice gets underway in a few days.

Clemson Rallies For 13-7 Victory

CLEMSON, S. C. (AP) — Quarterback Lowndes Shingler scored twice in the last half as Atlantic Coast Conference football champion Clemson fought frustration before coming from behind for a 13-7 victory over Virginia Tech Saturday.

Shingler tallied on a third quarter plunge from six inches short of the goal, and on a final period four-yard run. VPI quarterback Warren Price scored from eight yards out the first time VPI had the ball.

Clemson, No. 7 nationally, lost the ball on downs at the VPI 27 and fumbled it away at the 20 in the first period, then lost it on downs again at the VPI seven in the second quarter. A pass interception ended another Clemson march at the VPI 17 in the final period, but as the game ended the Tigers were driving on the Tech four.

Missouri Waltz In Quicktime Halts Penn State

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Missouri's backs danced the Missouri waltz in quicktime Saturday and gave Eastern power Penn State a sound 21-8 beating.

Mel West, Donnie Smith and Norris Stevenson provided most of the footwork that shot the visiting Tigers into a 14-0 halftime lead and put the game out of reach in the final quarter after favored Penn State had scored its eight points.

But the name that became most familiar to the 35,500 Homecoming Day spectators was that of Missouri end Danny La Rose.

He scored the first touchdown when he gathered in a pass by quarterback Ron Taylor for 16 yards to complete an 80-yard drive at the start of the second quarter. Before that he had recovered two fumbles by State in State territory to set up scoring threats.

Missouri took a 14-0 lead when Smith connected on a spectacular 28-yard touchdown pass to end Gordon Smith in the second quarter.

In the third quarter, State moved 73 yards in 15 plays for its only touchdown.

Law Pitched With Sprained Ankle

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Vern Law, Pittsburgh's 20-game winner who was pummeled for eight runs in less than three innings in Milwaukee's 13-2 romp Friday night, pitched despite a sprained right ankle, it was learned Saturday.

The ace right-hander suffered the injury during the Pirates' pennant-clinching celebration in the clubhouse in Milwaukee last Sunday but kept the matter a secret.

It was not until Law came back to the bench after the third inning in which the Braves pounded him for five runs that he told Manager Danny Murtaugh.

Murtaugh, who earlier this week had nominated Law to pitch the opener of the World Series against the Yankees, said the injury was not serious and he was not considering a change in plans.

NARROWS MARATHON LEAD

SYDNEY (AP) — Australia's Peter Thomson's lead Saturday was cut to two strokes by South African Gary Player in the International Marathon Golf Tournament.

In the eighth round at Aollongong, Thomson shot a two over par 72, Player and Canada's Stan Leonard each had 71 and American Mike Souchak of Durham, N. C., 73.

The final 18 holes are to be played Sunday. Aggregate scores are Thomson 564, Player 566, Leonard 570, and Souchak 579.

Fourth Ranked Illini Annex Win In 2nd Half

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Pitchouts jarred West Virginia's sturdborn defenses in the third quarter today and Illinois scored three times to rap up a 33-0 victory in the first football meeting of the two schools.

The Illini, ranked No. 4 nationally, looked sluggish against the fired-up Mountaineers in the first half but finally took a 7-0 lead in the second quarter on Bill Brown's four-yard off tackle smash. It ended a 54 yard drive in 9 plays, highlighted by John Easterbrook's 27 yard pass ot junior end Dick Newell—a battery that proved excellent in the last half surge.

The Mountaineers only three times got beyond midfield, their best thrust being to the 29 against Illinois' third team in the last quarter.

Illinois cinched its second victory of the season and hung a third straight defeat of the year on West Virginia in the third period.

In the first six minutes, the 155 pound Easterbrook pitched out to junior halfback Joe Krakoski, who streaked 53 yards to score. Jerry Wood converted for the second time.

Five minute later, Illinois' second team rushed across the second TD, covering 61 yards in four plays and the help of a 15-yard penalty. Mel Meyers pitched out to Marshall Starks who reversed the field and bolted 25 yards into the corner of the touchdown zone. Bill Brown booted the point.

Near the end of the third, Easterbrook passed 16 and 22 yards to Newell to set up the third tally. Easterbrook slanted across from the one, but he failed in a run for the extra two points.

Norm Willis, second string halfback, scored for the Illini at the outset of the fourth quarter. He flashed over from the four. A bad snapback from center prevented the conversion attempt.

Illinois failed to get a sustained drive going until late in the first period when Meyers hit Willis for 24 yards. It touched off a surge that carried to the West Virginia two in the opening minutes of the second period. But Ethan Blackaby fumbled and Bill Winter recovered to end the threat.

After this heart break, the Illini came back for its 54 yard scoring thrust to lead 7-0 at halftime. Only twice in the first half did the Mountaineers penetrate Illini territory. In the opening quarter Pete Tolley captured Bill Brown's fumble on the Illini 36, but the Mountaineers couldn't get started. Later they moved to the 49 before again being stopped.

After the three-touchdown explosion in the third, the Illini's fourth came on a lucky break in the opening three minutes of the finale. Danny Williams' punt for West Virginia was good for only 16 yards, going out of bounds on his own 27. From there Illinois scored in five plays, Willis capping it.

Pirates End Drought Against Braves, 7-3

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The National League champion Pittsburgh Pirates shelled Warren Spahn off the mound Saturday and went on to defeat the Milwaukee Braves 7-3. They had lost four straight to Milwaukee.

Spahn, seeking his 22nd victory, was raked for six runs on as many hits, including a two-run single by Dick Groat, in the fourth inning. Spahn left in the fourth to be charged with his 10th defeat.

Groat was making his first start since he sustained a wrist fracture Sept. 6.

The Pirates' shortstop and captain cracked two singles in five times at bat. He had five assists and two putouts without a miscue and figured in two double plays.

Bob Friend pitched the first seven innings for the Pirates. He allowed nine hits and was credited with his 18th triumph. Elroy Face finished up.

Purdue Hands Irish Crushing 51-19 Blow

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Purdue, loaded with talented sophomores and brilliantly led by alternate quarterbacks Bernie Allen and Maury Guttman, Saturday gave Notre Dame one of its worst football defeats, 51-19.

Purdue was awesome in beating the Irish. The Boilermakers scored four touchdowns and a field goal in the second quarter alone.

Notre Dame was in the ball game just one quarter and then fell apart as six Purdue backs took turns galloping into Irish territory.

Halfback Jim Tiller was the only two-touchdown scorer, going 30 yards in the second quarter on a pass from Allen then running a punt back 66 yards in the same period.

Allen's other boot was blocked.

Notre Dame fumbles under jarring Purdue tackles led to two of the winners' touchdowns and Allen's field goal. Pass interceptions started two other Purdue scoring drives.

The Irish exactly matched Purdue in ground-gaining in spite of the 32 points difference in the final score. Notre Dame gained 256 yards on the ground and 102 in the air for 358. Purdue also got 358 yards, 228 by rushing and 130 by passing.

Other Purdue scorers besides Allen and Tiller were John Elwell on a pass from Guttman, 44 yards; sophomore Bob Wiater, 78 yards after taking a lateral from Allen; Donn Mayoras, on a short plunge and sophomore Tom Yakubowski also on a plunge.

Notre Dame's three touchdowns—the last against Purdue's third team, were made by Bob Scarpitto on a 64-yard run, Angelo Dabiero on a 24-yard pass from George Haffner, and sophomore quarterback Daryl Lamonica on a 6-yard keeper. The Irish matched Purdue's two first-period touchdowns but never were even after Joe Perkowski missed the first extra point kick.

Winchester Home Bureau To Meet At Clark Residence

By Dorothy Sauer
(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone Pioneer 2-3439)

WINCHESTER — The members of the Winchester Home Bureau Day Unit will hold their October meeting this Tuesday, commencing at 2:00 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Olin Clark. Members will please note the change in the meeting place.

The major lesson, "Your Hair, Your Hat, and Your Neckline", will be presented by Mrs. Paul Steckel and Mrs. Herman Weder. Members are asked to either bring or wear a hat.

"Soil and Water Conservation", the selected subject, will be given by the hostess, Mrs. Clark.

Roll call is to be responded to with a bulb and plant exchange among those present.

Room Mothers

All room mothers for the Winchester PTA are asked to meet this Monday, Oct. 3, in the lunchroom of the grade school at 9:30 p.m.

The room mothers are appointed each year by the teachers of the various grades and during the year they assist in the preparation and serving of refreshments to the children when something special has been planned. Plans for the coming year will be made at the Monday morning meeting and as many room mothers as possible are urged to attend.

PEDESTRIAN AWARDED $10 FOR BEING COURTEOUS, CAUTIOUS

What is a good pedestrian? A good pedestrian is one who exercises courteous acts, not only toward motorists but to other pedestrians as well, and is extremely cautious at all times especially in the cross-walk intersections.

The courteous acts of a good pedestrian was best typified by Jerry Anderson, a salesman with McCoy Shoe Store, Thursday afternoon while on his lunch hour. This was the second of six $10 awards to be presented during the three-week Courtesy Campaign, co-sponsored by the Journal Courier and Chicago Motor Club. The campaign is beginning to cause realization that there is a reward in being a good citizen by showing thoughtfulness for others.

Looks Both Ways

Thursday's winner began his winning jaunt on the east side of the square by stopping and looking both ways before proceeding across East State. After repeating the same procedure at East Morgan and South Mauvaisterre where he waited for three cars to pass, Anderson just about clinched the two $5 checks when he held the door open for an elderly lady entering the Woolworth Building. But the judges wanted to observe him further and he passed the South Main crossing in flying colors.

He stopped, looked and waited until the way was clear before crossing. Then he did something the judges hadn't witnessed in all the other umpteen crossings. Anderson stopped and glanced to his right before proceeding across the South Main turnoff for approaching motorists. The judges' choice selection was just as cautious at the South Sandy and West Morgan intersection and as he walked into the McCoy Store to resume work he probably didn't give his courteous and cautious walk a second thought as it is an everyday habit with him.

Winner Is Surprised

Anderson, 21, is also a motorist and just by habit the judges checked his driver's license which was up to date. The winner pedestrian was a very surprised young man when the judges pulled the two checks from their pocketbooks and informed him they weren't there to purchase shoes but to give him $10 for being "such a nice pedestrian." Naturally, he was thankful and grateful for the honor.

There are a number of corrections to be made by pedestrians if our motorists are going to be assured of any safety. One common fault of many is the act of illegal jay-walking. Another is never looking either to the left or right when crossing intersections. Most of the pedestrians observed Thursday would lower their heads to step down from the curb and that's the way they continued across the street which brought about the comment, "Most of our pedestrians would make good football players because once they get their head down they really go and never look up until they get past the line of scrimage which would be the curb to step up".

Another major fault with the majority of pedestrians was once they got out into the line of traffic they just ambled along as though they had no place to go. Some are dare-devils in that they appear to dare a motorist to hit them which almost happened at one intersection because they failed to look at the approaching line of cars coming off the lunch hour.

The judge noted one infraction by women with baby-buggies and strollers. Most of them stopped on the curb alright to see if any cars were coming but guess where the babies were? They were already in the street before mother thought to stop and look. An accident takes only a split second and sometimes, mothers, it may be too late to pull the stroller back on the sidewalk with you.

Allertness Is Best Protection

To be a good pedestrian—stop jay--walking; stop on the sidewalk and look both ways before crossing the street; always be alert for yourself and courteous to the motorists and especially to elderly people trying to cross streets; don't run or crawl across intersections but maintain a steady pace; don't be a dare-devil, give the motorist a break once in a while and he'll do the same for you and remember it is better to be a few minutes late for an appointment or going back to work rather than wind up in a mortuary or in a hospital and be maimed for life.

Step Up And Wait

The new concrete traffic dividers appeared to be a puzzle for many pedestrians as they would stop on sidewalks and observe the new street additions before attempting to cross the square. In trying to map out what seemed to be their strategy they didn't know whether to step up on the dividers or go around. Many did both, but going around is definitely dangerous. The most practical and safe crossing would be to step up and wait on the dividers before crossing.

The judges would like to point out there were a number of courteous and cautious pedestrians but they had to be eliminated because the women would stop enroute to shop and they stayed in the stores during the entire hour and 35 minutes the judges waited until Anderson came along.

To be a better pedestrian, just imagine yourself a judge and observe all the good and bad points of your fellow-walkers. This is an experience in itself and should aid you in living a longer and more useful life if you master the courteous acts of a good pedestrian.

Miss Enloe Retires From Auto Business

Miss Mary Louise Enloe of this city yesterday announced her retirement from the automobile business after 32 years, during which she engaged in business in several Missouri and Illinois cities.

Miss Enloe said that at a later date she will announce a business far removed from the automobile field, and that the Pontiac Motor Division will announce a successor to the Enloe Motor Company in Jacksonville.

MARY LOUISE ENLOE

For 17 years Miss Enloe has been one of Jacksonville's most active business women, heading a company that won wide attention as a model in automobile retail agencies which was generally recognized as an outstanding dealership in Central Illinois.

She first engaged in the automobile business at Eldon, Missouri, where her father, the late Dr. Fred H. Enloe, was a practicing dentist for many years. Later she engaged in business at Clayton, Mo., Macomb, Ill., Taylorville, Ill., and Jacksonville.

The Enloes have made many friends in Jacksonville and will continue to make this city their home and maintain their apartment at the Dunlap Hotel.

"I deeply appreciate the many loyal customers during the time I have been engaged in business," Miss Enloe stated. "Also, during my 17 years' business in Jacksonville I have enjoyed the loyal service and cooperation of a wonderful staff of employees."

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Engebrecht of Jacksonville have received word of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Engebrecht, 926 West Oakdale avenue, Chicago 14, Ill. The little boy, born September 30, weighed six pounds, 12 ounces, and was named Bruce Alan.

The following births were reported Saturday at Passavant Hospital:

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Waters of Winchester, born at 4:45 a.m.

A daughter to Lt. (jg) and Mrs. Randall Killebrew of Winchester, born at 6:22 a.m.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. James O. Crawford of Carrollton, born at 10:15 a.m.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Bart Johnson, Literberry, born at 12:10 p.m.

Live-Wire Class Meeting Held At Sorrill Home

A wiener roast was enjoyed by all at the home of Darrell Sorrill. Darrell Sorrill and Marilyn Walker were the hosts for the evening.

Darrell Sorrill gave the treasurer's report of $61.00. Lucy Hymes gave the secretary's report of the last meeting.

New curtain committee members were appointed to get curtains for the class room; they were Marilyn Walker, Marilyn Masten, Lucy Hymes and Mary Kay McGinnis.

Everybody was told to bring some religious pictures for the church if they have any.

There were 14 members present.

Motion for adjournment was made by Darrell Sorrill and seconded by Martha Walker.

Temperatures High, Rain Low In September

The month of September was characterized by below average rainfall, above average temperatures and a predominance of wind from the southwest according to statistics received Saturday from the Norbury Sanatorium.

Temperatures ranged from the low 47 on the 11th and 28th to the high 93 on the 1st, 6th and 7th. The average low was 59.3 and the high average was 84.2. The normal mean is 67.9; the 1960 mean was 72.8.

Clear and cloudy weather split the days almost in half with a somewhat heavier balance on the clear side. There were 16 clear days and 14 cloudy or partly cloudy days.

The rainfall totaled only 2.05 inches for the month which has a normal 4.18 inches average. Over half the total month's rain fell on the 9th when a pre-autumn storm dumped 1.15 inches in the area.

Wind was predominately from the southwest. The wind was recorded from the general southwesterly direction eight times during the month. Wind blew from the southeast six times and from the northwest five.

Wind directions were recorded a total of 30 times.

Plan Red Cross Fun Night At Patterson School

PATTERSON—A fun night to benefit the Red Cross Blood Bank program in Greene County is being planned Thursday, Oct. 6, at the Patterson school gym. The proceeds will be used to meet the Patterson area quota for the program. The area is still $43.55 short.

There will be cake walks, games and refreshments on sale. The committee invites everyone to attend. All prizes and items to be sold are requested to come as donations from persons in the Patterson area. Anyone wishing to help the program by donating should contact the local committee for the fun night or the Patterson school.

All money realized from the evening plus other contributions will be turned over to the Red Cross on the final day of the drive, Oct. 7.

Congo Situation Seems Improved

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) —A flicker of hope appeared in the Congo chaos Saturday as a small and devoted group of college graduate technicians slowly began to turn the rusted wheels of government.

Political strife, for the moment at least, has been reduced to a weakening barrage of largely ineffective public declarations.

A highly placed Western diplomat who has been in the Congo since it became independent June 30 said, "The situation seems to have improved, and I am more optimistic for the future."

United Nations officials, working overtime to prevent the Congo's panorama of disaster from enlarging, reported relative calm throughout the new republic this week. There were scattered incidents of unrest in Congolese army due to pay delays. But U. N. officials said they were able to quiet the situation with stopgap pay envelopes for the troops.

A considerable number of Belgian teachers, missionaries and teachnicians are returning to the Congo after having been driven out by the Congolese when independence was proclaimed. The Belgians often had to wait hours at airports for clearance by Congolese immigration authorities but that appeared to be the worst of their difficulties.

The political waters were as muddy as ever and potentially dangerous. But for the present none of the opposing factions was making a serious effort to impose itself on another with guns or poisoned arrows.

Presbyterians To Provide Funds For Rammelkamp Chapel

Illinois College has been allocated approximately $342,000 for building purposes as a part of the capital funds campaign of the United Presbyterian Church, Synod of Illinois, according to an announcement Saturday by President L. Vernon Caine.

The money is included in a campaign of more than five million dollars for capital needs of Synod-related causes expected to be raised by June 1, 1961.

The decision to distribute a total of two million dollars among the five Presbyterian related colleges in Illinois was made in Springfield this past week by a committee authorized by the Synod to make the distribution. At that meeting, President Caine presented the case for the colleges.

Dr. Caine has been active in promoting the capital funds campaign, and last June saw it adopted unanimously by the Synod in the annual meeting on the Illinois College campus. Three years of preliminary discussion preceded adoption by the Synod.

Apportionment among the colleges is based on a formula already used in annual giving by the Synod toward the current operations of the schools.

The Illinois College allocation will be used primarily for construction of the new Rammelkamp Chapel.

The $342,000 will represent the largest single part of the college's current $1,500,000 program to provide the new chapel, a new science hall and additional facilities.

The Illinois College development program has progressed in two sections: section one, a general campaign to raise $750,000, to match section two, another $750,000 to be provided by funds previously raised, gifts from trustees and contributions from the church organizations related to the college. The allocation from the Synod is a part of section two.

An application for substantial assistance is also pending before the Congregational Churches' Higher Education Fund. Approval of the application would complete the contributions to be made in the current college effort by the related church organizations.

President Caine, in surveying the progress of the $1,500,000 Illinois College program, noted that the receipt of approximately $200,000 more in the general campaign will assure the success of the total effort.

Jacksonville Group Plans Observance

The week of October 2-8 has been set aside as National Business Women's Week for the purpose of paying tribute to women in business and the professions and to the contribution they make to the nation. In sharp contrast to the old days, women now number more than one-third of the work force of our country. Young women of today choose from some 500 different career fields. An generation ago only a dozen or so job areas were open to women. Young women now expect to work outside the home approximately 25 years of their lives. Older women are re-training in their former fields or entering new fields and make up a large portion of the total of working women.

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women is the largest organized group in the world devoted entirely to the affairs of business and professional women. Any woman employed for compensation in industry, business, or in the professions, and acceptable to the local group, is eligible for membership. When a woman joins the local Business and Professional Women's Club, she automatically becomes a member of the state, national, and international federations of B&PWC. The national federation now has a membership of approximately 175,000. The present membership of the local club is about 100.

The regular monthly meeting of the Jacksonville Business and Professional Women's Club will be held at the Dunlap Hotel Thursday evening, Oct. 6. Mr. Bill Wall of the physical education department of MacMurray College will be the speaker on the subject, "Inside Russia Today." This is to be the traditional "Bosses' night" for the club and members are inviting their employers to be their guests. Dinner will be served in the hotel dining room at 6:15. The program is to be sponsored by the public relations committee.

In observance of National Business Women's Week which starts today, the Jacksonville Business & Professional Women are having a breakfast this morning at Hamilton's Restaurant. Husbands of the members are to be special guests.

Mrs. A. B. Applebee will be the speaker at the district seven meeting of the Business & Professional Women's Club at the Dunlap Hotel October 9. Luncheon will be served at one o'clock and the program to follow.

On Deaf Ears

For most of the 21 months of his ill-starred tenure, Cuba's Fidel Castro has specialized in long-winded tirades on television against the United States.

There had to be a limit to the number of times he could perform this act under repetitious circumstances. Obviously he sought bigger TV fields to conquer than Havana and Cuba could possibly offer.

What more promising audience than the whole world, listening keenly to the deliberations of this historic United Nations session in New York?

So he came North to deliver what politicians would call his "basic speech."

It was, of course, embroidered with some new charges, but at root it was the same old thing, blaming America for all the ills Cuba has suffered for half a century and more.

This country's image may or may not be as bright around the world as it once was. But it certainly is still sufficiently shiny so that Castro's venomous attacks are unlikely to be given much credence in most areas.

Having nothing to offer the Cuban people but the unhappy fact that he is in power, Castro has sought to make hating America a positive policy.

In support of that policy, he has but one program—aside from periodic TV outbursts. That is the seizure of American properties and interests in Cuba.

Whenever he fears that Cubans might be wondering when he plans to start governing them, he grabs something else American. Thus Castro is steadily acquiring more and more things to mismanage.

If it were not for the fact that he practices his patent frauds in the name of the free Cuban people, he would long since have been totally discredited by all the non-Communist world, including his fellow Latin countries.

Few want to range themselves completely against him for fear of seeming to oppose the legitimate aspirations of the Cuban people.

Again, America and all free lands must hope that, as it becomes daily clearer he does not serve those aspirations but only his own and the Communists', the Cuban people will repulse him and cast him into the oblivion where all political fakers and petty tyrants belong.

Understanding The Congo

Revealing facts about The Congo are contained in a report to the United Nations by Rajeshwar Dayal of India. Dayal replaced Ralph Bunche as top U.N. representative in that troubled land.

Among the figures cited by Dayal: There are only 17 native Congolese (out of a population of over 13 million) who are university graduates. There are no engineers, architects or college-level teachers.

Wheeling Along

Talk about population explosions. There are now almost as many motor vehicles (74 million) in the United States as there were people (76 million) in 1900, when automobiles were out-numbered even by cigar store Indians.

Bureau of Public Roads estimates the total registrations at the end of this year will hit 73.9 million. This is about two and a half million more than 1959.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Premier Nikita Khrushchev is trying to create the impression he's a dangerous man to thwart—because he has not only a bad but an uncontrollable temper—he's succeeded.

War could come out of a sudden temper tantrum.

But being dangerous is not synonymous with creating fear. It can create contempt. He is not scaring the Western powers. It's too soon to say whether he has made the small and neutral nations jittery.

His conduct in the United Nations to date raises this question: Is this leader and representative of the Soviet Union the best the Russian people can produce?

It wouldn't be surprising if his days in Russia are numbered.

He has scolded, mocked, threatened, attacked and created disturbances by heckling in the U.N. hall and pounding the table. In a place where decorum and not outbursts is supposed to prevail he has made himself a spectacle.

If he keeps up this performance his mission will probably be a failure to this extent: that instead of bulldozing the rest of the world he will have made himself loathesome.

His four interruptions Thursday—when British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was addressing the U. N. General Assembly—came under the head of bad manners, at the least.

Last week—during and after his own speech in the United Nations—Khrushchev attacked the West, belittled it, condemned it, tried to immobilize the United Nations itself by a proposal to revamp it, and threatened to reject disarmament unless he had his way.

No one interrupted him. He had the stage to himself.

Thursday, Macmillan, in the course of outlining a three-stage approach to "the key problems of disarmament," accused the Communist bloc of using outworn and obsolete slogans to distort issues.

This was too much for Khrushchev, who had dished out much worse a few days before. He became steadily more angry.

And when Macmillan said the West wouldn't buy the Russian's demand for revamping the U. N., Khrushchev began pounding the table. As Macmillan went on, Khrushchev wagged his finger at him and shouted.

Associated Press reporters said never in its 15-year history had the U. N. General Assembly seen such a performance. They quoted some delegates as saying they were appalled.

It was the first time any member of the United Nations had heckled a fellow delegate. Later, outside the United Nations, Khrushchev denounced and belittled Macmillan although he was supposed to—and did—confer with him an hour later.

There is a point where a man stops looking bad-tempered and begins looking childish, where a bully-boy becomes a nuisance. Khrushchev is close to that point.

There is something barbarous in the conduct of a man who insults and belittles others—as Khrushchev in the past few months has done to President Eisenhower and the West—and then thinks a handshake wipes the slate clean.

Khrushchev is rapidly becoming not the best Russian to do business with but the worst.

FINDING THE WAY

Vaccines for the Spirit

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.

Every traveler will immediately identify these symptoms:

Sore arms, teeth chattering, every joint identified by an ache. These are the evidences of the notorious "shots" in preparation for a trip abroad. All of this is endurable since the pain and discomfort is soon replaced with assurance of an immunity from certain diseases.

Whether we travel abroad or not, we're all involved in living and on this journey we need some similar vaccines. At the risk of some aching joints, here are a few suggestions:

How many companions have you met who have been nursing some ancient grudges? We are aware of the horrible stupidity of "iron curtains." We ought to know of the self-imposed curtains which divide us from one another.

Some are contrived out of actual happenings which have long since lost any significances. Some are fancied hurts—the kind of wounded sensitivities which rise out of self-centeredness.

Many of us know where such antibodies could be found if there is a moral scientist who can contrive the vaccine.

An injection would cause some jitters, but then to be immune to this!

Have you ever tried to challenge the men whose favorite answer is simply "count me out"?

These men know what is wrong with the United Fund, with the Red Cross, with churches and philanthropies. They are infected with a kind of moral laziness, a lethargy of the soul.

(Would someone collect some of these antibodies? I'm tired and I can feel this insidious sin tempting me.)

Or there are those who seem to rebel at all of the sanctities of life: the youngsters who sneer at life, their amoral elders who romp over all virtues, the pseudo-sophisticates who cynically hold nothing sacred, the careless who litter the streets of their city or their mind—this is a frightening inventory to confront.

To those who do not care, life becomes a shamble. The late Dorothy Sayers typified the vice as "sloth," the sin of living for nothing and only continuing to live because there seems to be nothing for which to die.

Our social body is in need of a vaccine to counteract this virus.

The trouble with such musing is that it overlooks available resources.

The psalmist prayed: "Create in me a clean heart and renew in me a right spirit." And St. Paul stated it plainly, "I am strengthened with might in the inner man."

To take this seriously would create some aching joints for a while. But think of the delicious freedom of traveling through this kind of a world unafraid.

It Took a Heap of Living To Make a Home a 'Hume'

BY JERRY BENNETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Right Honorable, the Earl of Home, Britain's new foreign secretary, who visited Washington just before the United Nations General Assembly opening, pronounces his name "Hume."

The explanation goes back to the days when one of the present earl's ancestors was leading a fight against the Scots.

One of his men, to spur on the British troops, cried out "Home! Home!" But the soldiers thought it was a command to retreat. So they left the field of batile.

Thereupon the earl decreed that the name should henceforth be pronounced "Hume though he didn't change the spelling.

"The Scots say those border wars delayed the progress of civilization," says the present earl with a smile.

"If we had known what civilization was going to be like," he adds, "we would have delayed it further."

Note: He didn't notify the club he was leaving.

Ivanov's departure leaves no Soviet Union diplomats on the National Press Club's roster. There are still three diplomats from Communist countries—one from Czechoslovakia, one from Hungary and one from Yugoslavia. There are also two Russian and one Yugoslavian newspapermen members.

THE BIG NEW red brick and glass British chancery building in Washington opened this week. It replaces an old temporary shambles thrown up during World WarII days. There is no doubt it improves the neatness of the Massachusetts Avenue landscape. But the new building is a jauntily modernistic edifice that clashes strongly with the style of the next-door dignified British Embassy building, which is good Georgian, British country house architecture.

Claims one Washington diplomatic wag: The British put this new building up as revenge for the modernistic new American chancery in London with the eagle on top, the propriety of which the English are debating with vigor.

Secretary Seaton insists he had nothing to do with calling the conference. He points to his past record, and asks, "Do you think I would do anything like that?" But it gets him nowhere.

DIRECTOR of Civil and Defense Mobilization Leo A. Hoegh and his military colleagues have a number of men working on fantastic new ways to protect Americans from dying of radiation in an H-bomb attack.

Army researchers, for example, have tried out hundreds of chemicals and have found some that apparently will make animals and possibly men twice as resistant to radiation sickness and death.

"But you can never tell what results you may get," says one of the doctors here. "The other day one of our laboratory mice swallowed some small glass beads. And we found that for some reason or other it made the mouse able to withstand heavier doses of atomic radiation."

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — From Australia to Hollywood to Hong Kong — that's the rising, roundabout career of Rod Taylor.

The new TV season has been greeted with a rash of adventure series—trench coats all over the channels. One of the more promising offerings is "Hong Kong," out of the 20th Century-Fox stable which has hit ("Adventures in Paradise") and missed ("Five Fingers") in the adventure field.

If "Hong Kong" succeeds, a major factor will be Rod Taylor, who doesn't have to learn the acting craft, as did Gardner McKay in "Paradise." Taylor is a seasoned performer who has made fine impressions in such films as "Raintree County," "Ask Any Girl" and the current "Time Machine."

He achieved star status in the latter. So why does he need TV?

"I had turned down 25 offers to do TV series," he admitted. "But when this one came along, it sounded like something I could do with real integrity, as well as making a bit of money for myself."

The series was put together by ace producer Robert Buckner ("Rogue's Regiment," "Sword in the Desert"). Taylor plays a newspaper correspondent whose beat is the modern Orient. He liked the authentic air to the scripts.

Taylor was born in Sydney, the son of a steel construction contractor. He dabbled in dramatics, came to Hollywood five years ago and worked his way up through bit parts and TV films.

How will the series affect his movie draw? "I dont think it will hurt me," he said. "I know that some stars of series have flopped in pictures, but some of them are limited in what they can do. I see no reason why you can't work both mediums: I think Jim Garner could be just as big in films if he got a good picture. I've worked it out so I can have some time off to do films, and I'm working on preparing a script now."

Teeners Pay a Heavy Price By Marrying Too Young

At a stork shower where the mother-to-be and her friends were teen-agers the 16-year-old guest of honor who had been married at 15 said wistfully as she unwrapped the gifts, "I hope this baby will marry young so we can start having some fun."

That, of course, is one of the sad things about these young, young marriages. Youth has to be postponed—because the care-free years have been forfeited.

All of a sudden, a couple of kids are faced with adult responsibilities. And no matter how much they love each other, how determined they are to make a go of their marriage, how much they love the baby that comes along to tie them down—they are bound to realize too late that maybe they were in too much of a hurry to grow up.

The strain of too heavy responsibilities on their young shoulders often tells on the marriage. The boy may become restless in the role of husband and father and provider.

The girl may be lonely, cut off from her teen-age friends with whom she no longer has much in common. She may find that playing grownup for keeps is a strain.

And so while the husband and wife are still teen-agers they are looking forward to the years—far in the distance—when they can be free of such heavy responsibilities and start having a little fun.

But how do you make young people realize all this? Parents try to tell them, but often with no success.

The picture the parents paint doesn't seem real to teen-agers in love. All they see is romance. They think they can have marriage and their youth, too.

But it doesn't work out that way and they all find out sooner or later that they have traded their youth for adulthood and that they will have to postpone being young and carefree for years and years.

Retired Men Enjoy Kitchen 'Engineering'

BY MARIE DAERR

"Don't chase your husband out of the kitchen. Encourage him to share the chores."

This advice to wives of retired men comes from Aaron Lipman, assistant professor of sociology at the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Fla.

In Lipman's opinion, such lowly chores as emptying the trash and washing the dishes rank high as morale-builders for men who are drawing pensions or social security, instead of a salary.

"Sharing household tasks makes for companionship and compatability," Lipman says. "When she is young, a woman considers being a good provider her husband's most important role. A man wants his wife to be a good homemaker.

"In the later years, after retirement, love, understanding, companionship and compatability are the important things."

Helping with household tasks gives husbands a feeling of usefulness and worth, Lipman states. But, he warns, men don't want to be urged to learn such a complicated task as cooking.

Lipman's advice is the result of a study he made. He talked to 100 couples over 60 years of age in metropolitan Miami. More than 80 per cent were migrants from other states. Most were well educated. Most of the men had good jobs before retirement.

Three-fourths of wives surveyed said their husbands did the marketing, or helped them with it. More than half of the husbands cleared the breakfast table, wiped the dishes and picked up and put away clothes. Other tasks the men did were: cleaning, dusting, making beds and preparing breakfast.

Lipman reports that 62 per cent of the women and 58 per cent of the men thought that, when a man retires, his wife has a definite right to expect her husband to help with the chores.

"When the men were asked how they felt about doing such tasks, only 4 per cent gave a truly negative reply," Lipman states.

Men and Machines Join To Bring You Better Beef

BY 'GAYNOR MADDOX

Good news for meat buyers. Packers are looking for new ways to produce more tender meat for this nation of beefeaters.

At a recent meeting of the American Meat Institute in Chicago, Dr. J. R. Stouffer of the Cornell University department of animal husbandry "looked" under the hide of a live steer with a new ultrasonic device, which he had developed to evaluate the exact meatiness of live animals. His technique will help in selecting breeding stock and improving livestock quality.

Dr. Richard L. Hiner, chief of the meat quality laboratory at the United States Dept. of Agriculture Research Center, demonstrated a new machine he has developed to measure meat tenderness.

Dr. Elmer Kiehl, dean of the University of Missouri school of agriculture, reported on recent studies to determine consumer preferences for different qualities of meat.

Many families had participated in these studies by cooking, serving and evaluating unidentified grades and then stating their preferences as a guide to packers.

Also, Dr. H. E. Robinson, vice president in charge of research at Swift & Co., announced a scientific breakthrough which will make possible the increasing of tenderness in all beef.

The new technique involves adding natural food enzymes to cattle before processing. "This," he said, "adds enough additional natural food enzyme to produce the desired tenderness in all grades and cuts when the meat is cooked.

"In addition, the process avoids the shrinkage, losses and discoloration associated with aging methods."

Marketing tests are being made now in several areas. However, it will be some time before this tenderized beef will be available all over the country.

In the meantime, just keep on chewing.

Morgan Corn Collection For Christian Overseas Relief

CROP (Christian Rural Overseas Program) will launch its 1960 drive in Morgan County on Saturday, Nov. 19.

This year the rural sections of Morgan County will be asked to contribute corn to be processed and sent to foreign lands, where Christian leaders will distribute it to the hungry.

The committee has designated Nov. 19 as the day for a county-wide solicitation and pickup of corn. These plans were made at a meeting held on the evening of Sept. 27 at Centenary Methodist church.

Township chairmen and workers are being selected in each township. A potluck dinner and meeting of all workers is scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 6, to get the fall drive under way.

Last year Illinois was the top state in the nation with contributions from 86 counties. Gifts of corn resulted in the shipment of 30 carloads to the processing plants for conversion into oil and shipment to refugees in many lands.

Funds raised in Morgan and Scott Counties last year were used to purchase and ship 35 purebred gilts to Haiti to be used there as breeding stock. Pigs farrowed by these gilts were given to worthy families in need of getting started in livestock production and to 4-H Club members.

This Week.. at Dixon Springs

More and more cattle growers in southern Illinois are contacting their farm advisers about enrolling in the performance testing program. These farmers are "bread-and-butter" interested in what each cow in the herd is doing.

We on the Station are being asked more often to bring scales to farms to weigh each calf individually. The weaning weight is probably most important, but each calf is also appraised for a feeder grade. This information is valuable to producers in intelligently selecting and improving their herds.

Round Up

The Dixon Springs Cattle Roundup has been moved one week and will start on Monday, Oct. 31. The roundup is the time of the year for weaning the calves, weighing, grading, culling and selecting and giving each animal in the herd a thorough health check.

Filling Silo

The big trench at the cattle headquarters is now being filled. The corn has long been too dry to make the best silage, so grain sorghums are now going in.

Texas 610, a high-yielding grain sorghum has in the past produced excellent silage and has been found to yield nearly as much forage as does corn. This hybrid grain sorghum is the type we are now putting into the silo.

New Greenhouse

Bill Courter, horticultural extensionist, and Bob Gilmore, research forester, are not content to grow vegetables and trees only during the summer. These fellows are now erecting a 30 by 30 foot greenhouse on the Station.

Horses

The quarter horses are still doing well on the Station's fescue and orchardgrass pastures. Recently one of the yearling stallions was sold to Lendell Pullen of Metropolis, Illinois. We still have a beautiful, well-muscled yearling stallion to sell.

Self-Feeding Soybean Meal

Cattle researcher George Cmarik is supplying soybean oil meal to yearling cattle on grass pastures. Spring pasture grains on grass are usually excellent, but summer grains are often disappointing. George hopes to overcome some of this summer slump by feeding protein.

The aim is to get about one pound of soybean oil meal in each animal each day. By adding salt to the meal, we can control consumption at the self-feeders. The present mixture is 40 pounds of salt to 60 pounds of soybean oil meal.

and provide an increase of about one percent in milk production compared with a year ago. But this increase is less than the growth in population, which is about 1 two-thirds percent a year. If the reduction in cow numbers is halted, increased production per cow would soon produce surplus problems.

The government price-support program for milk and cream is carried out by CCC purchases of cheese, butter and nonfat dry milk.

Sales of cheese to the CCC have decreased to the vanishing point over the past four years. Such sales declined from 241 million pounds in 1957 to 80 million pounds in 1958, to 5 million pounds in 1959 and to less than ½ million pounds so far this year.

Butter Purchases Decline

Purchases of butter for price support decreased from 359 million pounds in 1953 to 124 million pounds last year. So far this year the CCC has brought about the same amount of butter as in 1959.

Price-support purchases of nonfat dry milk reached an all-time record high of 886 million pounds in 1958 and then declined to 830 million pounds last year. Deliveries to the United States Department of Agriculture have continued at about the same rate so far in 1960.

Average prices received by farmers for milk have been steadily higher since 1954. An exception was 1958, when prices declined a bit. The Illinois farm price for fluid milk markets averaged $3.80 per hundred pounds in August, 20 cents more than a year before.

Cow numbers are decreasing faster in Illinois than in most other states. In the past 10 years Illinois lost 30 percent of its cows, while the whole country lost only 13 percent.

BURLINGTON GUEST

GEORGE A. BROWN of Waverly has been selected as one of the 1960 Burlington FFA Award winners in Illinois and will be guest of the railroad at a breakfast on Oct. 12, to be held in conjunction with the 33rd national FFA convention in Kansas City.

He was chosen for this award by Illinois FFA officials, on the basis of his accomplishments in Future Farmers of America projects and activities. He received his State Farmer degree in 1959 and is now serving as sectional vice president, in charge of the 21 FFA chapters in Morgan, Scott, Greene, Jersey, Calhoun and Macoupin counties.

The Burlington railroad makes these awards each year to encourage FFA work in Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin.

Taxes paid on Illinois farm land climbed to a record high in 1959. Illinois landowners paid out $118.7 million, or 14 percent of their net income.

Additional Funds Available Here For ACP Work

Wallace T. Hembrough, manager of the ASC office, reported last week that Morgan County has received additional ACP funds which are available to farmers who can complete approved practices before Dec. 31.

Morgan County has been allocated an additional $9,770 to help those farmers who wish to improve their land by the addition of plant foods, terraces, ponds, waterways, or other approved practices.

This amount is in addition to the 1960 allocation of $92,366 for Morgan County. It was allocated by the state committee from unused portions of funds earlier set aside for other Illinois counties.

All interested farmers who can complete authorized practices by Dec. 31 are invited to inquire at the ASC office on East State street.

SHORTHORN BREEDER JOINS ASSOCIATION

David LaKamp, rural route 1, Chapin, Illinois has become a member in the American Shorthorn Association, oldest purebred livestock organization in America.

Shorthorns led the purebred movement to America, the first cargo landing at Virginia in 1783. The breed spread rapidly throughout the country, eventually replacing the longhorn cattle on the Western ranges. The polled, or naturally hornless, strain was developed after the Civil War.

Locker Service Co-Op Pays First Dividend

The Morgan County Locker Service, meat processing corporation organized by the Farm Bureau in 1948, featured its annual meeting Thursday evening by paying a 5% dividend, the first dividend since it was organized in 1948.

The cooperative has a slaughtering plant on Old State Road and a service outlet and retail store at 320 E. Court street. Capitalization is $95,000.

About 125 stockholders attended the meeting, which was held in Farm Bureau hall.

A. Paul Johnson of Ashland, president of the cooperative, presided at the business meeting. Albert McNeely, secretary, rural route 4, read the minutes; Louis Boddy, treasurer, rural route 2, gave the financial report, and Dick Wells, manager since August, 1951, gave his report.

J. D. Bunting was the chairman of the nominating committee. Following his report all directors were reelected to serve another year. They are: Chester A. Thomason, Chapin; Clyde York, rural route 4; Earl Myers, Literberry; Robert Schall, Concord; Johnson, McNeely and Boddy.

U.I. Computer Measures Worth Of Dairy Cows

URBANA—The Dairy Herd Improvement association record-processing center in Urbana is fast becoming a big hit among Illinois dairymen.

University of Illinois dairy scientist Garv Harpestad says more than 1,000 of the state's dairymen are letting the processing center's giant electronic computer keep track of their production records.

About half of the herds on test in Illinois are now enrolled in the program. And herds are being switched from field to central processing at the rate of about 50 to 60 each month.

He believes the computer will eventually handle records for all of the cows on test in Illinois.

How Do Farmers Feel? Reports Here Oct. 13

Farm Bureau leaders of 17 or more counties will come to Jacksonville Thursday, Oct. 13, for a policy development report meeting. It will be held at Central Christian church, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Edwin J. Gumm of Galesburg, I. A. A. vice president, will preside and representatives of each county will present the composite views of their members on national, state and local problems. These views were compiled following local policy development meetings held in August and September.

Gumm says "This will not be a discussion meeting. The representative of each county will tell us what his fellow members are thinking on questions that came up at the individual meetings. These findings will be consolidated for presentation to the tentative resolutions committee when it meets in Chicago in November."

Gary Strang of Murrayville will report for Morgan County. His committee held four sectional meetings early this month, in Concord, Woodson, Franklin and Jacksonville.

The Jacksonville report meeting will be one of six to be held in the state. Others will be in Carbondale, Salem, Champaign, Galesburg and DeKalb.

Name Arenzville Man As U.I. Ag Adviser

Dean Louis B. Howard of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture has announced the names of 38 leaders in agriculture and industry who will serve on advisory committees for the coming year.

Committee members are recommended by the departments, and the appointments are approved by the President and the University of Illinois Board of Trustees. Appointments are effective September 1.

These advisory committees are appointed to assist the Dean of the College and the departments in keeping abreast of the needs of agriculture in research, teaching and extension.

Committee members usually meet once or twice each year with the various departments.

Martin Burrus of the Burrus Seed Farms, Arenzville, has been appointed to the general advisory committee, which is made up of one man from each of the departmental advisory committees: agricultural economics, agricultural engineering, agronomy, animal science, dairy science, forestry and horticulture.

Burrus was appointed to the agronomy committee in 1959.

J. R. Fulkerson of Fulkerson Farms, Jerseyville, continues as honorary lifetime member of the animal science committee and Henry A. Longmeyer of Greenfield has two more years to serve on this board.

In forestry, Lorenz F. Tammen of Danforth replaces A. C. Hart of Arenzville on the advisory board. Hart has completed a three-year term on this committee. Tammen heads the Midwest Soil Testing Service.

Hessian flies are presenting the biggest threat in recent years to fall-planted wheat fields. A recent survey shows that Hessian flies have increased this year to an average of 11.4 puparia per 100 stalks of wheat. Last year the average was only 9.2 puparia.

Two-thirds of our farm population produce less than one-fourth of the total product going through the market.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

DAIRY PRICES TOP SUPPORTS

The dairy situation has been fairly well stabilized for five or six years. No major change is expected in the year ahead.

The President recently signed a bill to raise price supports to 80 percent of parity—from 77 percent. This change will not have much effect on market prices, which were already at or above the 80 percent level. In August, prices received by farmers for butterfat averaged 80 percent of parity, while prices received for milk averaged 85 percent.

Total milk production in the United States has held around 125 billion pounds annually for five years. Total output has been stable because the increase in production per cow has been offset by a decrease in the number of cows.

Fewer Cows

Cow numbers decreased less this year than in 1959 and 1958. In those years many dairymen shifted to beef cattle. The decline in prices of beef cattle in the past 18 months has tended to slow the switch from dairy to beef. The increase in production per cow has offset the decline in cow numbers

Farm Wives Can Help Reduce Accidents

Best way to help is through a mid-morning and mid-afternoon "break," says O. L. Hogsett, safety specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Naturally, Hogsett says, the best way to get a busy farmer to stop for a short relaxation period is to tempt him with some refreshments—hot rolls and coffee, maybe.

Reasons behind this advice are records that show a distinct peak in corn harvest accidents about 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. each day. With several hours of picking already behind him and quitting time still a long way off, a farmer tends to get careless and may actually be "lulled" into an accident.

Hogsett says the little time lost for breaks can easily be paid for by the accident that doesn't happen and in cleaner, safer picking by a more alert operator. The important thing is to get the operator to take a brief rest, even if it takes your best dessert to do it.

The unofficial post office motto, "Neither Snow nor Rain nor Heat nor Gloom of Night Stays These Couriers from the Swift Completion of Their Appointed Rounds," was taken from Herodotus. It describes the expedition of the Greeks against the Persians in 500 B. C.

ACROSS THE FIELDS AND FURROWS

The Institute of Life Insurance has been studying the census figures and passes these along. There is a direct relation between education and lifetime income. A man with only a grade school education can expect to earn about $178,000, in his life, with a high school education the figure is $243,000., with 4 years of college it averages $347,000. Naturally earning power varies widely but these are the averages. And of course, there is more to education than the mere ability to make money.

BIRTHDAY PARADE

Kris Lambert

Kyle Lambert

Jaeson Lee Pierson

Kathy Lee Pierson

Jaeson is making his first appearance in the Birthday Parade as he celebrates his one-year-old Birthday of September 14.

Kathy is back again as she looks forward to blowing out those 2 candles on her Birthday cake tomorrow, October 3.

Steven Bradley and Christine Elnora Littig

Michelle Rose Littig

Susan Perkins

Christine had 3 candles to blow out on her Birthday cake on September 27, and Steven was a whole 2 years old August 28.

Rebecca Jo Lockett

Herbie Orris Lindsay Jr.

Rebecca is another first marcher. She was one year old September 28, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lockett of 306 E. Vandalia Road. Rebecca has two brothers, Michael Allen, age 4, and 6-year-old Charles David Herbie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert O. Lindsay of Route 1, is also a first marcher, and celebrated his very first Birthday yesterday, Oct. 1, with the assistance of Pooch, his Cocker puppy.

He is a fourth generation boy—on both sides of his family. His maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edw. F. Strubbe, and his maternal great grandmothers are Mrs. Joseph Hayes and Mrs. Henry Strubbe. On his father's side are grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Orris R. Lindsay and great grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Reat Moody.

Susan writes—

"I am 8 years old. My Birthday is October 2 on Sunday.

"I love to draw."

PARTY FOR TWO

Patti and Dale Gregory enjoyed a Birthday Party for two Sunday, September 4. Dale was one-year-old September 2, and Patti was two September 10.

Their Birthday cake was made by their Great-Aunt Mrs. Ray Claywell and Grandmother Mrs. Chester Little. Served with it was ice-cream made by their Grandmother Mrs. Fred Gregory.

Guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gregory and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Claywell, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tankersley, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Little, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Freesen, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Gregory and family all from Winchester.

Patti and Dale received many lovely gifts.

BIRTHDAY WISH

YOUR BIRTHDAY

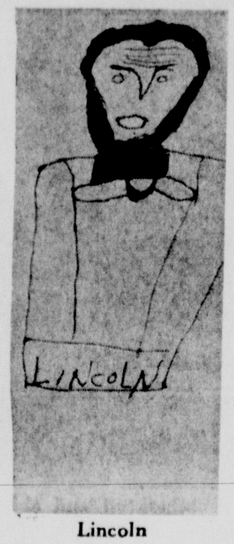

To march in the Birthday Parade, send your name, address, age and Birthdate—with a snapshot if you have one—to the Jacksonville Junior Journal Courier two weeks before your Birthday. Photos may be called for as soon as they have appeared in the paper.

If you have a party, write and tell us about that later.

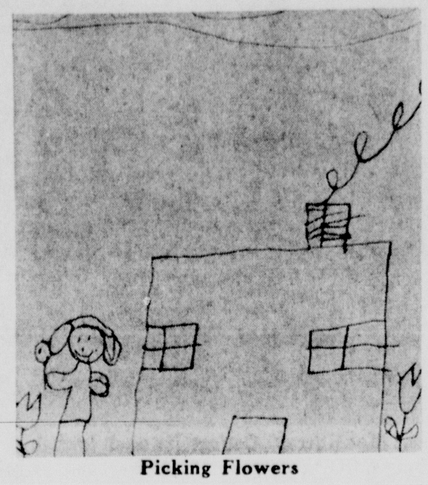

Dickey Children Like To Draw

Picking Flowers

Jolly Fellow

The children in the Dickey family like to draw as you can see by the pictures above. They all go to the Lynnville school. Russell, age 12, grade 6, drew the ducks; Billy, age 10, grade 6, Lincoln; Shawn, age 9, grade 5, girl and flowers; and Donald, age 8, grade 2, drew the jolly fellow with the unusual house.

These Dickey children may now come in any time for their JUNIOR JOURNALIST PENCILS and JUNIOR PRESS CARDS which you also may have by sending in something you have drawn—just 4 inches square—or something you have written. Be sure that your work is not copied or traced—just look around you or into your imagination.

A Talking Shower

Part 3. No More Raindrops

In her pretty yellow dress with the puffed sleeves the lady stoys in the store while the cloud tries to send more rain.

"I can't," the cloud discovered. "I am out of raindrops!"

"Look! Here come more people, they are even wearing rubbers and raincoats, and those little triangles they tie over their hair!"

All but out of breath, the wind gave one more push and the sky playmates rollicked away.

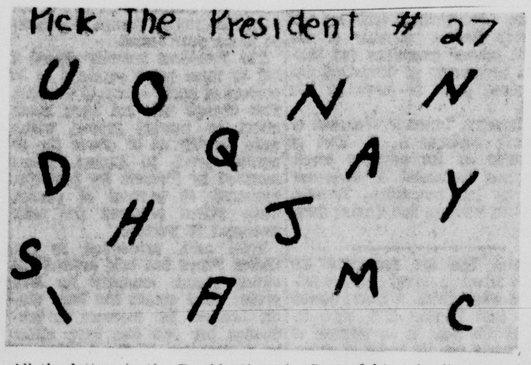

"It was fun to surprise those little girls," the cloud admitted, "but I did hate to spoil that yellow dress and those cool puffed sleeves." "Why didn't they look at the sky?" the wind murmured, you were in sight all morning. Thunder a little next time, they will think to bring along their rain togs, maybe; can you go back tomorrow?"

"I believe so," the cloud looked about. "It has not been hard to find plenty of moisture this year."

Let's Go Birding—

Chickadee Kin Makes Birder Feel At Home

By Emma Mae Leonhard

Whenever a bird lover is traveling in a foreign land, even though he isn't on a special bird expedition, he can't resist concentrating his gaze on any bird in his view. He sees something that looks and acts like a Chickadee but doesn't talk like one. He is careless enough to almost settle for a Chickadee.

Then he notices that all of these so-called chickadees don't look or sound exactly the same. Some have more black on them than others. Some look blue as they flit from one branch to another.

The birder wonders whether there is something wrong with himself; is he seeing blue? If a person can "see red," as we say, why can't he "see blue"?

Since this birder isn't a professional ornithologist, he will turn to his bird book, probably Peterson's "Field Guide to the Birds of Britain and Europe," and finger through the book, looking for color plates of birds that look like his native Chickadee. He finds a whole page of birds, twelve to be exact, that possess similar characteristics in general: the birds have stubby bills; their position suggests agility and the peculiar activity of hanging upside down in their search for food just like real acrobats.

These birds are called Tits. And then the birder recalls that he has read about Tits in some stories concerning England.

He begins to read the description of each little bird and soon finds that the Marsh Tit sometimes gives out a scolding "chick-adeedeedee." He now knows that the English Tit must be a cousin to his Chickadee, and he feels almost at home.

Then he is amused at his next thought: he himself has many cousins, some far removed, some unknown to him. Perhaps the other eleven kinds of Tits are also cousins to his Chickadee. He begins to become acquainted with some of them. He discovers a Chickadee with a blue crown, wings, and tail, a beautiful bird; and he knows that he has identified the Blue Tit.

He comes upon a brightly colored chickadee, one with a clear yellow breast with a black band running from its black bib straight down the center of its breast. He discovers that it is called the Great Tit and that it is the largest common tit. He continues to see many of this species.

Before this bird lover leaves England, he has identified six Tit cousins of his chickadee. All of them were friendly curious acrobats similar to his Chickadee.

All of them chatted as they flitted from branch to branch, hanging upside down as gracefully as right side up, just as he recalled his Chickadee doing; and he didn't feel so far away from home.

Rockets And Space—

SPACE CAPSULE LANDING

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

This series of pictures shows a scale model of a Project Mercury space capsule being dropped in a water tank to simulate (copy) the landing, in the ocean, of a real capsule.

This test was carried out by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) Langley Research Center. It is part of an extensive research program supporting Project Mercury's aim of putting a man into orbit and bringing him back alive.

On landing, the Project Mercury capsule is expected to hit the water at a speed of 30 feet a second (about 20 miles per hour). The capsule uses two parachutes to slow down to this speed from the velocity with which it reenters the atmosphere. After landing, the capsule is designed to float upright, as shown in the lower right hand picture, until specially trained recovery teams pick it up.

The NASA is carrying on other test programs of an engineering nature, as well as research and advancement into pilot safety directly. These programs are providing the NASA with a basis for a detailed design and building of the final orbital capsule.

The engineering test program includes such things as: wind-tunnel tests; dropping full-scale capsules and parachute-test models from high-altitude planes; and rocket-powered flights of model and full-scale capsules.

In this extensive test program, for example, hundreds of models of the Project Mercury capsule have been tested by the staffs of the various NASA research centers, and other government laboratories. These models have ranged from one-thirtieth-scale to full scale.

To study the reentry of the capsule, hot jets and other specialized research facilities are being used. During reentry the temperature on the leading end of the capsule will rise to 11,000° Fahrenheit. Fortunately, throughout these experiments, the NASA has been able to provide the capsule with a heat shield that will keep the temperature inside the capsule from rising above 150° Fahrenheit.

As we mentioned at the beginning of this article, models are being used to test the Project Mercury capsule's landing pattern. Some of these models are as large as the actual capsule. After its flight into orbit the real Project Mercury capsule will land in the South Atlantic Ocean.

Making Friends With Animals

By Joseph A. Smith

Part 2: More Wild Creatures

That quiz last Sunday was too easy you say? Well, if you were just a bit farther north—say in Wisconsin—you might run into these examples of wild life almost any evening late.

(1) D--r.
(2) Be-v-r.
(3) Op---um.
(4) Sk--k (pheuw!)
(5) M-ck--g B--d.
(6) But--f--es.
(7) Ch-pm--k.

These more common wild life are probably simple for you. Still, they too make this life a more interesting thing.

Feeding Station

If you haven't fixed up your feeding station already, why not do so before the first snow and ice come. These are hard times for wild life that don't "go south for the winter."

What do you feed them? Well, crusts of bread broken up into small pieces, crackers broken up, a bit of rice, a few pieces of nuts, perhaps a bit of peanut butter, or a little cocoanut or raisins. Occasionally a bit of lettuce, some cooking type cereal, or similar food will disappear rather quickly.

If you feed them every day, they will soon come to expect it and will never be very far from your home during the regular feeding time.

When is it best to feed them? Well, the best time is early in the morning. Put the food in a pan (a pie pan from a store bought pie can make a fine feeding plate).

Be sure to put it high enough to keep dogs and cats out. If a pan is used, putting a small rock in it will keep it from blowing away. Bring the pan in every night.

Obviously not all those animals mentioned remain around during the winter time. However, the Squirrel, some birds, etc. do, and it is these that need a little help food-wise during the long cold winter months.

1. Deer
2. Beaver
3. Opossum
4. Skunk
5. Mocking Bird
6. Butterflies
7. Chipmunk

True Story—

Long-Ago School Girl

By Mary Pence Claywell

Introduction: This story will consist of true happenings, activities, and typical word pictures of our children at work and play in our one room schools of fifty years ago and more.

If you follow it, dear children, you are sure to get many thrills as you share, in imagination, the joys and also some of the hardships which your early and later ancestors knew, and I'm sure you will like the very first adventure of a little girl named Hannah . . . for it started on the first day of school many years ago:

Part I

Hannah Gets Surprise

Our story opens on September first, and little Hannah was up with the birds . . . for it was the first day of school!

Hannah was all dressed up in a new, red calico dress which Ma had made weeks before, but which had been kept for this very special occasion. Besides, in Hannah's day, mothers made the children's clothes during the vacation months to do them most of the school year. Some even sewed by hand, but most had the old type peddle machine which was a prized possession of any woman.

Ma combed Hannah's long, blond hair and neatly braided it, the ends being turned up under and tied with red ribbons close to her head. Then Hannah scrubbed her feet and legs for she wore no shoes; yet she felt dressed up for it was the custom then to go barefoot until it began to get chilly. The other children would be barefoot too.

As soon as Ma had the lunches packed, Hannah grabbed her tin dinner pail and hit the road for the country school which was more than a mile away according to the way "the crow flies."

It had rained the night before and the untameable creek that Hannah must cross was running rampant over the stepping stones at the crossing.

Hannah was intent on plans to make the crossing as long as possible, for she loved the water, when a clear tinkling voice, that seemed to drop right down from Heaven, fell upon her startled ears.

To Be Continued

Correction

Miss Frances Casey, Robert Lawless Wed

Miss Frances Ann Casey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Casey, Route 1, Murrayville, became the bride of Mr. Robert Lawless, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawless, Route 3, Winchester, Saturday, September 24, at 9 a.m., in a nuptial mass at St. Bartholomew Church performed by Rev. D. F. Lydon.

The bride's attendants were: her sister, Janet, maid of honor; and a sister of the groom, Sharon, bridesmaid. The maid of honor wore a tiered net over taffeta, pink ballerina gown and carried a colonial bouquet of aqua carnations. The bridesmaid wore an identical gown in aqua and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Attendants to the groom were: his brother, Ronald, best man; and a brother of the bride, David, groomsman. Ushers were: Jack Lawless, Jim Connolly and Bob Langdon.

The bride is a 1957 graduate of Routt high school and is employed at Elliott State Bank; the groom is a 1957 graduate of Routt and is engaged in farming.

Miss Barbara Angel, George E. Jones Wed

Miss Barbara Joan Angel and Mr. George E. Jones were united in marriage Sunday, August 28, at the Methodist Church, Crab Orchard, Illinois.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren M. Angel, Route 1, Pittsburgh, Illinois; the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Jones, 623 East Beecher, Jacksonville.

The bride wore a bouffant ballerina gown of Chantilly lace and pleated tulle designed with long tapered sleeves and Sabrina neckline. A pillbox of Chantilly lace and pearls held her veil of imported silk illusion.

She was attended by Miss Judy Hill of Springfield, maid of honor, who wore pink silk with an overskirt and jacket in lace, matching shoes, hat and carried a bouquet of blue baby mums.

Bridesmaids wore blue with nosegay bouquets of pink baby mums. Mrs. Hazel Strong of Jacksonville and Miss Virginia Odom of Marion, Illinois, served as bridesmaids.

The groom was attended by Weldon Highfill of Jacksonville. Serving as groomsmen were J. C. Strong of Jacksonville and Reginald Kemp, an uncle of the groom, also of Jacksonville. Ushers were Robert Bell of Mt. Sterling and William E. Moore of Chicago. The men in the wedding party wore dark business suits.

Reception

A reception in the church basement followed the ceremony. The yellow and white theme was carried out with the use of a yellow lace table cloth decorated with yellow and white baby mums and huckleberry. One hundred guests witnessed the cutting of a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Wanda Moore and Mrs. Thala Singler, sisters of the bride and Mrs. Virginia Kemp, aunt of the groom served refreshments. Mrs. Marie West of Jacksonville registered the guests.

The bride wore pale green brocaded chiffon over taffeta and gold purse and shoes to match as a going away costume accented with an orchid from the bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Crab Orchard high school and has worked for the General Telephone Company since 1956. She was transferred to Jacksonville in 1960. The groom is employed as a cable splicer for General Telephone.

Out of town guests present at the ceremony were: Marie West, Helen West, Bernice Beeley and Donnie, Laurence P. Quinlan, Vicki Hargrave, Ruth Rose, Ruth Finch, Patsy Crabtree, Viola Lawson, Edna Ellering, Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Kemp, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Strong, Weldon Highfill, Margaret McLain, Mrs. Bud Lonergan, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Jones, all of Jacksonville and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bell of Mt. Sterling.

Tuesday Tea For Mrs. Douglas

Emily Taft Douglas, wife of U.S. Senator Paul Douglas who is a candidate for re-election, will be honored at a tea at the Dunlap hotel Tuesday afternoon, October 4, between the hours of 3 and 4 o'clock.

The affair will offer an opportunity for old friends to welcome Mrs. Douglas who is well known in Jacksonville as well as for other interested persons to meet her.

The tea is sponsored by the Morgan County Democrat Committee Women, Mrs. Eunice A. Goischall, chairman; and the Democrat Women's Club, Mrs. Nell Wandell, president.

All interested persons of the Jacksonville community are invited to attend this tea and reception.

CIRCLE DEBORAH MEETING

Circle Deborah will meet with Mrs. Russell Pennell, 5½ miles southwest. Cars will leave the church at 7:00. Assistant hostesses will be Mrs. William Young, Jr., and Mrs. Don Kirchhofer. A fellowship-handwork hour will follow the meeting.

Miss Helen M. Cobb, James J. Jones Wed

Miss Helen M. Cobb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Cobb, 1108 South Main, and James J. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar H. Jones of Seattle, Washington, were united in marriage at a nuptial mass September 24th at 8:30 o'clock at the Church of Our Saviour, Rev. Alvin L. Campbell officiating.

The bride wore a gown of Peau de Soie cut on princess lines of elegant simplicity with a scooped neckline and three quarter sleeves. Three deep horizontal tucks across the hips accented by several life size roses of Peau de Soie formed the back interest of the gown. Her veil of imported silk illusion fell from a simple band of Peau de Soie adorned with an upright leaf motif of lace edged with pearls and highlighted with sequins and crystal tear drops.

Attending the groom were Tony Cobb, brother-in-law of the bride of Avon, Illinois. Usher was Paul Keller, brother-in-law of the bride.

A reception at the Dunlap hotel followed the ceremony. Assisting at the reception were: Mrs. E. J. Kazmierczak, Mrs. William Maloney and Mrs. Paul Keller, sisters of the bride serving cake and coffee; Miss Delores Costello, serving punch; Miss Carole McNamara, Mrs. Sam Dooley at the gift table and Mrs. Jan Sommer registered the gifts.

The bride is a graduate of Routt high school and Holy Cross Central School of Nursing; the groom is a graduate of Seattle schools and is a professional baseball player under contract with the Seattle Rainers.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Jones

Two Couples United At Boston Home

Two Jacksonville area couples were united in marriage at the home of Rev. William J. Boston, Saturday, September 24.

Mrs. Mary Helen Wyatt and William Ohl, Jr., of Jacksonville were united at 7 p.m. in a double ring ceremony. Mrs. Ohl is employed with the City Garden and Mr. Ohl is employed at the Mosley Barber Shop. They will make their home at 1124 North Clay.

Miss Zona Mae Turner and Lester P. Thrasher, both of Murrayville, were united at 8 p.m. in a single ring ceremony. The bride wore a street length blue lace dress and her bridesmaid, Mrs. William T. Gains, wore a blue linen suit. Mr. W. T. Gains was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Thrasher will make their home on Rural Route 2, Jacksonville

Mark Anniversary Of S. Westnedges At White Hall

WHITE HALL—Mrs. Gary Fitzjarrell will serve as hostess on Sunday afternoon from 2 to 4 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Westnedge, who will observe their 25th wedding anniversary on that date. She will be assisted by Mrs. Reginald Williams and Mrs. Lloyd Strowmatt.

Mrs. Westnedge is the former Glendola Castleberry, daughter of Mrs. Mamie and the late Silas Castleberry and Mr. Westnedge's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Westnedge. The couple were married in Edwardsville, Ill., Oct. 4, 1935, by Rev. L. R. Coffman. Friends are cordially invited to attend the open house.

Maloney, Redshaw Wedding Vows At Webster Groves

Large baskets of white gladiolas, pompoms and cushion mums with low arrangements of cushion mums in autumn colors adorned the altar of the Church of Our Holy Redeemer in Webster Groves, Missouri for the wedding of Miss Patricia Ann Maloney and Lieutenant Steven Allyn Redshaw Saturday, September 17th.

The vows were received by the Reverend Father Donald E. Sullivan at 10:30 in the morning before a large gathering of friends and relatives.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Maloney of Webster Groves. The bridegroom is he son of Mrs. Frank Redshaw of Winchester and the late Frank Redshaw.

The bride was preceded by Miss Nancy Picraux, maid of honor, and Miss Janice Harper, cousin of the bridegroom, bridesmaid, down the white carpeted aisle illuminated with hurricane lamps on tall white standards in baskets of white gladiolas and mums tied with white satin bows and holding white wedding tapers marking the pews.

They were gowned alike in jadette silk organza. Their street length dresses were cut with scoop necklines, brief sleeves and bouffant three tiered skirts. Blue green feather headbands with matching veils completed their costumes. They carried bouquets of yellow fuji chrysanthemums.

They were met at the altar by the best man, Robert Minkler, and groomsman, Harry Bradford.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a bridal gown of light ivory silk mist taffeta. The bodice and short sleeves were entirely of handsome re-embroidered Alencon lace, highlighted with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The dome shaped skirt, lavishly embroidered in Alencon lace motifs studded with sequins and pearls, fell straight to the floor in front becoming full at the sides and back and sweeping into a chapel train. A band of matching peau de soie marking the empire waistline ended in a bow and streamers at the center back.

The bridegroom, his best man, groomsman and the ushers, Theodore Ice, Edward and Michael Prendergast, were all attired in formal morning dress with lillies of the valley boutonnieres.

After an early supper served to relatives and friends on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maloney, Lieutenant and Mrs. Redshaw left by plane for a short honeymoon in Chicago. The bride's going away outfit was a black and brown plaid suit, with brown accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

Lt. Redshaw is a graduate of the Winchester high school and St. Louis University. Mrs. Redshaw is also a St. Louis University graduate with the class of 1960.

Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Springer, Mr. and Mrs. James Dwyer, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Spangler, Mr. and Mrs. Dana O'Donnell, Mr. and Mrs. Randall Killebrew, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Garrison, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Walt, Mr. and Mrs. James Dwyer.

Mrs. Ralph Peak, Mrs. Mark Peak, Mrs. B. F. Walker, Mrs. Hal McLaughlin, Mrs. Patrick Lashmett, Mrs. Paul Lehman, Mrs. Reaugh Jennings, Mrs. Norbert Hutchens, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Redshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Warner Harper, all of Winchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, Miss Eleanor Brockhouse and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Brockhouse, all of Chapin, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Ice of Lawrence, Kansas.

The bidding of today's hand might be called exotic. North and South were using weak two bids and got to a very doubtful game which West doubled.

The ten of diamonds was opened and dummy's ace won the trick. The queen of diamonds was played next and South ruffed East's king. West played the four!

The jack of hearts held the next trick. West won the next heart lead and played a third round of trumps. East's two discards were a diamond and the three of clubs. Now South discarded a spade on the jack of diamonds and eventually lost two clubs and a spade to get out for down one.

Had East hung on to that little club South would have had to go down one more for a two trick loss.

East's play was wrong, but he explained by saying that he read his partner's play of the diamond four at trick two as a suit preference play to indicate strength in clubs.

West's emphatic reply was that he thought East could use the services of a bridge doctor if one could be found and I have to agree with West. East was just suit preference happy.

With The Girl Scouts

Girl Scout calendars went on sale Saturday, Oct. 1, and will be on sale during the entire month. You may purchase one of these convenient appointment calendars from any Girl Scout in your community. Troops use this means of adding to their troop treasuries in addition to the cookie sale in the spring. Only these two projects are used to raise money for Girl Scouts. Troop leaders are urged to encourage their girls to sell calendars since each sale represents 15c for the troop treasury, while only 5c is realized for the troop from each box of cookies sold.

Come to the Scout office at 110 North East street to get a supply for your troop. Calendars sell for 35c and are in demand by those who have used them other years.

Basic Training

Two very successful days of basic training for Brownie and Intermediate leaders were held last week at the Scout office. Trainers were Mrs. Robert Hartman, executive director, and Mrs. Charles Nicholson. The first day was spent as a whole group with Mrs. Hartman explaining the basic elements of Girl Scouting. The second day was spent with the group divided into Brownie and Intermediate groups and practical lessons were given in how to lead girls of that particular age.

Attending were Mrs. Guy O. Kinser, Mrs. Lloyd Spencer, Mrs. Edward Kahl, Mrs. Velma M. Wyman and Mrs. Verona M. Wallach, all of Greenfield; Mrs. Ruth Points, Mrs. Marjorie Brown and Mrs. Earl Turner of Waverly; Mrs. John Stansfield of Meredosia and the following persons from Jacksonville: Mrs. Willard Fulkerson, Mrs. Joan Smith, Mrs. Kay Mangan, Mrs. Helen Hayes, Mrs. Irvin Todd, Mrs. Harvey Leake, Mrs. John Newcomb and Mrs. George E. Trutter.

Mothers' meetings in the interest of starting new troops were held last week at Lafayette and Washington schools in Jacksonville and in Alsey and Eldred.

Workshop Planned

Leading the schedule for events next week is the Birthday Years Workshop, a training session to help leaders plan for the important years in Girl Scouting, from Oct. 31, 1960 to 1963. Oct. 31 marks the 100th anniversary of the birth of Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouting in the U.S.A. Many special observances of this date are planned. Illinois Prairie Council will hold a special dinner meeting on Monday, Oct. 24, at 6:30 p.m. at Central Christian church in Jacksonville to observe this event. March, 1962, marks the 50th anniversary of Girl Scouting in this country. The Birthday Years Workshop outlining projects for this observance will be held Tuesday, Oct. 4, at 9:30 a.m. at the Girl Scout office. Plan to attend to get help in your preparation for the Birthday Years.

Three board committees will meet next week at the Scout office:

Camp Committee, Mrs. Howard Houlette of Greenfield, chairman, will meet at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 5, at the Scout office.

Public Relations committee, Mrs. George McNamara of Jacksonville, chairman, will meet at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 6, at the Scout office.

Program committee, Mrs. William Gross of Jacksonville, chairman, will meet at 11:30 a.m. Friday, Oct. 7, at Hamilton's cafe in Jacksonville.

We are a United Fund Agency.

GREENFIELD GIRL AT BLACKBURN FOR FRESHMAN COURSE

CARLINVILLE, Ill., — Carla M. Barnett, of R.R. 1, Greenfield, Ill., this week enrolled as a freshman at Blackburn College here for the academic year 1960-61.

Miss Barnett, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Barnett, is a graduate of Greenfield High School. She plans to major in elementary Education while at Blackburn.

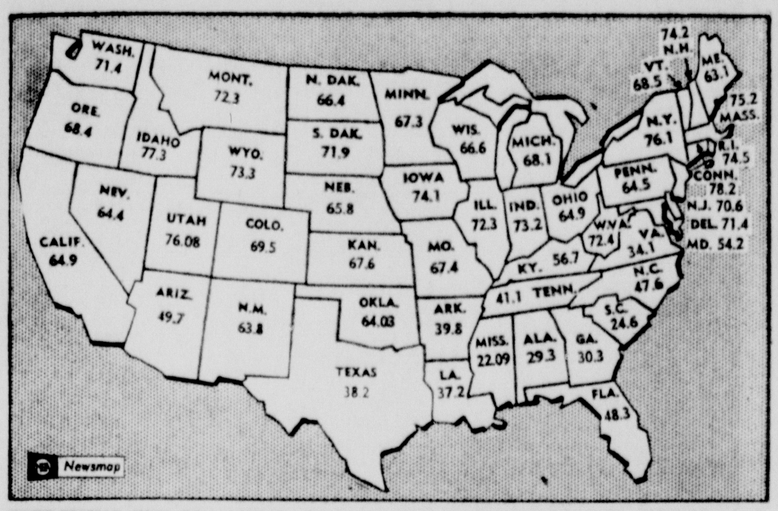

Blackburn College, the famed "work - study" school requires each student to work 15 hours per week on campus "housekeeping" duties in partial payment for his education. Students literally "run" the college, save for the teaching.

LISTEN TO WLDS

W. S. C. S. TO MEET

The Brooklyn Woman's Society of Christian Service will meet October 5 at 7:30 p.m. at the church. Richard Nesmith, professor of social science, will be the speaker.

This is a family night. The officers will be hostesses. An offering will be taken for the Langleyville Settlement.

EXERCISING THE FRANCHISE—The percentage of the population 21 and over which actually went to the polls to cast a ballot in the 1956 presidential election is given for each state on the map above. Connecticut was tops with 78.2 per cent. Mississippi was lowest with 22.09 per cent.

Morgan-Scott Home Bureau Holds Meeting

MEREDOSIA — The Progressive Unit of the Morgan-Scott Home Bureau met at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Vandeventer on Sept. 21.

Mrs. Oscar Nortrup, unit chairman, opened the meeting with the pledge to the flag, followed by singing a number of songs. Mrs. Robert Lansink gave the lesson, "Your Hair, Your Hat, and Your Neckline." She asked different members to bring a hat and model it.

The minor lesson was a study of Scotland given by Mrs. Aldo Hierman. She brought with her some Scottish bread which she had made and served it to the women.

The unit chairman then had charge of the business meeting. Secretary's and treasurer's reports were read by Mrs. Marvin Schlicker. Roll call was answered by "How and where I spent my vacation."

Announcement was made of the bus trip for Home Bureau members to the Amana colony in Iowa on Sept. 27. Also the annual meeting will be held in Jacksonville on Oct. 27, at the Central Christian church.

The highlights of the county board meeting for August and September were read by the chairman. An offering, "Pennies for Friendship," was taken.

The election of officers resulted in the following: unit chairman, Mrs. Marvin Schlieker; vice chairman, Mrs. Alvin Unland; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Albert Telling.

The October meeting will be at the high school with Miss Graves, home advisor, giving the lesson on "Southern Cookery" and Mrs. Raymond Scott will present the selected subject, "Soil and Water Conservation."

Mrs. Minnie Steinberg and Mrs. Henry Schroeder had charge of the recreation period.

Dag Hammarskjold--- World's No. 1 Civil Servant

Dag Hammarskjold, a 55-year-old Swedish career diplomat, is secretary-general of the United Nations, the world organization's chief administrative officer. He has been described as a wealthy and cultivated man who has spent his life avoiding the spectacular. He is a bachelor who likes French literature, modern theater, modern poetry and modern art. He speaks English, French, German and Swedish. He has a law degree and a Ph.D. in economics. Hammarskjold (the name means "hammer shield") was appointed April 7, 1953, to succeed fellow Scandinavian Trygve Lie. Some say the weak structure of the U.N. charter has forced him to perfection as an independent arbiter, a course which has earned him Western discontent in the past as well as Khrushchev's current carping attacks. Hammarskjold's credo: "I am here to serve you all."

Publicity-shy Dag Hammarskjold is the target of a battery of newsreel cameramen at his desk in the U.N. Secretariat Building. He had just succeeded Trygve Lie as secretary-general, "the most impossible job in the world," in April, 1953. He had been a delegate.

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, then U.S. Air Force chief of staff, thanks Hammarskjold on May 2, 1955, for his work in obtaining the release of 11 U.S. airmen held in Communist China.

Grim-faced secretary-general warns the Security Council that the Congo could result in war.

will observe their fiftieth wedding anniversary with open house from two to five p.m. Sunday Oct. 9 at their home on North 7th street. They are extending an invitation to all their relatives and friends to attend the open house.

Miss Eunice Walters and Joseph Langer were married in Carrollton Oct. 6, 1910 by the Rev. Father D. J. Moroney. Their attendants were Mrs. Mary Langer Cordes of Carrollton and the late George Keiper.

Mr. and Mrs. Langer have spent their married life in and near Carrollton. They moved to Carrollton in 1958 when Langer retired from farming.

They are the parents of seven children, Lester Langer of Alton, Mrs. J. C. Ritchey of Seattee, Washington; Mrs. R. W. Dotson of Perry, Florida; Mrs. Wayne Guthrie of Godfrey; Mrs. Florence Reif, Mrs. James Flowers and Joseph Langer Jr. of Carrollton. They also have 19 grandchildren and 4 great-grandchildren.

Horse Shoe Pitching

Approximately 32 horse shoe pitchers of Carrollton and the surrounding vicinity are entered in the singles horseshoe tournament which will be held Sunday, Oct. 2 at 1 p.m. at Wright Memorial Park. Edward Pohlman is in charge of plans for the events.

Pleads Guilty

Russell C. Haneline of Jerseyville pleaded guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor this week in Greene county court and was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to ten days imprisonment at the Greene county jail.

Heads Future Teachers

Miss Donna Riechmann was elected president of the Future Teachers of America of the Carrollton Community Unit High School at an election held Tuesday at the school. Other officers elected were Charles Helton, vice president; Miss Susan Jones, secretary; Miss Mignon Bishop, treasurer; Miss Karen Parker, reporter and librarian and Danny Pohlman, sergeant at arms.

In discussing and planning for the October Homecoming of the local school, Miss Jackie Horn was named chairman of a float committee, the committee members being, Miss Donna Hindelang, Gene Gourley, Fred Emshousen, Miss Joanne Frank, Miss Lana Jones, Miss Sue Ellen Carrico, and Charles Helton. A social committee also appointed consists of Miss Karen Parker, chairman, Miss Carol Farrow Miss Margie Holtswarth, Danny Pohlman, Gene Gourley, Gary Carter, J. B. Trost, Charles Koster. Miss Betty Roth of the school faculty is the sponsor of the Future Teachers of America.

YEAR'S BOOKS

During 1958, 697 new biographies were published in the United States. In the same year appeared 1,522 childrens books, 2,235 works of fiction, 97 books on music and 451 books of poetry and drama.

In Hollywood

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

BRAY, COUNTY WICKLOW, Ireland (AP)—The green hills of Ireland may be an odd place to talk about a new actors' strike in Hollywood with a Swiss actress—but it happened here.

"I think actors should strike again," says blonde Maria Schell, "not against the movie industry but against the television industry for what they do to our old movies.

"When an artist puts his or her creative work into a movie, that work should not be destroyed by having a commercial for deodorant or used cars interrupt every 15 minutes.

"The last time I was in the United States I saw 'The Last Bridge,' a picture I made in Vienna. When it was first shown in cinema houses it lasted an hour and a half. It still lasted an hour and a half on television but I counted 12 different commercials. Important scenes were cut, probably with a scissors at the station, to make time for the commercials.

"I realize that commercials are needed to pay for the time but they should be placed discreetly. In one love scene an announcer cut in to advertise some lozenges for bad breath."

American actors gradually are coming around to the British way of judging parts, i.e. by dramatic impact rather than the number of pages in the script.

Janet Leigh is only in the first 45 minutes of "Psycho" but the role is one of the greatest in her career. Husband Tony Curtis has what amounts to little more than a bit in "Spartacus" but studio sources say it's an Oscar part—and for supporting category.

In "The Mark," Rod Steiger worked only two weeks while Stu Whitman, in practically every scene, worked three months.

"Some basso from La Scala dubs all my pictures in Italian. When I see my lips move on that screen and hear that deep voice, I know the Italians must think I'm the most virile actor in the movies.

North Scott Club Enjoys Year Of Varied Activities

BLUFFS—The North Scott Saddle Club, one of the most recent to be organized in this area, has taken an active part in parades and shows throughout the west-central Illinois area. The club was organized at the Oxville store on October 14, 1959 with 11 families present at the first meeting. The present membership numbers 74.

First social event was a Halloween party held at the Donald Collison farm. First benefit show undertaken by the club was written and directed by one of the members and the proceeds given to the Bluffs Band Boosters. White Hall was the first attempt at a parade—the annual Lions club event. Several members carried trophies and awards away from the event.

Other events in which the club has participated include the Winchester Burgoo and Horse Show, Kampsville Legion parade, Barry Horse Show, Hardin Apple Festival and the Fort Madison parade. Full participation by the club was marked at the Bluffs Legion and Auxiliary Fall Festival this year.

Trophies won by the club are on display at the Oxville store and a full range of events are in the planning stage for the near future.

Vocational Education Meeting At Carrollton

CARROLLTON — Herbert Damisch and Ralph Guthrie of the State Board of Vocational Education conducted a dinner meeting on vocational education sponsored by the Board of Vocational Education of Springfield and held Thursday from 4:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Carrollton Community Unit High School. Special stress was given to Vocational Agriculture.

Local people on the program were Louis C. Schreiter, superintendent of the Carrollton School Unit, Donald Griffith and Ray Roll of the Roll and Company.

Fifty school administrators, county superintendents of schools, vocational agriculture teachers and counselors from Jersey, Calhoun, Scott, Morgan, Macoupin and Greene counties were in attendance.

Parents Night

Parents Night in the Vocational Agriculture I class at the Carrollton Community Unit High School was held Monday night September 25 to acquaint the parents with the type of work which is being done in the agricultural department of the schools which included the studying of farm leasing practices, units on the operation, adjustment and repair of plows and they will soon learn to adjust machinery in the field. Some of the classes are also studying weed control and wheat production.

Lutheran Convention

Mrs. Richard Reichmann and Mrs. Orville Lovekamp attended the 10th biennual convention of the Southern Illinois Distrit of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League held in East St. Louis Wednesday at the Trinity Lutheran church. 172 delegates and 402 guests from 95 societies attended the all day session with 23 pastors and 13 board members also present.

The sermon in the opening service was delivered by the Rev Edward Schmidt, pastor of the Trinity church and the offering of $406.30 was designated for the Southern Illinois District church extension fund.

Mrs. Hermon Koppelmann, wife of the executive secretary of Missions of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, described to the assembled delegates many interesting facts from foreign lands visited on a recent world tour of countries in which the two and one half million member church body has missionaries. The convention favored sponsorship of an annual Day of Prayer and the use of the educational material prepared by the International L.W.M.L. for the study of World and Home Missions.

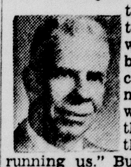

The Convention officers elected at the close of the session were Mrs. Hartman, Baldwin, second vice president; Mrs. H. G. Zilm, Carlinville, treasurer; Mrs. Edward Gardner, Jerseyville, recording secretary; Mrs. Ottmar Donner, Mascoutah and Mrs. B. J. Dubberstein, Carrollton, executive board members at large ano the Rev. T. J. Klein, Nokomis, pastoral counselor.

As I See It

by E. W. BROWN

With more and more computers and electronic brains being developed all the time, things are getting to the point where, as somebody said, "you can't tell anymore whether we're running the machines or the machines are running us." But scientists say there's nothing to worry about. When asked recently just what the chances were of our becoming the slaves and the machines the masters, a quartet of scientists . . . two engineers and two psychologists . . . said that though we may delegate many of our native functions to machines, man isn't ever likely to become obsolete. They claim the "brains" will never be able to duplicate man's intellectual processes completely because they have trouble with cerebration. But we have our doubts. What about those sneaky TV sets that go on the blink just when your favorite TV show is about to start?

USE ELECTRICITY FOR . . .

an extra measure of... LUXURIOUS LIVING!

At this time of the year many home owners are planning improvements and additions. When making these plans, be sure to consider electricity. First, make sure you have provided adequate wiring. Modern appliances require heavy duty circuits for economical performance. The service box should be large enough to carry at least eight circuits for normal electric needs plus extra circuits available for appliances, air conditioning, and possibly heating. Include ample electrical outlets and lighting in your home so you can enjoy the pleasures of electrical living. Kitchen improvements especially should have plenty of electrical circuits.

Remember, too, that you can qualify for your City, Water, Light, & Power Department's low residential combination rate if you have electric ranges, electric water heaters, and/or, an electric clothes dryer in use in your home. The new electric heat rate gives you even a lower rate. These rates are the lowest in the community and offer you substantial savings.

CHAMP BECOMES A MOTHER

TORONTO (AP)— Mrs. J. Douglas Streit, the former Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., Friday became the mother of a 7½-pound baby girl. It is her first child.

Mrs. Streit is the only Canadian to have captured the Canadian, British and United States Women's Amateur Golf Championships.

2nd Bribe Offer To Collegiate Player Disclosed

By DICK PYLE

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — State police Friday revealed that an unsuccessful attempt to bribe a star Oregon football player was made the day before the Michigan game here last Saturday.

Detective Lt. Carl Robinson of the state police rackets squad said the attempt, involving a Brooklyn, N.Y., schoolteacher, and two unidentified gamblers, fell through because the player, halfback Mickey Bruce, told his coach.

Racket squad detectives arrested the schoolteacher, A. David Budin, 27, but charged him only with registering at a hotel under a false name, a misdemeanor. The gamblers, apparently tipped off that police were on the case, vanished.

Budin pleaded guilty to the charge and paid a $100 fine and $10 costs.

Police said they might have pressed the bribery case if Leo Harris, Oregon athletic director had been willing for Bruce to testify. Harris said he would refer the incident to the National Collegiate Athletic Association for investigation.

At the time of his arrest, Budin was carrying $1,100, which he said he intended to bet on Michigan.

Lt. Robinson quoted Budin as saying he didn't know the two gamblers by name but believed they were from Miami, Fla.

Robinson said Bruce was approached with the idea of playing poorly so Michigan would win the game by a certain number of points.

Bruce, 19, of San Diego, Calif., was a defensive standout in the game that Oregon lost 21-0 to Michigan. He also started Oregon on one of its few offensive drives of the game, intercepting a third-quarter pass.

Police said they would also probe a possible link between the attempt to bribe Bruce and a similar bribe attempt in Gainesville, Fla., the same day. In the Gainesville incident, University of Florida fullback Jon Macbeth was given $1,500 by gamblers to fix his team's game with Florida State. Macbeth tipped off police. One gambler and one student were arrested.

Yankees Throw Smoke Screen Around Starter

NEW YORK (AP) — Casey Stengel and the New York Yankees are throwing up a smoke screen around the starting pitcher in the World Series opener Wednesday at Pittsburgh.

Art Ditmar, Bob Turley, Whitey Ford and even rookie Bill Stafford have been mentioned during the week since the Yanks clinched the pennant.

Ditmar, top winner on the staff, was slated for a tuneup Friday night against the Boston Red Sox. Much could depend on the way he handled it. Turley is scheduled for Saturday and Ralph Terry in the regular season windup Sunday. Stafford pitched Monday night in Washington. Ryne Duren started and worked four innings Tuesday and Ford had a five-inning whirl Wednesday night.

Many of the men who have been traveling with the club all season think Casey eventually will settle on Ford.

Although Ford's record is only 12-9 he has been the "stopper" in the big series all season.

Friday Night Scores

Mt. Sterling 72 Petersburg 0

MT. STERLING — The Brown County Bombers really had their machine in high running order as they walked over and crushed the Petersburg Friday night 72 to nothing. Coach Jim Simpson's Bombers scored 11 touchdowns and 5 extra points in the complete massacre of the Indians.

Warren Newell and Neal Curley each crossed the goal line three times and John McCoy picked up a pair of touchdowns to join in the never ending parade. The other Brown County men to get six points were Seckman, Armel, and Reische, a tackle, no less.

Petersburg was able to muster only one first down as Mt. Sterling played real good defensive football which aided in several of their scores.

Score by Quarters:

Mt. Sterling	26	52	59	72

Greenfield 34 Pleasant Hill 0

PLEASANT HILL — Coach Don Gustine's Greenfield Tigers opened their quest for an Illinois Valley Championship Friday night with a 34 to 0 victory over the Pleasant Hill Raiders and remained undefeated in three outings. Wendell Wellhausen was the Tigers sparkplug as he scored one touchdown and kicked four extra points. He also set up a second quarter touchdown by Meyer with a pass interception.

The Tigers scored first on a 40 yard pass play from Powell to Wellhausen and finished with a 52 yard pass-run from the same Mr. Powell to Randell while sandwiching TD's by Ballard and two by Meyer in between. Greenfield is now 3 and 0 while Pleasant Hill is yet to taste victory.

Score By Quarters:

Pleasant Hill	0	0	0	0

Officials: Daugherty, Jacksonville; O'Driscoll and Kircher, Quincy.

Triopia 39 Industry 0

CHAPIN—Coach Don Kemp's Trojans remained among the undefeated with a 39 to 0 conquest over Industry Friday night as Charles Roegge picked up 25 points through 4 touchdowns and one extra point. He went 30, 40, 60 and 75 yards with the last being a punt return and the 60 yard jaunt an intercepted pass. Anderson went 10 yards and a Hansmeier to Kleinschmidt pass which covered 60 yards accounting for the other TD's.

It was a Triopia victory all the way as Industry got only within striking distance once, this being in the second quarter but the Trojans kept them out of scoring territory and preserved their shutout.

Score by quarters:

Winchester 7 White Hall 6

WINCHESTER — An all-important touchdown by Eddie Dolen and Bob Watt's extra point run gave Coach Darrell Spang's Winchester Wildcats a 7-6 victory over White Hall Friday night in Illinois Valley competition.

The game for the most part was a defensive struggle between both elevens. The Maroons capped a scoring drive in the fourth quarter on an off-tackle run of one yard by Chapman but the run for the PAT was short.

White Hall was on Winchester's 12 yard line as a result of pass interference after time had run out but the Maroons were awarded another play. Winchester stopped a run cold to assure victory number one against one setback.

Winchester	0	7	0	0—7
White Hall	0	0	0	6—6

Carrollton 14 Hardin 12

HARDIN — The all important point-after was the difference Friday night as the Carrollton Hawks won their second game of the season and their first in the Illinois Valley league by nipping Hardin 14 to 12.

Carrollton scored first as they marched 60 yards in the first stanza and scored on a 2 yard plunge by Winters. The TD was set up by a Schoreder to Shannon pass and Shannon also scored the PAT on a run. Hardin bounced back in the second period with a 6 point tally on a 34 yard jaunt by Schleeper. The tell-tale point-after attempt was a run which the Hawks rebuffed.

Carrollton completed its scoring on a 70 yard march with Shannon going over for the marker from 2 yards out. Winters ran the PAT. Hardin's final touchdown was scored on a 26 yard scamper by Bland and again the attempted run for the PAT was stopped by Carrollton.

Score By Quarters:

Carrollton	7	0	14	14
Hardin	0	6	6	12

Western Macomb 21 Pittsfield 19

PITTSFIELD—Coach Glenn Smith's Saukees played heads-up ball here Friday night only to lose a two-extra-point decision to Western High of Macomb, 21-19. The win extended Western's undefeated streak to 29 straight while the loss was the first for Pittsfield in three starts.

Pittsfield garnered an early first quarter lead on a 17 yard scoring pass from Mike McGinnis to Jerry Harmison and McGinnis kicked the point after for a 7-0 spread.

The Saukees scored again in the second canto on a 25 yard scamper by Terry Peebles but a run for the PAT was smeared. Western also scored but trailed at halftime, 13-7.

The winners took a 14-13 lead after three quarters. Both elevens matched TD's in the final stanza with sophomore Danny Boyd scoring for the Saukees from 15 yards out. McGinnis' kick on the point after was blocked.

Western	0	7	7	7—21
Pittsfield	7	6	0	6—19

Bowhunters Face Declining Rate Of Deer Success

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Illinois bowhunters will be challenged by a declining rate of hunting success when they start their fourth deer season Saturday in 42 counties.

In the first season in 1957, they shot 220 deer. From 158 bagged in 1958, the total fell to 79 last year.

Jack Calhoun, deer manager for the Illinois Conservation Department, said Friday a heavier kill was expectable in the first year because the whitetails were unaccustomed to pursuit.

The hunters' chances will be raised by the addition of seven counties this year: Boone and DeKalb in the north; Knox, Greene and Jersey in the west; and Fayette and Clinton in the south.

There may be more hunters than the 3,000 registered last year in the entire season. Already about 2,200 bowmen have bought permits. The first half of the split season runs Oct. 1-15. The second half runs Dec. 1-15. Successes of shotgun hunters from Oct. 28-30 are counted separately.

Deer will be as numerous or better than last year. Winter observation showed good herds with more young deer than last year.

Since bowhunters need not report to check stations on their kills, they are requested to fill out questionnaires and return them to the department.

"If the bow kill drops off more, we want to know why," Calhoun said. "Questionnaires may show a need for special legislation."

Groat Hopeful He'll Play In World Series

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — No one in the Pittsburgh camp is willing to be quoted but few really believe that Dick Groat, the Pirates' valuable shortstop and captain, will play against the New York Yankees in the World Series starting next Wednesday.

"But if anybody can make it, it's Groat," said Murtaugh. "He always keeps in top shape and he has the determination and desire."

Groat began light workouts last week after the cast had been removed and he stepped up his pace each day. He hit for a half hour in batting practice last Monday and, according to Murtaugh, Dick felt encouraged.

"Groat said the wrist didn't bother him too much," said Murtaugh.

"Terrible," was the reply. "Dick complained of pain in the wrist. He could hardly hold onto the bat at the end of the swing. I don't see how he would be ready by next week."

What does Groat think?

"I'm just hopeful," he said.

Undefeated Crimsons Score In Every Stanza For 3rd Straight, 26-0

By STAN SPOTTS

MONMOUTH — Coach Bob Kraushaar's JHS Crimsons amassed 321 yards from rushing while checking the Zippers for three yards in the second half and a game total of 66 yards to earn an easy 26-0 shutout victory here Friday night.

The winners put scoring drives together in each quarter and scored the first time they put their hands on the ball with halfback Ronnie Yates scooting 75 yards to paydirt in the initial period of play. After that there was no doubt as to the final outcome.

The Zippers threatened several times to hit paydirt and the threats were in the first half only as Monmouth never got inside JHS's 45 yard line in the second half. As the statistics indicate Coach Al Rosenberger's aggressive line was in the Monmouth backfield throughout the contest.

Jacksonville connected on only one pass from Gary Spangenberg to end Ron Tomhave in 10 attempts but the pitch covered a 63 yard touchdown to give Jacksonville a total of 384 yards for the contest compared to Monmouth's 104 yards which includes its four of nine pass completions for 38 yards.

The Crimsons picked up only two first downs in the first half but opened up in the final two quarters for a game total of 13 as compared to Monmouth's seven.

Monmouth received the opening kickoff and promptly marched 34 yards to the Jacksonville 25 where the Jacks took over on downs after Wes Coulter stopped Dick James' bid for a first down. On the first play, Yates broke loose over right tackle, reversed his field, picked up a flock of blockers and went 75 yards to score, Gary Spangenberg, who turned in an outstanding offensive performance, ran for the extra point and a 7-0 lead.

A Monmouth punt to the Jacksonville nine yard line put the Crimsons on a brief sustained 91 yard scoring march in the second quarter. After Yates and Stanford picked up first downs to the 30 and Erland Thady added seven yards on a run to the JHS 37, Spangenberg connected on a pass to Tomhave to Monmouth's 35 and Tomhave covered the remaining distance for a 63 yard TD play. Spangenberg passed to Oxley and a 14-0 lead with 10:04 remaining before halftime.

The rest of the time was an exchange of pass interceptions which was to give Monmouth its deepest penetration into JHS real estate. The Zippers intercepted one of Spangenberg's heaves on the JHS 45 and a pass carried the losers to the Crimson 19. After a run moved Monmouth to the 15 time ran out in the second quarter and the Zippers were never to see JHS territory again. JHS had 115 yards rushing the first half with Yates' 75 yard run accounting for over half of the total. And the one of four completed passes covered the 63 yard scoring toss. Monmouth had all of its first downs for the game in the first half with seven while the Crimsons garnered only two.

2nd Half All Crimsons

Jacksonville took command at the outset of the second half while Macomb's offense completely folded. The Crimsons relied on their first sustained ground march of the game after putting the ball in play on their own 29 following Macomb's only kickoff of the contest. The running of Gary Spangenberg set up the tally on which Mike Mentler scored from 14 yards out on a pitchout to cap the 71 yard drive. Spangenberg had runs of 22, 28, 14 and 21 yards but the 28 yard jaunt on a double reverse to the Monmouth 15 was nullified via an in-motion penalty. Spangenberg's pass for the point after was incomplete but JHS led, 20-0.

The winners put a 79 yard march into operation following a Monmouth punt to their own 21. The Crimsons combined the running prowess of QB Bill Stanford, Ron Yates and Gary Spangenberg to move to the Monmouth 22 as the third quarter ended.

Probably the key play of the drive was Bill Stanford's eight yard pickup on a third down and 10 to go situation. The run moved the ball to the 14 from where Spangenberg took the pigskin over for a 26-0 lead.

Jacksonville looked as though it would get another drive into operation following Tomhave's 14 yard return of a Monmouth punt to the Zipper 37. But the JHS offense worked in reverse and Yates punted for the second and first time. The Crimsons in possession once again following another Monmouth punt moved to the Zipper 13 on the running slants of Stanford, Thady and Mentler, but Monmouth held at this point and took over on downs. The contest ended on Monmouth's 10 yard line.

The win was Jacksonville's third straight this season and its first shutout over a 1960 opponent. The loss was Monmouth's second against a single victory.

JHS' starting Lineup (defensive): Coulter, LE, Hildner, LT; Spencer LG; Wells, C; Thady, RG; Wright, RT; Rouland, RE; Yates, QB; Tomhave, LHB; Mentler, FG; Spangenberg, RHB.

Monmouth	0	0	0	0	— 0

JHS touchdowns—Yates 75 yards (run); Tomhave 62 yards (Spangenberg pass); Mentler 14 yards (run); Spangenberg 14 yards (run).

Extra points — Spangenberg (run); Oxley (pass).

Name And Address Please

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Racing Association said Friday that, starting Monday, it will take names and addresses of big winners at the metropolitan race tracks.

The move is in accordance with a directive from the U.S. Treasury Department, which is seeking such information for income tax purposes.

Royal Spectator

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—The Yale and Brown football teams will have a royal spectator—King Hussein of Jordan—when they meet here Saturday.

ANNOUNCE BOXING CARDS

NEW YORK (AP)—Argentina's Federico Thompson will meet Gaspar Ortega, veteran Mexican welterweight, in a television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden, Oct. 29, Harry Markson, the Garden's boxing general manager, said Friday.

Markson also booked South Africa's Willie Toweel for a TV 10-rounder against Emile Griffith, fifth-ranking welterweight from New York, for the Garden, Oct. 22.

STANDING ROOM ONLY

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees announced Friday that only standing room seats are now available for the World Series in Yankee Stadium. The three stadium games are sellouts.

This excludes the 14,000 bleacher seats which are placed on sale daily on the day of the game.

BOY, HE IS EAGER

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Ralph J. Belcore of Chicago plunked a stool down by Forbes Field Friday and started a 124-hour and 15-minute wait to see the first game of the World Series.

Belcore is the first in line to buy a standing-room-only ticket for the series opener between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Yankees next Wednesday.

He arrived at Forbes Field at 8:30 Friday morning from Chicago. He had with him a topcoat, a bag of sandwiches, a traveling bag and the stool.

Standing-room tickets go on sale at 12:45 p.m. Wednesday.

3-YEAR PACT FOR HIGGINS

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox announced Friday that Manager Mike Higgins has been given a three-year contract in his new dual capacity as field manager and director of Red Sox player personnel. No salary details were revealed.

PRESIDENTIAL CITATION

SEATTLE (AP) — Bob Schloredt, Washington's All- America quarterback, received a presidential citation Friday for achieving athletic greatness despite a physical handicap.

THE EASTER DINNER

BY DONALD DOWNES

THE STORY: A group of the Italian underground led by Paolo Mardougall is making a second attempt to land carrier pigeons on a desolate stretch of beach near Rome. At the same beach previously, a German patrol interrupted the operation.

* * *

There were also on the beach, about half a mile north of Giovanni, three other people whose conversation was interrupted by the PT boat's signals: Major Wolff, Lieutenant Schenkel, and, a dozen yards beyond them, Wolff's driver, a soldier of the SD who had been motioned away by the Major to prevent his hearing the two officers' discussion.

"I had a dreadful time finding you on this beach, Schenkel. What do you mean being here, and alone? I myself gave you the Oberst's orders to watch the north and the south beaches—he was certain they wouldn't use this beach again after last week—and you have the temerity to leave your command and come here alone! Are you crazy? If I report this to the Oberst, you will either be court-martialed—or worse, you'll find yourself on the Russian front."

"I am sorry, Herr Major. I thought it just possible that the enemy might have guessed that we would not watch this beach so soon after we intercepted them here last week. It is exactly what they did in Norway last year—in Bergensfjord."

"If you felt you were wiser than the Oberst, then you should have sent a sergeant here, not left your command. Besides, my dear Schenkel, have you not yet learned that there is nothing more dangerous than proving your superior officer wrong?" The word "wrong" coincided with the first flash from the sea.

"Leutnant," the Major whispered, "my driver has a machine-pistol. Send him down behind the dunes with strictest orders not to fire until they are ashore, or until I have fired."

Schenkel returned. "I have carried out your order, Herr Major."

"Shhh! Speak in whispers. I am glad you have a machine-pistol. I have only my Walther. I did not expect to go on the beaches tonight."

* * *

Giovanni first knew someone was approaching him from the north, behind the dunes, when Wolff's driver failed to see a large patch of dry wood and twigs before he had stepped onto it. Four times his boots crunched the brittle debris. There was no doubt; it was the measured tread of a human being.

Listening for other footfalls, Giovanni turned slightly on his side and pointed his gun toward the sound. I hope it's not a civilian, he thought, come to fish or gather driftwood at this hour. Whoever it is, I shall have to shot him if he sees me.

Giovanni fired twice. For a second the figure stood motionless; then, making loud gargling sounds, he dropped his weapon noiselessly and, clutching his belly, crumpled down silently and slowly into the sand.

A voice whispered in German, "Down!" Giovanni snapped his eyes and his gun away from the fallen soldier onto the beach. There, hardly 30 feet from him, he made out two figures, their heads pointing in his direction, lying prone.

Giovanni took stock of the situation. Except for his eyes and the top of his head, he was shielded by the dune; they were not. He knew he was facing two men. They did not know he was alone. Controlling the thumping of his heart in his throat, he spoke in his classroom German.

"We have you covered! Stand up immediately with your hands above your head or we will fire!" There was a fraction of a second's silence. "And with your own machine-pistol."

"Don't fire!"

* * *

When Luchino and Paolo heard the shots, each ignored the agreement to scatter if trouble should occur before the actual landing and ran toward Giovanni's post using the dunes as cover. It was impossible—instinctively impossible—for either of them to abandon the boy to the Germans.

Paolo arrived first. He saw Giovanni outlined against the sky, kneeling on the crest of a dune pointing the dead driver's machine-pistol toward someone on the beach whom Paolo could not see.

"Are you hurt, Giovanni?" he called.

"No. I have two Germans. They surrendered."

"Keep your hands in the air." He spoke to the prisoners in Italian. By the faint light of his flashlight obscured in his handkerchief he searched them. Except for Schenkel's potatomasher grenade, he found no arms, only military papers.
